All persons owning personal property subject to taxation shall, between the first day of January and the twentieth day of February, make a return, verified by oath, of such property. Taxes are payable at the time fixed annually by the act of the General Assembly.

XXI. WILLS:

All wills and testaments of real and personal property shall be in writing, and signed by the party executing the same, or by some other person in his presence, and by his express directions, and shall be attested and subscribed in the presence of the said testator, and of each other, by three or more credible witnesses, or else shall be utterly null and void.

I. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Acknowledgments of deeds or instruments within the State may be made before a justice or clerk of the Supreme Court or notary public; and within the judicial district, county subdivision, or city for which the officer was elected or appointed, before the judge or clerk of any court of record, mayor, justice of the peace, register of deeds, United States Circuit or District Court commissioner, a county clerk or county auditor.

If without the State, before any judge or clerk of a court of record of the United States, or any state or territory; a notary public or any other officer of the state or territory where the acknowledgment is made, authorized by its laws to take such proof or acknowledgment, or a commissioner of deeds appointed by the Governor of this State.

In foreign countries, before a minister, commissioner, diplomatic or consular agent of the United States, or a judge or notary public of said country. Letters patent from the United States and final receivers' receipts from the United States land offices may be recorded without acknowledgment or further proof.

II. ASSIGNMENTS:

An insolvent debtor may in good faith make an assignment in trust for the benefit of his creditors, which may provide for any subsisting liability of the assignor, whether absolute or contingent. Such assignment is subject to provisions of the code relative to trusts and fraudulent transfers. Any debtor may make assignment, without preference of creditors, but is not relieved from liability for any unpaid balance to his creditors.

III. ATTACHMENT:

Attachment process issues at the time of granting the summons or at any time afterward in actions on contracts for the recovery of money only, or for wrongful conversion of personal property, against a foreign corporation or non-resident defendant; or when defendant has absconded or concealed himself, or has assigned, disposed of, or secreted his property, or is about to do so with intent to defraud creditors; or when the debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses.

Plaintiff must make affidavit and furnish bond in not less than two hundred and fifty dollars in Circuit Courts; and at least fifty dollars and not exceeding three hundred dollars in Justices' Courts.

Real and personal property, debts, moneys, credits and bank-notes may be attached or levied on under execution or attachment.

IV. COURTS:

Circuit Courts have chancery and common law jurisdiction above one hundred dollars' in value and where the title to real property is concerned; and sit twice a year in nearly all the counties.

County Courts hold two terms a year, and are always open for business. They have exclusive probate jurisdiction, and in counties of a population of ten thousand, civil jurisdiction concurrent with the Circuit Courts to one thousand dollars; in counties of a less population, five hundred dollars.

Justice's jurisdiction is not more than one hundred dollars. Circuit and County Courts also have concurrent jurisdiction with Justices' Courts for sums less than one hundred dollars.

V. FEES:

Acknowledgment before notary public, justice, or clerk of court	$ .25
Attachment: default	5.00
Appeal: dependent on number and character of papers.
Commencement of suit in Justice Court; about	2.00
Commencement of suit in court of record: about	2.00
Incorporation: Secretary of State, fees	10.00
Mandamus: dependent on number and character of papers.
Probate: dependent on number and character of papers.
Protest	2.00
Each notice	.25
Record: in deeds, depending on number of words, from	1.25
Redemption: amount of sale, plus 12 per cent interest from date of sale.
Sheriff: contingent.
Transcription: deposition, per 100 words	.15
Stenographer, per 100 words	.10
Witness: Mileage one way 10 cents, and per day	1.00

VI. EXECUTIONS:

Issue as of course at any time within five years after judgment and must be returned within sixty days. Lands levied on need not be appraised, but notice of sale must be given. Same provisions apply in Justices' Courts as to levy, etc., on personal property. There is no stay law, and execution can only be stayed by order of the court for irregularity, by injunction, or by appeal with security given. Real estate sold under execution may be redeemed within one year.

VII. EXEMPTIONS:

Homestead: One acre if within a town plat and one hundred and sixty acres if not, with house and appurtenances of five thousand dollars in value. Exemption is absolute except as to taxes, laborers' or mechanics' wages or for physicians' services, mechanics' lien for work on the homestead, property obtained under false pretenses, and debts created for the purchase thereof. Personal property exempt to value of seven hundred and fifty dollars, or an enumerated exemption in lieu thereof.

VIII. INTEREST:

Legal rate seven per cent, but parties may contract in writing for twelve per cent. Usury forfeits usurious interest. Interest on open accounts runs from date of last item charged, whether debit or credit. Legal rate allowed on judgments.

IX. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments of courts of record are a lien on all real estate except the homestead, for ten years from time such judgment is docketed in the clerk's office of the county where the land is situated, and are renewable for not exceeding twenty years. In courts of record judgment may be obtained within thirty days after service of summons and complaint; in Justices' Courts, four days, where no defense is interposed.

X. LIENS:

Every miner, or other person, who, at the request of the owner or owners, or his or their agents, of any lode, mine or deposit, or at the request of any contractor or subcontractor, shall perform any labor whatever on said mine, or furnish any timber, rope, nails or any other materials for timbering shafts or levels for the mine owned by such owner or owners; or who shall furnish any kind of materials for erecting any windlass, or any other hoisting apparatus or machinery; or for any car track, cars, tunnels, drifts or openings thereon; or shall perform any labor on any tunnel or other mining works, shall have a first lien, prior and superior to every other lien except that of the State or the United States which shall be created after the passage of the Act (March 13, 1885) on such lode, mine, deposit, bank or tunnel, to secure the payment for the same.

Every such miner performing any work or furnishing any materials under a contract express or implied between the owner and any contractor working on such mine may deliver to the owner or owners of such mine or tunnel, or to his or their agent or superintendent, an attested account of the amount and value of the work and labor thus performed, or of the materials thus furnished, and remaining unpaid, and thereupon such owner or owners or his or their agent shall retain out of the first subsequent payments to such contractor the amount so due. It shall be the duty of such owner to furnish such contractor with a copy of such papers, and if such contractor shall not within ten days after the receipt of such papers give such owner written notice that he intends to dispute the claim, or if, ten days after giving such notice, he shall refuse or neglect to have the matter adjusted, he shall be considered as assenting thereto, and such owner or owners may pay the same when it becomes due, and for that purpose may deduct the amount out of any moneys due such contractor. The amount which may be due from any contractor to his creditor may be recovered from said owner or owners by the creditor of said contractor in an action at law to the extent in value of any balance due by the owner or owners to said contractor.

Any person entitled to such a lien shall make an account of the items of labor or material furnished, and, after verifying the same, shall within sixty days after the time of completing such labor, or furnishing the last item of material, and, together with a correct description of the property to be so charged, file the same in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of the county or subdivision in which the mine is situated, and thereupon the same shall, from the time of the completion of the work, or furnishing the last item of materials, and for one year thereafter, operate as a lien upon the property charged in such description. When any work or labor has been performed, or materials furnished as aforesaid under a written contract, the same, or a copy thereof, shall be filed with such account and description. All such liens shall be concurrent liens. In all actions to enforce any such lien, all persons claiming liens upon the property charged shall be made parties, and the rights of all parties shall be determined by the court.

The foregoing lien law applies to oil wells or springs, iron and lead mines as well as all other mines not before specified so far as the same may be applicable.

XI. LIMITATIONS:

Personal actions, two years; on contracts or obligations, six years; on sealed instruments, judgments or decrees of any court, and in real actions, twenty years.

XII. MARRIED WOMEN:

Retain their own real and personal property, and may make contracts, sue and be sued as if sole. Neither husband nor wife has any interest in the property of the other. Dower and curtesy are abolished. A married woman retains the same legal existence and personality after as before marriage, and shall receive the same protection of all rights as a woman which her husband does as a man, and has the same right to sue in her own name as her husband has in his.

XIII. MILLDAMS:

Any person desiring to erect a milldam upon his own land, and deeming it necessary to damage by overflowing, or otherwise, real estate not owned by him, shall present to the judge of any court of record in the county a petition setting forth the place where said dam is to be located, the height to which it will be raised, the purpose to which the water power will be applied, etc., whereupon the judge shall appoint three commissioners, who shall, upon notice, hear testimony and make an assessment of damages. An appeal lies from such assessment to the court aforesaid by any party interested, excepting a petitioner, at any time within thirty days from the time of the notification of the filing of the commissioners' report. The appellant shall file an appeal bond in double the amount of the assessment appealed from, in the usual terms.

Upon payment of the damages assessed, judgment shall be entered declaring the right to erect and maintain a milldam according to the petition, and shall be and remain in the petitioner, his heirs and assigns forever, subject to be lost by a failure for one year thereafter to begin to build said dam and to finish the same, and apply the water power thereby created to the purposes stated in petition, within three years; or, in case the mill and dam shall be destroyed, the petitioner's right is lost by a failure to rebuild in one year after such destruction, and finish in three years, or by failure to keep such mills in operation for one year at any one time.

All actions for damages occasioned by the erection and maintenance of the milldam shall be brought within two years after the erection of said dam, provided that such limitation shall not run against or apply to persons living on and holding government land under the pre-emption laws, until a patent for the land overflowed shall have been issued.

XIV. MORTGAGES:

Mortgages of realty must be in writing, with the formalities required in case of a grant of real estate. Wife need not join except in mortgage of homestead. If containing power of sale, may be foreclosed by advertisement without intervention of court. Mortgagor has possession of the premises during the year of redemption after sale, and is entitled to an additional year of redemption upon payment of taxes, accrued interest and one year's interest in advance.

Chattel mortgages are void as against creditors and subsequent purchasers in good faith unless filed in office of register of deeds within the county. A chattel mortgage taken by insurance company is void unless written on paper distinct from application. Chattel mortgages are not good upon farm crops not in actual existence, except crops to be grown in one year thereafter.

XV. NOTES AND BILLS:

There is no statutory law requiring that commercial paper should be made payable at a bank or at any other specified place. Three days of grace allowed on all bills of exchange or sight drafts, whether foreign or domestic, and on all promissory notes, bills of exchange and drafts, on the face of which time is specified, and notes on demand.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

Articles of incorporation must set forth: 1. Name of the corporation. 2. Purpose for which it is formed. 3. Place where its principal business is to be transacted. 4. Term for which it is to exist (not exceeding twenty years). 5. Number of directors or trustees, and names and residences of such of them as are to serve until the election of such officers, and their qualifications. 6. If there be a capital stock, its amount and the number of shares into which it is divided.

Said articles must be subscribed by three or more persons, one-third of whom must be residents of this State, and acknowledged by each before a notary public, or other officer authorized to take acknowledgments of conveyances of real property. At least two of the incorporators must also make oath that such corporation is not being formed for the purpose of enabling several corporations to avoid the provisions of Chapter CLIV, Laws of 1890, declaring certain combinations or trusts unlawful.

Upon the filing of the articles of incorporation and anti-trust oath with the Secretary of State, he will issue a certificate thereof, and thereupon the person or persons signing the articles, and their successors, become a body corporate.

II. BY-LAWS:

By-laws must be adopted within one month after the filing of such articles, and may provide for: 1. Time, place and manner of calling and conducting meetings. 2. The number of stockholders or members constituting a quorum. 3. The mode of voting by proxy. 4. Time of annual election of directors, and mode and manner of giving notice thereof. 5. Compensation and duties of officers. 6. Manner of election and tenure of office of all officers other than the directors. 7. Suitable penalties for violations of by-laws not exceeding in any case one hundred dollars for any one offense. All by-laws must be certified by a majority of the directors and secretary of the corporation, and copied into a book of by-laws, which shall be open to the inspection of the public during office hours, and may be amended by a vote of two-thirds of the subscribed stock.

Any mining corporation may provide in the articles of incorporation for having a business office without the State at any place within the United States, and to hold any meeting of the stockholders or directors of the corporation at such office, but every such corporation must have its main office for the transaction of business within this State, to be also designated in such articles of incorporation.

III. MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS:

The directors of the corporation must be elected annually by the stockholders, and if no provision is made in the by-laws for the time of election, it must be held on the first Tuesday in June.

IV. REPORTS AND STATEMENTS:

Every mining corporation shall annually, within twenty days from the 1st of January, make a report, which must be published in some newspaper published at or nearest to the place where the business of such corporation is carried on, which report must state the capital stock, and amount thereof actually paid in, the amount and nature of its indebtedness, and the amounts due the corporation, the number and amount of dividends, and when paid, and the net amount of profits. The said report must be signed by the president and a majority of the directors, and be verified by the oath of the president, or secretary, of the corporation, and filed in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the business of the corporation is carried on. A willful neglect or refusal to make and publish such report is a misdemeanor.

V. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

No corporation organized under the laws of any other state shall transact any business within this State, or acquire, hold and dispose of property within this State until such corporation has filed in the office of the Secretary of State a duly authenticated copy of its charter, or articles of incorporation, and shall have appointed an agent residing in the county in the state where the principal business of the corporation is carried on, duly authorized to accept service of process. A duly authenticated copy of such appointment of such agent shall be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State and register of deeds of the county where such agent resides.

MINING.

I. LOCATION AND RECORD:

Mining claims shall not exceed fifteen hundred feet along the vein by one hundred and fifty feet on each side of the center thereof.

The discoverer of a lode shall, within sixty days from the date of discovery, record his claim in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which such lode is situated by a location certificate, which shall contain: 1. The name of the lode. 2. The name of the locator or locators. 3. The date of location. 4. The number of feet in length claimed on each side of the discovery-shaft. 5. The number of feet in width claimed on each side of the claim or lode. 6. The general course of the lode as near as may be. Any location certificate which does not contain the foregoing requirements and such description as shall identify the claim with reasonable certainty shall be void.

Before filing such location certificate, the discoverer shall make formal location by: 1. Sinking a discovery-shaft sufficient to show a well-defined mineral vein or lode. 2. By posting at the point of discovery on the surface a plain sign, or notice, containing the first five requisites of the location certificate above given. 3. By marking the surface boundaries of the claim by eight substantial posts hewed or blazed on the side or sides facing the claim and plainly marked with the name of the lode, and the corner, end or side of the claim that they respectively represent; sunk in the ground, or, when necessary, in a monument of stone, and placed one at each corner, one at the center of each side-line, and one at each end of the lode.

No location certificate shall claim more than one location, whether the location be made by one or several locators; and if it purport to claim more than one location, it shall be absolutely void, except as to the first location therein described, and if they are described together, or so that it cannot be told which location is first described, the certificate shall be void as to all.

II. AMENDMENT OF CERTIFICATE:

If at any time the locator of any mining claim, or his assigns, shall apprehend that his original certificate was defective, erroneous, or that the requirements of the law had not been complied with before filing, or shall be desirous of changing his surface boundaries, or of taking in any part of an overlapping claim which has been abandoned, such locator, or his assigns, may file an additional certificate, subject to the foregoing provisions, provided that such re-location does not interfere with the existing rights of others at the time of such re-location, and no such re-location or the record thereof shall preclude the claimant or claimants from proving any such title or titles as he or they may have held under previous locations.

III. RE-LOCATION:

The re-location of abandoned lode claims shall be by sinking a new discovery-shaft, and fixing new boundaries in the same manner as if it were the location of a new claim; or the re-locator may sink the original shaft, cut or adit to a sufficient depth to disclose the vein and erect new or adopt the old boundaries, renewing the posts if removed or destroyed. In either case, a new location stake shall be erected. In any case, whether the whole or a part of an abandoned claim is taken, the location certificate must state that the whole or any part of the new location is located as abandoned property.

IV. RIGHT OF WAY:

All mining claims shall be subject to the right of way of any ditch or flume for mining purposes, or of any tramway, or pack trail, provided such right of way shall not be exercised against any location duly made and recorded and not abandoned prior to the establishment thereof, without consent of owners, except by condemnation.

V. ASSESSMENT WORK:

Requirement as to annual work is the same as that of the United States statutes.

VI. DISPUTED TITLES:

In all actions wherein the title to any mining claim is in dispute, the court or judge thereof may, upon proper application, enter an order for an underground as well as surface survey of such part of the property in dispute as may be necessary to a just determination of the question involved.

In all actions for recovery of value, attachment process, and conveyance, sluice boxes, flumes, hose, pipes, railway tracks, cars, blacksmith shops, mills, and all other machinery or tools used in developing or working a mine are to be deemed affixed to the mine, and are real estate.

In all matters not hereinbefore abstracted, the Revised Statutes of the United States govern.

VII. QUARRIES:

Quarries located on other than public lands of the United States are governed by the ordinary rules applicable to real estate.

I ALIENS:

Aliens may hold, inherit and transmit property, real and personal, the same as native citizens.

II. ASSIGNMENTS:

Preferential assignments or any other device, such as confession of judgment, or sale, etc., whereby substantially all of a debtor's property is applied to payment of preferred debts, are forbidden by act of May 7th, 1895. Assets of an insolvent will be distributed ratably among all creditors. In case of any act attempting to give a preference, the Courts of Chancery on application of any creditor will administer the assets through the instrumentality of a receivership. The act has no application to conveyances made at the time, to secure payment for property bought, credit given, or money loaned, or money or supplies advanced to make a crop; but it is required in such cases that the instrument evidencing the contract shall be registered immediately. Sales and pledges of personal property, accompanied by delivery do not fall within the requirements of registration. The act has no application to conveyances made to secure or pay debts owing at the time of its enactment.

An assignee must give bond and take an oath for faithful performance of his duties. Claims must be filed within one year.

III. ATTACHMENT:

Process will issue: where the debtor resides out of the State; is about to remove or has removed himself or property from the State; has removed, or is removing himself from the county, privately; is concealing himself, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; absconds or is absconding, or concealing himself or property; has fraudulently disposed of, or is about fraudulently to dispose of his property; or, when any person liable for any debt, residing out of the State, dies, leaving property in the State. Attachment will also issue on demands not due. When debtor and creditor are non-residents of this State and are residents of the same state, the creditor shall not attach unless the property has been fraudulently removed to evade process in the state of residence. Debts due and not due owing to the defendant, and property of the defendant of any kind in the hands of a third person, are subject to garnishment.

IV. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

Residents are allowed two years after qualification of personal representative, and non-residents three years, in which to bring suit for claims against deceased. If the evidence of indebtedness is signed by the deceased or his agent, no further proof is needed to establish the claim. But if the claim consists of an account coming from another county or state, it will be sufficiently proved by the affidavit of the claimant to its correctness, to be made before some notary public or justice of the peace. No preference is allowed in the payment of debts, and all stand upon an equal basis. If personal representative has reason to believe that the estate is insolvent, he may, in the County Court, suggest insolvency, and notify all creditors to file claims with the clerk of the court in which insolvency has been suggested within a time to be fixed by the clerk; and if any creditor fail so to do, his claim will be forever barred. Suggestion of insolvency has no effect upon statute of limitations in regard to time for making demand of personal representative; the only effect of suggesting insolvency is to cause the creditors to file claims with the clerk of the court, instead of presenting them to the personal representative. If the personal property is insufficient to pay the debts of deceased, either the personal representative or any creditor may file a petition in either the County or Chancery Court, to have so much of the realty sold as may be necessary for the payment of the debts. If the estate is insolvent after the sale of realty all claims are paid pro rata, and the personal representative relieved of his trust.

V. COURTS:

The Circuit Courts hold three terms annually, and have generally common law jurisdiction in all cases involving over fifty dollars.

Chancery Courts, holding two terms annually, have full equity jurisdiction above fifty dollars, and concurrent jurisdiction with the Circuit Court of all civil causes, except actions for injuries to person, property or character, involving unliquidated damages.

Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in equity up to fifty dollars on all unsettled accounts, obligations, contracts, etc., to and for recovery of property; and for damages, except for libel and slander, up to five hundred dollars; upon all notes and upon indorsement of negotiable paper where demand and notice are expressly waived in the instrument, up to one thousand dollars.

Va. FEES:

Acknowledgment before notary public, justice or clerk of court	$ .50

VI. DEEDS:

Until registered, deeds are not good, except between parties and privies. Lands held by unregistered deeds are subject to the debts of both vendor and vendee. The wife must join in deed to convey homestead.

To authenticate an instrument for registration, its execution shall be acknowledged by the maker, or proved by two subscribing witnesses at least. If the person executing the instrument resides or is within the State, the acknowledgment shall be made before the clerk or legally appointed deputy clerk of the County Court of some county in the State. A notary public may also take acknowledgment of deeds. If the person executing the instrument resides, or is beyond or without the limits of the State, but within the Union or its territories, the acknowledgment may be made: before any court of record, or the clerk of any court of record in any of the states of the Union; or before a commissioner for Tennessee, appointed by the Governor, in any state or territory of the Union; or before a notary public of such state or territory. If the person executing the instrument resides, or is beyond the limits of the Union and its territories, the acknowledgment may be made: before a commissioner for Tennessee appointed in the country where the acknowledgment is made, or before a notary public of such country, or before a consul, minister or ambassador of the United States in the country where the acknowledgment is made. In all deeds where wife is a party to the conveyance, she must be examined apart from her husband.

The instrument and the various certificates must then be registered in the register's office of the county where the land lies, and this will be notice to all parties whatsoever.

VII. DEPOSITIONS:

Except in rare cases, all proof in chancery cases is by depositions. Any court or justice of the peace before whom an action is pending may make orders and issue commissions to take depositions, upon the application of either party, whenever the facts are made to appear by oath or otherwise, and an order or commission is necessary. The clerk or deputy clerk of any court of record may in like manner, make the order or issue the commission to take depositions upon a proper case made out. The court, or justice thereof, also may, on good cause shown, prescribe the notice to be given to the opposite party of the time and place of taking the deposition. But either party litigant before any justice of the peace, or in any of the courts of this State may, without any order or commission, take the depositions of witnesses in all cases allowed by law, upon giving the opposite party legal notice of the time and place, or by filing interrogatories.

Depositions may be taken by any judge, mayor, justice of the peace, clerk of any court, commissioner for Tennessee or any lawful person appointed by the court or clerk of the court where cause is pending. In all cases, except the last, no commission is necessary. A notary public in this and other states may take depositions without a commission issuing to him.

VIII. DESCENT:

The land of an intestate owner is inherited by lineal descendants, collateral kindred, or ascendants: 1. By all the sons and daughters of deceased, equally; and descendants of such as may be deceased, by representation; and failing issue, or brothers or sisters, or their issue, by parent living. 2. If the estate was acquired by intestate, and he died without issue, by brothers and sisters of the whole and half blood, born before his death or afterward, equally; and their issue, by representation; and failing such, by the father and mother of intestate as tenants in common; and failing such, equally by the heirs or representatives of the father and mother in equal degree, the nearest in blood being preferred. 3. Where the land came to intestate by gift, devise or descent from parent or parental ancestor, and he die without issue; by brothers and sisters on the part of the parent from whom the estate came, in the same manner as by brothers and sisters of the whole blood, until such line is exhausted, to the exclusion of the other line; failing such, estate goes to the parent, if living, from whom or whose ancestors it came, in preference to the other parent; and if both parents be dead, then to the heirs of the parent from whom or whose ancestor it came.

In the absence of heirs at law capable of inheriting the real estate, it is inherited by surviving husband or wife in fee simple. The personal representative of intestate distributes the remainder of the personality, after paying all indebtedness, as follows: 1. To the widow and children, or the descendants of children representing them, equally. 2. To the widow altogether, if there are no children, nor descendants of such. 3. To the children or their descendants equally, if there is no widow. 4. If no children, to the father. 5. If no father, to the mother, brothers and sisters, or the children of such equally. 6. If no brothers and sisters, or their children, exclusively to the mother; if no mother, exclusively to the brothers and sisters, or their children representing them. 7. If no mother, brother or sister, or their children, to the next of kin of the intestate who are in equal degree, equally.

IX. EXECUTIONS:

Issue from Chancery and Circuit Courts within thirty days, when the court continues in session less than two weeks; if more than two weeks, within forty days; and if more than four weeks, within thirty days after the rendition of judgment. Issue from the Supreme Court within sixty days after the adjournment of each term; and from Justice Court within two entire days after judgment is rendered.

X. EXEMPTIONS:

Homestead, to value of one thousand dollars, and personal property, consisting of household goods, supplies, tools and stock, etc., amounting in all to about one thousand two hundred dollars.

XI. INTEREST:

The legal rate is six per cent. A contract for more is void as to excess, and an instrument showing usury on its face cannot be sued on.

XII. JUDGMENTS:

From a court of record are a lien from the date of rendition for one year on all lands then owned by the defendant, and on after acquired lands, for one year after acquirement.

XIII. LIENS:

All employes and day laborers of any corporation have a lien on the employer's property for wages in arrears three months. This lien is enforceable by attachment or otherwise as in other cases. If proceedings to enforce are not begun within three months from the time the lien attached, it will be lost. The rights of bona fide purchasers, and persons having valid liens at the time proceedings are begun, are superior to this lien.

A lien is given to whoever furnishes materials, by virtue of a special contract with the owner, for the construction or repair of a house, or the furnishing or erection of fixtures, machinery or improvements. If the contract be made with the mortgagor or vendee who holds subject to a vender's lien, and the mortgagee or vender do not object within ten days after being notified in writing, the lien for materials will take priority over the mortgage or vender's lien. The lien covers the building or improvements and the lot or land on which it is constructed, and takes precedence of all incumbrances created after the material is furnished. Sub-contractors must notify the owner in writing, within thirty days after material is furnished, that a lien is claimed, and this will continue their lien for ninety days from date of such notice, provided a statement of the material furnished be filed with the county registrar. The liens of sub-contractors can in no case exceed the amount which the owner agreed to pay the original contractor. The lien of the original contractor continues for one year and until the final decision of a suit to enforce it brought within such year in a court of record of the county where the building or improvement is situated.

Mechanics have a lien for one year upon any ground on which a house is constructed or repaired, improvements or erections made, or fixtures, etc., put in, upon which said mechanic or artisan has furnished labor in construction of same. The benefit of said lien extends to any workman giving notice to owner within thirty days after the completion of building, or his discharge, or the completion of his contract; and such lien is recoverable in action as above specified.

XIV. LIMITATIONS:

Upon bonds, notes, accounts and contracts generally, six years; judgments or decrees of courts of record and other cases not expressly provided for, ten years. Revivor lies only in acknowledgment, expressed willingness to pay, or promise of payment; a part payment is not in itself sufficient. All demands against administrators and executors must be presented or sued on in two years and six months, if a resident; and three years and six months if a non-resident.

XV. MARRIED WOMEN:

Can hold real and personal property separate from the husband, and not liable for his debts. Rents and profits of a wife's lands are not subject to her husband's debts, nor can the husband's life interest in the wife's land be sold during her life. The husband is not liable for the ante-nuptial debts of his wife, but his marital rights do not so attach to her property as to defeat the collection of the same. Married women cannot make a power of attorney to sell land, nor have they any power to bind themselves personally or their general estate by simple contract.

XVI. MILLDAMS:

The County Court of each county has control of the erection of milldams under such conditions, restrictions and limitations as in its discretion may seem proper. No County Court can permit a milldam to be so constructed as to interrupt or in any way injure or impair the navigation of such streams as are naturally navigable or as have been declared to be so by law.

Any person desiring to construct a milldam shall present a petition to the County Court of the county where the dam is to be built, on the first day of a quarterly session, setting forth the nature and object of the dam. If the petitioner is not the owner of the land on both sides of the stream, his petition shall be accompanied by the written consent of the owner or owners of the land, which consent shall be proven by two witnesses to the same. Notice of the intention to present the petition shall be set up at the door of the court house, at the same time at which it is presented. At the next succeeding term the County Court shall hear and determine upon the application and fix the term of time for which the right or privilege shall be enjoyed.

The owner of land through which a non-navigable stream passes may turn the water from its channel for his uses, provided he returns it to the channel before it leaves his land. And such a person may have an action against an owner below him on the stream for interrupting such use of the water by erecting a dam so as to overflow his property. A right to permanently overflow the land of another is an hereditament, and a conveyance of sale thereof must be in writing.

XVII. MORTGAGES:

Mortgages and deeds of trust take effect as to third parties only from registration. They can be foreclosed in bar of equity of redemption, without intervention of the court, when power of sale is conferred in the instrument.

Chattel mortgages are good as to the contracting parties without registration, but not as against purchasers without actual notice, and creditors. It is a felony for the maker of registered mortgage of personal property to dispose of the same with the purpose of depriving the beneficiary of the same. A railroad cannot make a mortgage which shall be superior to judgments for timbers furnished, or for labor, or to damages done to any person or property in the operation of the road.

Parties may annex conditions to contracts for the sale of personalty, which will prevent the vesting of title to the property, although actually delivered, until the performance of the condition. Where property is sold to be delivered in installments, or at intervals, to be paid for when the whole is delivered, the delivery does not pass the title until the condition is complied with. The seller, on retaking possession on failure to carry out the condition, must dispose of the property at public sale after due advertisement, but the original buyer may waive such sale. When goods are sold with the privilege of returning same, they must be returned within a reasonable time or the sale becomes absolute. If a party sell and deliver personalty, but retain the title till the purchase money is paid, it is a valid sale, and he may follow the property into the hands of third parties and recover the same for the unpaid purchase money.

XVIII. NOTES AND BILLS:

Every note whereby the maker promises to pay money to any person or bearer, or to the order of any other person, shall be negotiable in the same manner as inland bills of exchange, by the custom of merchants. Every bill, bond, or note for money, whether sealed or not, and whether expressed to be payable to order or for value received or not, shall be negotiable in the same manner as promissory notes. And upon every such instrument, the holder may maintain a joint action against the maker, and any one or more of the indorsers; or a joint and several action against any one or more of the indorsers. Any person, having a right to demand any sum of money due upon a protested bill of exchange, may commence and prosecute an action for principal, interest and charges of protest against the drawer and indorsers, jointly, or against either of them separately; and judgment shall be given for such principal debt and charges, and lawful interest to the time of the judgment. When a bill of exchange, drawn or indorsed in Tennessee upon any person or corporation of or in any other state, territory, or place, is returned unpaid with legal protest, the payee may recover from the drawer or indorsers, besides the principal, interests and charges of protest, damages at the following rates, per cent upon the principal sum: 1. Three per cent, if the bill were drawn upon a person or corporation of, or in any of the United States or territories. 2. Fifteen per cent, if drawn upon any person or corporation of, or in any other state or place in North America, bordering upon the Gulf of Mexico, or of or in any part of the West India Islands. 3. Twenty per cent, if drawn upon any person or corporation of, or in any other part of the world.

Days of grace shall not be allowed upon bills of exchange payable at sight. Negotiable paper falling due on the first day of January, the fourth day of July, the twenty-fifth day of December, or any day appointed by the President of the United States or the Governor of the State as a day of feast or thanksgiving, is due on the day previous, unless such previous day be Sunday, in which case it is due on the Saturday preceding. Whenever the health authorities of any town or city shall officially announce the prevalence as an epidemic within the limits thereof of any contagious or infectious disease of so malignant or dangerous a character as to suspend or seriously interrupt business transactions, the owners and holders of any negotiable paper requiring demand, notice of protest, are excused from making demand, giving notice, or entering protest, while such epidemic prevails. Demand, notice and protest made, given and entered within fifteen days after such epidemic shall have been declared at an end, are as binding upon the parties sought to be charged, as if the same steps had been taken upon the day of maturity of the paper. Bonds with collateral conditions and bills or notes for specific articles, or the performance of any duty are assignable.

XIX. SUITS:

In all actions, parties defendant must have notice of commencement of such action by personal service of process, if possible; or by publication, if personal service be impossible. In the Circuit Court, which is a court of general jurisdiction, the defendant must be served with process (if a resident) five days before the term of said court. In the Chancery Court, process may be made returnable at the next rule day, if service is made five days previous. In a Justice Court, process may issue to return at any time, and the trial may be set for any hour or any day except Sunday. Causes in the Circuit Court usually stand for trial at the second term after the commencement of action. Chancery Court cases are usually ready for trial at any time after the answer is filed; but parties are of course allowed time in which to take proof, which is entirely by depositions. Actions must usually be commenced in the county where the parties reside or may be found. If controversy is in regard to realty suit must be brought in county where the property is. Surety for costs is usually required upon commencement of an action, but plaintiff may make affidavit to his poverty, and to the justice of his claim, and proceed as if security had been given; but an exception is in favor of actions for malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, and slanderous words; in actions of this kind, security is always required.

XX. TAXES:

Taxes are a lien on the real estate on which they are levied, and as between vendor and vendee they are a lien from January 10th of the year for which they are assessed. As between the State, county, city and the owner, they are a lien for six years from January 10th of the year for which they accrued, after which they are barred. Taxes are payable on the first Monday in October of each year, become delinquent by the first Monday in February following, then begin to bear interest; and the tax rolls are then placed in the hands of a constable for collection by distraint. The lands then pass into the hands of the back tax attorneys upon the first Monday in June, ten per cent then accruing; and by them are sold, after advertising, subject to redemption for two years.

XXI. WILLS:

Any person of sound mind, and twenty-one years of age, may make a will disposing of every kind of property. Males at fourteen and females at twenty years of age may dispose of personalty by will, but not of reality.

No last will or testament is sufficient to convey or give an estate in lands, unless written in the testator's life time, and signed by him, or by some other person in his presence, and by two witnesses, at least, neiether of whom is interested in the devise of said lands. But a written paper, appearing to be the will of a deceased person, written by him, having his name subscribed to it, or inserted in some part of it, and found after his death among his valuable papers, or lodged in the hands of another for safe keeping, is sufficient to give and convey lands, if the handwriting is generally known by his acquaintances, and it is affirmed by at least three credible witnesses that they verily believe the writing and every part of it to be in his hand. No nuncupative will is good where the estate exceeds two hundred and fifty dollars, unless proved by two disinterested witnesses present at the making thereof; and unless they are, or some of them were, especially required to bear witness thereto by the testator himself; and unless it was made in his last sickness, in his own habitation or dwelling house, or where he had been previously residing ten days at least; except he be surprised by sickness on a journey, or from home, and dies without returning to his dwelling; and such nuncupative will must be proved by the witnesses within six months from the making thereof, unless put in writing within ten days; nor may it be proved until fourteen days after the death of the testator; nor till process has issued to call in the widow or next of kin, or both, if conveniently to be found, to contest it. No written will may be revoked or altered by a subsequent nuncupative will, except the same be, in the lifetime of the testator, reduced to writing, and read over to him and approved; and unless the same be proved to have been so done by the oaths of two witnesses at least.

Wills are probated in the County Court of the county where the testator lived, and if he had fixed places of residence in more than one county, then in any of said counties. Any will may be contested by any party interested in the result, and the Circuit Court has exclusive jurisdiction thereof. Wills executed in other states, or in any of the territories, or in the District of Columbia, must be proved according to the laws of this State. Where the last will and testament of any person deceased is proved in a court of any state or territory of the United States, or before the mayor of any city, any person interested may present a copy thereof, duly authenticated, to the County Court of any county in the State, where the land or estate devised or disposed of by the will is situated; and thereupon such court may order the same to be filed and recorded, and said copy when so recorded shall have the same force and effect as if the original had been executed in, and proved or allowed in the courts of this State.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

Articles of incorporation must set forth: 1. Names of five or more incorporators not under twenty-one years of age. 2. Name of proposed corporation and the purposes for which it is formed.

The signatures of said corporators must be acknowledged, or any one or more signatures proved by one witness before the clerk of the County Court. The articles, after due acknowledgment, with the application, are then registered in office of the register of deeds, in the county where the main business of the corporation is to be conducted. The said instruments are then transmitted to the Secretary of State, in whose office, together with all certificates of acknowledgment, registration, etc., the same are registered. The Secretary of State may then certify in the original instrument that the same has been registered in his office, to which certificate is affixed the great seal of the State, and upon the fixing of the great seal of the State to said certificate or said original instrument, and the registration of said certificate in the register's office, where said instrument was originally registered, the formation of the association as a body politic and corporate is declared complete.

II. POWERS:

Corporations may by by-laws make regulations concerning the subscription for or the transfer of stock, fix upon the amount of capital to be invested in the enterprise and the division of the same into shares, besides prescribing elections, appointment and duties of officers (terms of such not to exceed two years), and generally such matters of procedure which in its business are susceptible of regulation.

Mining corporations have authority to condemn the right of way necessary for the transaction of the corporate business, not exceeding thirty feet in width, over the lands of any private person or corporation. All mining corporations, three-fourths of the stock being represented and cast in the affirmative, may subscribe for, purchase, hold or dispose of stock in any railroad company whose line of road shall be so near as to be used by them in carrying on their necessary operations. For the purpose of raising the money to pay for such stock, such corporations are authorized to indorse the bonds of said railroad or to issue company mortgage bonds. Said mining companies are authorized to mortgage their franchises and estates, real and personal, to secure the payment of bonds so indorsed or issued as aforesaid. This privilege, however, is withheld from quarrying corporations, who in all other respects have the rights and powers granted to mining corporations.

III. LIABILITIES:

No loan of money shall at any time be made to any stockholder, and any such loan shall render the directors consenting thereto individually liable for the amount thereof. If the indebtedness of said company at any time exceeds the capital stock paid in, the directors consenting thereto are individually liable to the creditors for said excess. If the directors declare and pay any dividend when the company is insolvent, they are jointly and severally liable to creditors for the amount of dividend thus declared. But any director may avoid liability by voting against the dividend or by filing his objection in writing as soon as he ascertains the dividend has been made.

Stockholders are severally liable individually at all times for all moneys due and owing to the laborers, servants, clerks and operators of the company, in case the corporation becomes insolvent.

IV. REPORTS:

Annually during the month of January, the president must make and publish in a newspaper printed in the county where the principal office of business is located, or the nearest thereto, a sworn statement, showing the amount of capital stock, the existing liabilities, and a list of names of the stockholders. The making of a false statement to be printed as aforesaid renders all persons consenting thereto individually liable to all persons dealing or trading with said company on the faith of said fraudulent statement.

V. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Every foreign corporation desiring to carry on its business in this State must first file in the office of the Secretary of State a certified copy of its charter or articles of its incorporation, and thereafter are deemed to be corporations of this State. Nevertheless, creditors of such who may be residents in this State have priority in the distribution of assets over all simple contract creditors being residents of any other country or countries; and also over judgment creditors for all debts which were made by said corporation before the rendition of such valid judgments. Upon the failure of any such corporation to commence in good faith to develop and work some portion of its property within this State within one year after filing its said charter, all rights and privileges lapse and become void.

MINING.

I. INSPECTION OF MINES:

One mine inspector for the entire State is appointed by the Governor of the State, whose term of office is four years. The office of the inspector is kept in the city of Chattanooga, together with all maps and plans of all mines being worked in the State. Said inspector must annually on or before the first day of January, make a report to the Governor of the State, of the condition and operation of the mines in the State. The inspector must inspect all mines that are being worked once every three months.

If any loss of life should occur by accident, in any of the mines of the State, or any serious accident should occur in said mines, the agent or person operating the same must immediately notify the inspector; and if any deaths should occur by such accident the coroner should be notified, who must summon a jury to inquire into the cause of the death, and must make a report of the verdict to the inspector. Thereupon the inspector must investigate the matter and may take such steps as will prevent a recurrence of the accident.

The agent or owner of every coal mine must furnish an accurate map of the workings of said mine to the inspector; and on the first day of January and June in every year a statement of the progress of the workings of the mines shall be furnished the inspector. The penalty for furnishing false maps or plans is a fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars.

II. MEASURES OF SAFETY:

There must be at least two separate outlets, separated by natural strata, not less than one hundred and fifty feet in breadth, by which shafts or outlets distinct means of ingress and egress are always available to the persons employed in the mines.

The owner or agent of every coal mine must provide not less than fifty-five cubic feet per second of pure air for every fifty men at work, and as much more as circumstances may require. The ventilation may be produced by air pumps or other appliances, but in no case may a furnace be used inside of the mine where the coal breaker and chute are built directly over and covering the top of the shaft, for the purpose of producing an upcast of air.

Every agent or owner of coal mines must employ a competent and practical inside overseer, who shall keep watch over the ventilating apparatus, etc., and all things pertaining to the safety of the miners. It is his duty to measure the amount of air supplied to the mine at least once a week, and report to the inspector once a month.

The owner or agent of every coal mine must employ suitable appliances for signaling from top to bottom of the shaft, and safe machinery for lowering or hoisting purposes. No boy under twelve years of age may work or enter into any mine.

Violation of any of the above provisions will subject the agent or owner of the mine to a fine; and upon application of the inspector, acting in behalf of the State, such agent or owner of mines will be enjoined from working the mines.

III. WEIGHT OF COAL:

The miners have the right to employ a check-weigher, who shall be permitted at all times to be present at the weighing or measuring of coal, and have the right to balance and examine the scales or measure the cars. He must credit each miner with all merchantable coal or other minerals mined by him, on a proper sheet or book kept by him for that purpose. When differences arise between the check-weighman and the agent of the mine, the same may be referred to the mine inspector of the district for settlement.

Any weighman, agent or check-measurer, who knowingly or willfully adopts or takes more or less pounds for a bushel or a ton than is now provided by law, or willfully neglects the balancing or examining of the scales or cars, or willfully weighs coal with an incorrect scale, is deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

IV. WAGES:

All persons, firms, companies or corporations engaged in mining coal, ore or other mineral, must pay their laborers and employees the amount due them for their work in lawful money of the United States, or by cash orders; and must adjust accounts at least once in every thirty days. It is not lawful for them to issue for payment of labor any order, or other paper whatever, unless the same purports to be redeemable for its face value, in lawful money of the United States, by said person, company or corporation.

COMMERCIAL LAW.

I. ACCOUNTS:

When any action or defense is founded upon an open account, supported by the affidavit of the party, his agent or attorney, taken before some officer authorized to administer oaths, to the fact that such account is, within the knowledge of affiant, just and true; that it is due, and that all just and lawful offsets, payments and credits have been allowed, the same is taken as prima facie evidence thereof, unless the party resisting such claim shall, before announcement of ready for trial in said cause, file a written denial, under oath, stating that such account is not just or true, in whole or in part, and if in part only, stating the items and particulars which are unjust.

II. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Affidavits and acknowledgments of instruments for record may be made without the State, but within the United States or territories, before the clerk of some court of record having a seal, commissioner of deeds for Texas or notary public; without the United States, before a minister, commissioner or charge d'affaires, consul-general, consul, vice-consul, commercial agent, vice-commercial agent, deputy consul, or consular agent of the United States, or a notary public; within the State, before a clerk of the District Court, a judge or clerk of the County Court, or a notary public.

III. ALIENS:

An act passed in 1892 provides that no alien or person who is not a citizen of the United States can acquire title to or own any land in Texas except as follows:

It does not apply to aliens who were owners of land in this State when the law took effect, July 12, 1892.

Aliens who become inhabitants of the State have the right to acquire and hold real estate during the time they reside in the State, but must alienate it within ten years after they cease to be inhabitants thereof. Persons not citizens of the United States may acquire and hold land in any incorporated or platted city, town or village. An alien who becomes an actual resident of this State, and shall in conformity with the naturalization laws of the United States have declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, has the right to acquire and hold real estate in the same manner as if he were a citizen of the United States.

Aliens can acquire land in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of their debts. They may lend money on real estate security, enforce their liens and purchase the property covered by their debts. They may take by devise or descent.

A non-resident alien who takes by devise, descent or purchase must alienate the land within ten years or same will be subject to escheat; the money realized from the sale, less costs, to be held for the alien.

Aliens enjoy such rights of ownership of personal property as are or shall be accorded citizens of the United States by the laws of the nation to which such aliens belong, or by the treaties of such nation with the United States.

IV. ASSIGNMENTS:

Every assignment made by an insolvent debtor or in contemplation of insolvency, for the benefit of his creditors, shall provide for a distribution of all his real and personal estate, other than that which is by law exempt from execution, among all his creditors, and however expressed shall have that effect. Such assignment must be provided or acknowledged, certified and recorded in the same manner as conveyances of real estate.

The debtor may provide in the assignment that the benefits of the assignment shall be limited to such of his creditors only as will consent to accept their proportional share of his estate and discharge him from their respective claims. Those who accept will thereby discharge the debtor, provided, that such creditors receive as much as one-third of the amount due and allowed in their favor as valid claims against the estate of the debtor.

Every creditor consenting to an assignment must within six months from the time of the first publication of notice of appointment of assignee, file with such assignee a distinct statement of the particular nature and amount of his claim against the debtor, which must be supported by an affidavit of the creditor, his agent or attorney, that the statement is true, that the debt is just and that there are no credits or offsets that should be allowed against the claim, except as shown by the statement; and no creditor shall take any benefit under the assignment who neglects to file such statement.

Any creditor not consenting to the assignment, may garnishee the assignee for any excess in his hands after paying creditors who consented the amount of their debts and cost of executing the assignment.

V. ATTACHMENTS:

The judges and clerks of the District and County Courts, and justices of the peace, may issue writs of original attachment, returnable to their respective courts upon the plaintiff, his agent or attorney, making an affidavit in writing stating: 1. That the defendant is justly indebted to the plaintiff, and the amount of the demand. 2. That the defendant is not a resident of the State, or is a foreign corporation, or is acting as such. 3. That he is about to remove permanently out of the State, and has refused to pay or secure the debt due the plaintiff. 4. That he secretes himself, so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served on him. 5. That he has secreted his property for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. 6. That he is about to secrete his property for the purpose of defrauding his creditors. 7. That he is about to remove his property out of the State, without leaving sufficient remaining for the payment of his debts. 8. That he is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the county where the suit is brought, with intent to defraud his creditors. 9. That he has disposed of his property, in whole or in part, with intent to defraud his creditors. 10. That he is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors. 11. That he is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors. 12. That the debt is due for property obtained under false pretenses.

The affidavit shall further state: 1. That the attachment is not sued out for the purpose of injuring or harassing the defendant; and 2. That the plaintiff will probably lose his debt unless such attachment is issued.

No attachment can issue until suit has been instituted, but it may be issued in a proper case either at the commencement of the suit or at any time during its progress. Writs of attachment may issue although the demand is not due.

Before the issuance of any writ of attachment the plaintiff in the suit must execute a bond, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, payable to the defendant in a sum not less than double the debt sworn to be due, conditioned that the plaintiff will prosecute his suit to effect, and will pay all such damage and costs as shall be adjudged against him for wrongfully suing out such attachment, and the same must be delivered and approved by the officer issuing the writ.

VI. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

Every claim for money against a testator or intestate must be presented to the executor or administrator within twelve months after the original grant of letters testamentary or of administration, or the payment thereof will be postponed until the claims which have been presented within said twelve months and allowed by the executor or administrator and approved by the county judge have been first entirely paid.

Debts are paid in the following order: 1. Funeral expenses, and expenses of last sickness, if presented in sixty days after grant of letters. If not presented within that time the exempt property set apart to the widow and children and the allowances to them will not be liable to the payment of such claims. 2. All expenses of administration and an allowance to the widow and children of the deceased in lieu of exempt articles and homestead if there should not be among the effects of the deceased all or any of the specific articles exempt from forced sale; and also an allowance to them for one year's support. 3. Debts secured by liens so far as the same can be paid out of the proceeds of the property subject to such liens. 4. All other claims presented within one year. 5. Debts presented after the expiration of one year from commencement of administration.

A claim cannot be allowed unless accompanied by an affidavit in writing that the claim is just and that all legal offsets, payments and credits known to the affiant have been allowed.

If a claim is approved it must be filed with the county clerk within twelve months from the commencement of administration. It is the clerk's duty to file same and enter it upon the claim docket. The court must approve or reject in whole or in part a claim allowed by the administrator or executor by action taken at a regular term of court. If a claim is rejected by the administrator, executor or court, suit must be brought thereon within ninety days or the claim will be barred.

VII. COURTS:

The judicial power of this State is vested in one Supreme Court, five Courts of Civil Appeals, a Criminal Court of Appeals, fifty-four District Courts, one County Court for each organized county, one Commissioners' Court for each organized county, and in Courts of Justices of the Peace.

The Supreme Court has appellate jurisdiction co-extensive with the limits of the State, which extends to questions of law arising in all civil cases of which the Courts of Civil Appeals have appellate but not final jurisdiction. It sits at Austin, its terms beginning the first Monday in October and ending the last of June.

The Court of Criminal Appeals sits at Austin from the first Monday in April until the last of June. At Dallas from first Monday in January until the last of March. At Tyler from the first Monday in October until the last of December. The Court of Criminal Appeals has appellate jurisdiction co-extensive with the limits of the State in all criminal cases of whatever grade, except cases which have been appealed from Justices', Mayors' or other inferior courts to the County Courts, in which the judgment rendered or fine imposed by the County Courts does not exceed $100, exclusive of costs. In such cases the judgment of the County Courts are final.

The Courts of Civil Appeals are in session from the first Monday in September until the first Monday in July. The State is divided into five Supreme Judicial Districts. The court of the first district is held at Galveston; of the second district at Fort Worth; of the third district at Austin; of the fourth district at San Antonio, and of the fifth district at Dallas. The appellate jurisdiction of the Courts of Civil Appeals extends to civil cases within the limits of their respective districts, of which the District Court has original or appellate jurisdiction, or of which the County Court has original or appellate jurisdiction when the judgment or amount in controversy shall exceed one hundred dollars exclusive of interest and costs.

The State is divided into fifty-four judicial districts in which are elected judges of the District Courts, whose terms are four years. In most of the districts there are two terms of court held each year. In the others three terms are held each year.

The District Courts have original jurisdiction of all criminal cases of the grade of felony; all suits in behalf of the State to recover penalties, forfeitures and escheats; divorce cases; all misdemeanors involving official misconduct; suits to recover damages for slander or defamation of character; suits for the trial of title to land and enforcement of liens thereon; suits for the trial of the right of property levied upon by virtue of any writ of execution, sequestration, or attachment when the property levied upon shall be equal to or exceed five hundred dollars in value; of all suits or complaints or pleas whatever, without regard to any distinction between law and equity, when the matter in controversy shall be valued at or amount to five hundred dollars exclusive of interest; of contested elections; and said Court and judges thereof have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, and certiorari, and all writs necessary to enforce their jurisdiction. The District Courts have appellate jurisdiction and general control in probate matters over the County Court established in each county; and have appellate jurisdiction and general supervisory control over the County Commissioner's Court; and general original jurisdiction over all causes of action whatever for which a remedy or jurisdiction is not provided by law or the Constitution, and such other jurisdiction, original and appellate, as may be provided by law.

In each organized county there is a County Court, presided over by a judge, whose term of office is two years. The County Court of each county must hold at least four terms for civil and criminal business annually. County Courts have original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors of which exclusive original jurisdiction is not given to the Justices' Courts, and when the fine to be imposed shall exceed two hundred dollars; and they have exclusive jurisdiction in all civil cases when the matter in controversy exceeds in value two hundred dollars and does not exceed five hundred, exclusive of interest; and concurrent with the District Courts when the matter in controversy exceeds five hundred dollars and does not exceed one thousand, exclusive of interest; but do not have jurisdiction of suits for the recovery of land. They have appellate jurisdiction in cases civil and criminal of which Justices' Courts have original jurisdiction, but of such civil cases only when the judgment of the court appealed from shall exceed twenty dollars, exclusive of costs. The County Courts have the general jurisdiction of Probate Courts.

Justices' Courts have jurisdiction in criminal matters of all cases where the penalty or fine to be imposed by law may not be more than for two hundred dollars, and in civil matters of all cases where the amount in controversy is two hundred dollars or less, exclusive of interest, of which original jurisdiction is not given to the District or County Courts.

The County Commissioners' Court is charged with the duty of attending to county business such as levying taxes, looking after county finances, opening public roads, designating school districts, etc.

IX. DEEDS:

No estate of inheritance or freehold, or for a term of more than one year, in lands and tenements, can be conveyed except in writing, subscribed and delivered by the party disposing of the same, or his agent, thereunto authorized by writing.

The deed must be signed or acknowledged by the grantor in the presence of at least two credible witnesses thereto subscribing; or must be duly acknowledged before some officer authorized to take acknowledgments, which Acknowledgment must be endorsed on said instrument, and properly certified to by him for registration. No instrument can be recorded unless duly acknowledged by the grantor, or its execution is proved by one of the two subscribing witnesses. If a married woman joins in the conveyance her acknowledgment must be taken by such officer privily and apart from her husband.

X. DEPOSITIONS:

Either party to a suit may have the testimony of any witness taken by deposition, but must first file in the case notice of his intention to apply for a commission to take the answers of the witness to interrogatories attached to such notice; and a copy thereof and of the attached interrogatories must be served upon the adverse party, or his attorney of record, five days before the issuance of a commission. When one party files interrogatories the opposite party may file cross-interrogatories at any time before the commission issues, and a copy of the same must accompany the direct interrogatories and be answered. After service of notice has been completed the clerk of the court in which the interrogatories have been filed must issue a commission to take the deposition of the witness named in the notice.

XI. DESCENT:

When any person, having title to any estate of inheritance, real, personal, or mixed, shall die intestate as to such estate, and shall leave no surviving husband or wife, it shall descend and pass in parcenary to the children and their descendants, if any there be, then to the father and mother, in equal portions, but if only a single parent survive the intestate, the estate shall be divided into two equal portions, one of which shall pass to such survivor, and the other to brothers and sisters of the deceased and their descendants; but if there be none such, then the whole estate shall be inherited by the surviving father or mother. If there be neither father nor mother, then the whole of such estate shall pass to the brothers and sisters of the intestate, and to their descendants or to such of them as there be. If there be none of the kindred aforesaid, then the inheritance shall be divided into two moieties, one of which shall go to the paternal and the other to the maternal kindred, equally, in upward and collateral order ad infinitum.

When any person, having title to any estate of inheritance, real, personal, or mixed, shall die intestate as to such estate, and shall leave a surviving husband or wife, the estate of such intestate shall descend and pass: One-third to the survivor and the balance to the child or children of deceased, and their descendants—the survivor shall also be entitled to an estate for life, in one-third of the land of the intestate, with remainder to said child or children and their descendants. If the deceased have no child or children, or their descendants, then the survivor shall be entitled to all the personal estate, and to one-half of the lands of the intestate, without remainder to any person or persons, and the other half shall pass and be inherited according to the rules of descent and distribution, as before prescribed; provided, however, that if the deceased have neither surviving father nor mother, nor surviving brothers and sisters, or their descendants, then the surviving husband or wife shall be entitled to the whole of the estate of such intestate, real, personal, and mixed.

All property belonging to the community estate of the husband and wife goes to the survivor, if there be no child or children of the deceased or their descendants. When there are such descendants the survivor is entitled to one-half and the other half passes to the children. No right of inheritance accrues to any person whatsoever other than to children or lineal descendants of the intestate, unless they be in being and capable in law to take as heirs at the time of the death of the intestate.

XII. EMINENT DOMAIN:

No person's property can be taken, damaged, or destroyed for, or applied to public use without adequate compensation being made, unless by consent of such party; and when taken, except for the use of the State, such compensation must be first made, or secured by a deposit of money; and no irrevocable or uncontrollable grant of special privileges or immunities can be made by the legislature, but all privileges and franchises granted by it or created under its authority are subject to the control thereof. By the term "property," as above used, is meant not only the tangible thing owned, but every right and incident which accompanies the ownership. The benefits and losses which the party injured receives and sustains in common with the community in general are excluded from the estimate in ascertaining the amount of the damage.

XIII. EXECUTIONS:

Executions may be issued upon any final judgment immediately after adjournment of court. If the court continues for a longer period than three weeks execution may be issued at any time after the expiration of twenty days from the rendition of such judgment. The issuance and execution of the judgment may be suspended by the unsuccessful party appealing or suing out a writ of error and filing a supersedeas bond. Without regard to the adjournment of court or the time that may have elapsed, provided the case has not been removed to an appellate court, execution may issue upon the filing of an affidavit that the party against whom a judgment for money other than costs only has been rendered, is about to remove his property out of the county or is about to secrete or transfer his property for the purpose of defrauding his creditors.

XIV. EXEMPTIONS:

The following property is reserved to every family and is exempt from forced sale: All household and kitchen furniture; lot or lots in a cemetery held for the purpose of sepulture; all implements of husbandry; all tools, apparatus and books belonging to any trade or profession; the family library and all family portraits and pictures; five milch cows and their calves; two yoke of work oxen, with necessary yokes and chains; two horses and one wagon; one carriage or buggy; one gun; twenty hogs; twenty head of sheep; all bridles, saddles and harness necessary for the use of the family; all provisions and forage on hand for home consumption; and all current wages for personal services.

There is reserved to others who are not constituents of a family: Lot or lots in a cemetery held for the purposes of sepulture; all wearing apparel; all tools; apparatus belonging to any trade or profession; one horse, saddle and bridle; and current wages for personal services.

XV. HOMESTEAD:

By the constitution of 1876, the homestead of a family not in a town or city consists of two hundred (200) acres of land, which may be in one or more parcels, with improvements thereon. In a city, town or village it consists of a lot or lots not to exceed five thousand dollars in value at the time of their designation as the homestead, exclusive of improvements, provided the same be used as the home, or as a place to exercise the calling or business of a head of a family. The homestead is protected from forced sale or voluntary incumbrance except for taxes, or for the purchase money, or for improvements thereon, and in this last case, only when the work and materials are contracted for in writing, with the consent of the wife, given in same manner as required in making a sale of homestead.

In case of death of the husband, the widow and children have one year's support from the estate, allowance therefor in no case to exceed one thousand dollars, and if the property exempt by law does not exist in kind, a sufficiency of the estate may be sold for cash, to raise allowance for homestead, not to exceed five thousand dollars, and for other exempt property not to exceed five hundred dollars.

XVI. INTEREST AND USURY:

On all written contracts, when no rate of interest is agreed on, interest is allowed at the rate of six per cent from maturity. Open accounts bear interest at the same rate from the first day of January after the same are made, provided some other rate has not been agreed on by the parties. Parties to any written contract may stipulate for any rate of interest not exceeding ten per cent on the contract; and if a greater rate is stipulated for the contract is void as to the whole of the interest.

Judgments bear interest at the rate of six per cent, except where the contract upon which the judgment is founded bears a greater rate not exceeding ten per cent, in which case the judgment bears the contract rate.

Where usurious interest has been collected the person paying same can at any time within two years recover double the amount paid.

XVII. JUDGMENTS:

Unless execution is issued on a judgment within twelve months after its rendition, the judgment becomes dormant and must be revived before execution can issue thereon. Where execution has been issued within that time the judgment remains in full force for ten years, and executions may issue thereon at any time within the ten years.

Judgment Lien: When the abstract of a judgment has been filed, recorded and indexed in the book kept for that purpose in the office of the county clerk of any county, such judgment becomes a lien upon all of the debtor's real estate situated in the county where such record is made, except such as is exempt from forced sale. The lien continues for ten years. A transfer of a judgment, when acknowledged, as in the case of deeds, filed in the case in which the judgment was recovered, and the substance thereof noted on the margin of the minute book in which the original judgment is entered, operates as constructive notice to all persons.

In a suit against persons on partnership debt where the service has been had on only one member of the firm, judgment may be taken against the firm as well as the partner served, and will be good as against the partnership property and that of the member served. (See also "XIX. Limitations.")

XVIII. LIENS:

Mechanics, contractors, laborers and material men have liens for labor done or material furnished in the construction or repair of buildings, railroads, and other improvements, on such improvements and the land necessarily connected therewith to secure the payment of their debts, where such material and labor is furnished and done under contract with the owner, his agent, trustee, receiver, contractor or contractors.

Any person, firm, or corporation who may furnish material to any contractor, sub-contractor, agent or receiver to be used in the erection, improvement or repair of any building, railroad, or improvement, by giving written notice to the owner or his agent, of each and every item furnished, showing how much there is due and unpaid on each bill under said contract, at any time within ninety days after the indebtedness shall have accrued, may fix the lien as to the material furnished at the time or subsequent to the giving of notice by filing in the office of the county clerk of the county in which such property is situated, and if it be a railroad company in any county through which its road may pass, an itemized account of the claim and causing same to be recorded. But in no case can the owner be compelled to pay a greater sum than stipulated in the original contract between the owner and original contractor. The lien first mentioned above, given under contract between the owner or his agent, and the person furnishing material, etc., is fixed by the original contractor within four months, and all other persons within thirty days after such indebtedness accrues, filing and having said contract recorded. If the contracts above mentioned are not in writing, then the statute authorizes the filing of sworn accounts. The lien attaches to the building, improvements or railroad in preference to any prior lien upon the land.

All persons except the original contractor or builder and the second class of lien-holders who furnish material to contractors, sub-contractors, etc., in order to fix their liens, must give at least ten days' notice in writing before filing the lien to the owner or agent, setting forth the amount and from whom same is due.

XIX. LIMITATIONS:

Suits to recover real estate must be instituted within three years next after the cause of action has accrued.

Suits as against any person having peaceable and adverse possession, cultivating, using or enjoying the same and paying taxes thereon, and claiming under a deed or deeds duly registered, must be instituted within five years next after the cause of action has accrued.

Suits to recover land against a party having peaceable and adverse possession thereof, cultivating, using or enjoying the same, must be instituted in ten years.

Limitation does not run against any person under the age of twenty-one years, of unsound mind, or a person imprisoned. Up to the time of the passage of the act of April 1st, 1895, limitation did not run against married women, but that act provides it shall run against them after they arrive at the age of twenty-one years; provided, that their disability shall continue one year from and after the passage of said act.

The following actions must be commenced in one year: 1. For injuries done to the person of another. 2. For malicious prosecution or for injuries done to the character or reputation of another by libel or slander. 3. For damages for seduction, or breach of promise of marriage. 4. For injuries done to the person of another where death ensued from such injuries; and the cause of action shall be considered as having accrued at the death of the party injured.

All actions following must be commenced in two years: 1. Of trespass for injury done to the estate or the property of another. 2. For detaining personal property of another, and for converting such property to one's own use. 3. For taking or carrying away the goods and chattels of another. 4. Actions for debt where the indebtedness is not evidenced by contract in writing. 5. Upon stated or open accounts, other than such mutual and current accounts as concern the trade of merchandise between merchant and merchant, their factors or their agents.

Suits against executors, administrators or guardians on their bonds must be commenced within four years after their death, resignation, removal or discharge.

Every action upon a judgment of a court beyond the limits of this State, is barred if barred in the State or country where rendered.

Actions for the specific performance of contracts for the conveyance of real estate must be commenced within ten years after the accrual of the cause of action. Dormant judgments must be revived in ten years from date of their rendition.

Motion against an officer for not returning an execution must be made within five years. Actions of forcible entry and detainer must be commenced in two years.

Actions to contest wills must be commenced within four years after the will has been admitted to probate and to set wills aside for forgery or other fraud, suit must be commenced within four years after the discovery of the fraud.

Death stops the running of limitations in all cases for twelve months or until a legal representative of the deceased has been appointed. Limitation does not run during the time party against whom the cause of action lies is absent from the State. Limitation must be specially plead.

All actions for which no limitation is prescribed become barred in four years.

XX. MARRIED WOMEN:

All property owned or claimed by the wife before her marriage and that acquired afterward by gift, devise or descent is her separate property; but during the marriage the husband has the sole management thereof. All property otherwise acquired during the marriage is the common property of the husband and wife.

The wife may contract debts for necessaries furnished herself and children, and for all expenses which may have been incurred by her for the benefit of her separate property.

Females under twenty-one years of age after marriage have the same rights and privileges as those who are twenty-one or over when married and are deemed of full age.

A married woman can mortgage her separate property to secure the payment of her husband's debts. She must be joined by her husband in the execution of the instrument and it must be acknowledged by her in the same manner as in case of the conveyance of her real estate.

XXI. MORTGAGES:

All property can be mortgaged, except the homestead, which can not be encumbered except for purchase money or improvements thereon in the manner stated under the head of "Exemptions." Mortgages on real estate must be recorded in the office of the county clerk in the county where the land is situated. There is no right of redemption after sale under mortgages, deeds of trust or executions.

All instruments intended to operate as mortgages, or liens, upon personal property, which shall not be accompanied by immediate delivery and followed by continued possession of the property, are void as against the creditors of the mortgagor and subsequent purchasers and lienholders in good faith, unless such instrument or a true copy thereof shall be deposited with and filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where the property is situated, or if the mortgagor be a resident of this State, then in the county of his residence. A copy cannot be filed unless the original has been acknowledged and the copy has been compared by the clerk with the original and found to be a true copy thereof. A minute of such instruments must be made by the clerk in a book kept for that purpose, showing the time of its reception, name of the mortgagor, name of mortgagee or trustee, and cestui que trust, date of the instrument, amount secured, when due, and property mortgaged under such heads. Any form of lien attempted to be given by the owner of any stock of goods, exposed to sale, in the regular course of business and contemplating a continuance of possession of the goods and control of sale by such owner is void.

XXII. NOTES AND BILLS:

The holder of any bill of exchange or promissory note assignable or negotiable by law, may fix the liability of the drawer or indorser of such bill of exchange, and of every indorser of such promissory note, without protest or notice, by instituting suit against the acceptor of such bill of exchange or against the maker of such promissory note, before the first term of the District or County Court, to which such suit can be brought after the right of action accrues; or by instituting suit before the second term of court, after the right of action accrues, and showing good cause why suit was not instituted before the first term of court next after the right of action accrued.

When the amount is within the jurisdiction of a Justice Court suit must be instituted within sixty days after the right of action accrues if it is desired to fix the liability without protest. The liability of the drawer or endorser of such bill of exchange or endorser of such promissory note may be fixed by protest according to the usage and custom of merchants. Three days of grace are allowed on all bills and notes assignable or negotiable by law. The obligee or assignee of any written instrument not negotiable by law, may transfer to another by assignment all interest which he may have in the same, and such assignee may maintain suit in his own name, but he shall allow every discount and defense against the same which it would have been subject to in the hands of any previous owner before notice of the assignment was given to the defendant; and in order to hold the assignor as surety for the payment of the instrument, the assignee must use due diligence to collect the same. Waiver of diligence cannot be shown by parole testimony.

Any party not primarily liable on any of the instruments above mentioned may be sued either jointly with his principal or alone, but no judgment can be rendered against him unless judgment shall have been previously or at the same time rendered against the principal obligor, except when the principal resides beyond the limits of the State; or when he cannot be reached by the ordinary process of law, or when his residence is unknown and cannot be ascertained by the use of reasonable diligence; or when he is dead or actually or notoriously insolvent. The genuineness of the assignment or endorsement cannot be put in issue unless it is specially plead and the party calling it in question files in the case an affidavit stating that he has good cause to believe and does verily believe the same is forged.

XXIII. SUITS:

All civil suits in the District and County Courts are commenced by petition filed in the office of the clerk of such court. In Justice Courts suit is commenced by filing demand and the issuance of citation.

All civil pleadings in the District and County Courts must be by petition and answer in writing, signed by the party or his attorney and filed by the clerk of the court.

In order to compel an answer at the first term of court following service of process such service must be had ten days before the first day of said term of court.

The first day of the term in Justice Courts and the second day in District and County Courts is appearance day. The plaintiff is entitled to judgment by default in Justice Courts if the defendant has not answered by ten o'clock on appearance day, and in the District and County Courts if answer has not been filed before the call of the appearance docket on appearance day.

XXIV. TAXES:

Taxes are a lien upon land until paid. Taxes become delinquent on the first day of January next succeeding the year for which they are assessed. The owner has two years within which to redeem land sold for taxes. Non-residents may pay taxes to the State Comptroller at Austin and taxes due on lands situated in unorganized counties may be paid to the tax collector of the county to which such unorganized county is attached by law or to the comptroller before the first day of January. Public property used for public purposes is exempt from taxation.

XXV. WAGES:

Current wages for personal services are exempt from forced application to the payment of debts. (See also "XVIII. Liens.")

XXVI. WILLS:

Every person aged twenty-one years and upward, or who may be or may have been lawfully married, being of sound mind, has power to make a last will and testament under the rules below set out.

Execution and Attest: The will must be in writing and signed by the testator or by some other person by his direction and in his presence, and must, if not wholly written by himself, be attested by two or more credible witnesses above the age of fourteen years, subscribing their names thereto in the presence of the testator.

Any person who is competent to make a will may dispose of his property by a nuncupative will, subject to the following conditions and limitations: It must be made in the time of the last sickness of the deceased, at his habitation, or where he has resided for ten days next preceding, except when the deceased is taken sick from home and dies before he returns to such habitation. If the value exceeds thirty dollars such will must be proved by three credible witnesses establishing the fact that the testator called on some person to take notice or bear testimony that such will was his will, or words of like import.

Action must be taken within four years after the death of the testator to probate the will if it be in writing. If it be a nuncupative will the same may be probated at any time after fourteen days and within six months, provided the substance thereof shall have been committed to writing within six days after the making thereof.

The County Courts have jurisdiction over such matters. Testamentary instruments of any character which have been probated in any state or territory of the United States, and recorded in the proper county are regarded as muniments of title to land in this State conveyed thereby. The will may be contested at any time within four years from its record, in a proper proceeding instituted for that purpose.

CORPORATIONS.

I. PURPOSES AND POWERS:

Private corporations may be formed for the support of all benevolent, religious, charitable, literary or scientific undertakings; construction and maintenance of public highways, ferries, bridges, railways and steamboat lines; manufacture, procuration and supply of all public necessities; establishment of markets and dealing in all commercial and agricultural products; for the buying and selling of real estate, houses, and stocks in companies either for manufacturing purposes, or for conducting insurance, exchange or financial business of any kind; for the organization of protective insurance, exchange or trust companies or associations; the acquiring, prospecting, development and operation of mineral lands; the building, maintenance and operation of lines of road to or from mines, quarries, gins, or mills, and to condemn land necessary for such road from between such mine, quarry, gin or mill and the nearest line of railroad.

II. CAPITAL STOCK:

The capital stock of a corporation may be increased to any amount not to exceed double its authorized paid capital. Corporations may borrow money to an amount not exceeding their authorized capital stock.

III. LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS:

The liability of stockholders is the amount of their unpaid stock. Directors who knowingly declare and pay any dividend when the corporation is insolvent, or any dividend the payment of which would render it insolvent, are jointly and severally liable for all of the debts of the corporation then existing and that are thereafter contracted, as long as they continue in office. The amount for which they are so liable, however, can not exceed the amount of such dividend. Directors who file with the secretary of the corporation their objections to the action of the other directors, are not liable provided they objected to the making of the dividend at the time it was declared or were absent at that time.

IV. RECORDS AND REPORTS:

Books shall be kept wherein are to be recorded all business transactions, and be open to the inspection of all stockholders.

When required by one-third of the stockholders, the directors shall report in writing of the condition of the corporation, and shall declare dividends, etc. The stock is deemed personal estate and is transferable only on the books of the corporation, as the by-laws declare. The board of directors may require the subscribers to the capital stock to pay amount subscribed as may be required by the by-laws. Stock may be forfeited when a stockholder shall neglect to pay his installments after being notified.

Conveyances executed by corporations must be under the corporation's seal. Deeds must be executed by the president, or some other person, acting under authority from the directors of the corporation.

V. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Before foreign corporations can do business in this State they are required to file certified copies of their charters with the Secretary of State at Austin, and procure permits. In the event of their failure to do so they can not maintain suits in the courts of this State. Corporations chartered under the laws of this State can acquire and own such property as is necessary in carrying out their charter purposes, and generally to enter into such obligations as are essential to the transaction of their authorized business.

MINING.

I. MINERAL LANDS:

An act passed at the session of the last Legislature (1895), to promote the development of the mining resources of Texas, and repealing all laws in conflict with the same, provides: That all public school, university, asylum and public lands specially included under the operation of this act, all the lands containing valuable mineral deposits now owned by the State and situated within the reservation known as the "Pacific Reservation," which were taken off the market and reserved from sale by an act approved January 22, 1883, are hereby reserved from sale or other disposition, except as herein provided, and are declared free and open to exploration and purchase under regulations prescribed by law, by citizens of the United States and those who have declared their intention of becoming such: Provided, that all who have located and recorded valid claims under previous valid laws and have not abandoned but are engaged in developing the same, shall have a prior preference right for ninety days after the passage of this act in which to relocate same under this act. It shall be the duty of the Commissioner of the General Land Office immediately upon the passage of this act to have a map made showing the location of all public school, university, asylum and public lands which are unsold at that date, and it shall be the duty of the geological and mineralogical survey to examine all such lands as soon as practicable thereafter, and to designate such tracts as are apparently mineral bearing as mineral lands for the purposes of this act. If mineral lands are afterwards claimed to exist at other locations than are so designated they shall also be examined and classified accordingly. It shall be the duty of the commissioner of the general land office to unite a suitable number of these mineral locations into mining districts, in each of which shall be a surveyor, who must either be the surveyor of the district or county or a regular appointed deputy and an officer qualified to administer oaths.

II. LOCATION AND RECORD:

A mining claim upon veins or lodes of quartz or other rocks in place bearing silver, gold, cinnabar, lead, tin, copper and other valuable metals, excluding deposits of kaolin, baryta, salt, marble, fire clay, iron ore, coal, oil, natural gas, gypsum, nitrates, mineral paints, asbestos, marls, natural cement, clay, onyx, mica, precious stones or any other non-metallic mineral, and stone valuable for ornamental or building purposes or other valuable building material, may equal but shall not exceed one thousand five hundred feet along the mine or vein or lode. No such claim shall exceed twenty-one acres in total area. The end lines of each claim shall be parallel to each other, and all claims shall be in the form of a parallelogram or square, unless such form is prevented by adjoining rights or boundaries of the section in which the claim lies. The locator under this act shall be entitled to the use of all the superficial area between the enclosing lines of the claim, and to all minerals thereon and between the side and end lines, extending downwards vertically, until the rights secured by posting are forfeited as provided; and in all conflicts priority of location shall decide.

The locators of any mining claim shall post up in a conspicuous place at the center of one of the end lines of the same a written notice, stating the name of the location, the claim and date of posting, and describe the claim by giving the number of feet in length and width and the direction the claim lies in length from the notice, together with the section, if known, and the county, and describe the corners, at which shall be placed stone monuments, so that they can be readily found.

The locator shall, within three months after the date of posting the required notice, sink a shaft at least ten feet in depth by four feet square, or a tunnel of the same dimensions ten feet in length, or an open cross cut twenty feet in length, four feet or more wide and ten feet in depth at its shallowest part, and shall within said time file with the county surveyor or the district surveyor of the county, as the case may be, an application in writing for the survey of the claim, which application shall be accompanied by a fee of twenty dollars, unless its tender is waived, and also with an affidavit attached thereto stating that the required work has been done, that the locators have found valuable minerals on the claim, the date of the first posting of the notice on the claim by the applicants; and that the notice has not been post dated or changed in its date. Upon receiving said application and fee the surveyor shall record the application, together with the affidavit, and he shall forthwith proceed to survey said claim, and forward the field notes to the Commissioner of the General Land Office within thirty days after filing the application, in default of which he shall pay the aggrived party such damages as he may sustain, and in addition thereto shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction fined not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars; and it shall be the duty of the applicants to see that the field notes are so returned. The fee of twenty dollars shall cover all the services provided for in this section. In all other cases enumerated in this act the fee shall be the same allowed county clerks for similar services.

III. ASSESSMENT WORK:

Annually after the filing of the application for a survey, the claimant shall, until after the application is made for a patent, as hereinafter provided, do one hundred dollars' worth of work in developing each claim; but where claims adjoin, the amount of work may be done on one for all belonging to the same party. The value of such shall be estimated at what it could be contracted for at a fair cash price, but the cost of tools and implements and the expense of going to and returning from the mine shall not be included in said estimate. Within one month after the expiration of each year the owner shall make and file with the surveyor his affidavit setting forth specifically what the work consists of in detail, and the value thereof. Upon the failure of any one of several owners to contribute his proportion of the expenditures required in this act within the necessary time, the co-owners who have performed the labor or made the improvements or paid the fees or other expenditures required in this act, may at the expiration of the year in which the same is to be done, give notice in writing or notice by publication in a newspaper published in the county where the claim is, if any; if none in such county, then in the newspaper published nearest the mine, for at least once a week for ninety days. If after such personal notice in writing or by publication such delinquent shall fail or refuse to contribute his proportion of the expenditure required by this act, his interest in the claim shall become the property of his co-workers who have made the required expenditures. An affidavit by the co-owners forfeiting the interest of such delinquent shall, when recorded in the office of the proper surveyor, be sufficient evidence of such delinquency.

IV. TUNNEL VEINS:

When a tunnel is run for the development of a vein or lode or for the discovery of mines, the owner of such tunnel shall have the right of possession of all veins or lodes within two thousand feet of the face of such claim on the line thereof, not previously known to exist, discovered in such tunnel to the same extent as if discovered from the surface; and locations on the line of such tunnel of veins or lodes not appearing on the surface, made by other parties after the commencement of the tunnel, and while the same is being prosecuted with reasonable diligence, shall be invalid; but failure to prosecute the work in the tunnel for six months shall be considered as an abandonment of the right of all undiscovered veins on the line of said tunnel.

V. ISSUE OF PATENT:

Whenever the owners of any mining claim shall desire a patent, they shall, within five years after the filing of the application for survey, file their application for a patent upon their claim with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, accompanied by the receipt of the State Treasurer showing that twenty-five dollars per acre has been paid by the applicant for patent to the State Treasurer. Whereupon such patent shall issue unless a protest is filed. (See "Protests.")

Within twelve months after the filing of the affidavit hereinafter provided for, any person or association of persons citizens of the United States, shall have the right to purchase and obtain patent by compliance with this act, of any of the lands of the State which are specified or included in the "Mineral Lands" section of this abstract, containing valuable deposits of kaolin, baryta, salt, marble, fire clay, iron ore, coal, oil, natural gas, gypsum, nitrates, mineral paints, asbestos, marl, natural cement, clay, onyx, mica, precious stones or any other nonmetallic mineral and stones valuable for ornamental or building purposes or other valuable building material, in legal subdivisions, in quantity not exceeding one section: Provided, that where any such parties shall have expended, or shall expend, five thousand dollars in developing the mineral resources of any of said lands, such party shall have the right to buy one additional section and no more, and to include in the purchase any section or part thereof on which the work may have been done. The land so purchased may be in different sections, and all embraced in one or more obligations, not to exceed the quantity stated. The purchaser shall pay not less than fifteen dollars per acre where the land shall be situated ten miles or less from any railroad in operation, and not less than ten dollars per acre where the land is over ten miles from such railroad, one-tenth of the purchase money to be paid in cash to the State Treasurer on or before the expiration of the twelve months aforesaid; and the purchasers shall file the treasurer's receipt with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, together with an obligation to pay the State of Texas the remainder in nine equal annual installments, with interest at four per cent per annum from date, subject to forfeiture as in other cases; and all said lands are reserved from sale or other disposition than under this act; and where application is made to buy any of the lands herein named except under this act, the purchaser shall swear that there are none of the minerals named in this act on said lands, so far as he knows or has reason to believe or does believe: Provided, further, that any party hereinbefore named, who shall prior to the passage of this act have been the first to work on said lands for the development of said mineral resources, and who has not abandoned said work, and is qualified at passage of this act to buy, shall have a prior preference right of doing so for thirty days after this act goes into effect: Provided, further, this section of this act shall not authorize the sale of lands containing valuable deposits of gold, silver, lead, cinnabar, copper or other valuable metal: Provided, further, that any person desiring to acquire any lands under the provisions of this section shall have the right to prospect said land for a period of twelve months before making any payment thereon, upon condition that said prospector shall file with the proper surveyor his affidavit in writing, setting forth that he has gone upon the land in good faith with the intention of purchasing the same under the provisions of this section, giving a reasonable description of said land. After the filing of said affidavit the surveyor shall immediately forward the same to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, who shall take said action off the market until the expiration of twelve months after the filing of such affidavit with the surveyor.

VI. PROTEST AGAINST PATENT:

Any person desiring to contest the issuance of a patent may do so by filing with the Commissioner of the General Land Office a protest setting forth the grounds of objection generally, and that protestant has an interest in the subject matter, which protest shall also state that the same is presented in good faith and not to injure or delay the applicants or any of them, and the same shall be verified by affidavit. Whereupon it shall be the duty of the commissioner to withhold patent until the controversy is ended: Provided, that if the protestant shall not within thirty days after filing his protest institute suit in the court having jurisdiction thereof in the county where the claims are located, his protest shall constitute no further barrier to the issuance of patent. A certified copy of the petition or a certificate of the clerk of the court where suit is pending shall be sufficient evidence to the commissioner of the pendency of the suit, and of the date of filing said suit. When the land in controversy lies partly in two counties suit may be brought in either. More than one claim shall not be embraced in the same patent or application. The suits here provided for shall be entitled to precedence of trial on the docket.

VII. FORFEITED CLAIMS:

All claims upon which patent has not been applied for within five years next after the application for survey, or which have not been surveyed and the field notes returned to the General Land Office within the time prescribed therefor as hereinbefore provided, or upon which the assessment work has not been done, an affidavit therefor filed as provided by this act, shall be and are declared forfeited without judicial action of any kind, and subject to location as originally, but not by any one interested in the claim at the time of forfeiture, and any location for or on behalf of any such party shall be wholly void. Whenever any such claim shall be relocated, the locators and each of them shall make affidavit that the location is made without any contract or agreement of any kind that any of the parties owning an interest in the location before the re-location has or is to have any interest in the same. In all other cases where affidavit is required by this act it may be made by one or more of the parties cognizant of the facts.

No claim which has been forfeited for any cause shall be subject to relocation for a period of thirty days next thereafter, and the party owning the same may apply to the land commissioner within that time for relief, and if it appear to him from the proof submitted that the forfeiture was not occasioned by the negligence of the owner, but by circumstances which he could not reasonably control, the commissioner may within that time, in his discretion, grant relief against the forfeiture, and if such relief be granted he shall at once forward his order to that effect to the surveyor, who shall file the same for record in his office.

VIII. SALE OF LANDS:

Whenever any application shall be made to buy or obtain title to any of the lands embraced in this act, except where the application is made under this act, the applicant shall make an oath that there is not, to the best of his knowledge and belief, any of the minerals embraced in this act thereon, and when the commissioner has any doubt in relation to the matter he shall forbear action until he is satisfied. Any such sale or disposition of said lands shall be understood to be, with the reservation of the minerals thereon, subject to location as herein provided.

IX. PLACER CLAIMS:

Claims usually called placers, including all forms of metallic deposits, excepting veins of quartz or rock in place, shall be subject to entry and patent under like circumstances and conditions and upon similar proceedings as are provided for vein or lode claims. All placer claims located shall conform as near as practicable with existing surveys and their subdivisions, and no such location shall include more than forty acres for each individual claimant, and shall not exceed three hundred and twenty acres for any association of persons. The price which shall be paid for such placer shall not be less than ten dollars per acre, together with all costs of proceedings as before provided.

X. MILL SITES:

Where non-mineral land not contiguous to the vein or lode is desired by the prospector of such vein or lode for mining or milling purposes, such non-adjacent surface ground may be embraced and included in an application for a patent for such vein or lode, and the same may be patented therewith, subject to the same preliminary requirements as to survey and notice as are applicable to veins or lodes; but no location of such non-adjacent lands shall exceed ten acres, and payment for the same must be made at the same rate as fixed by this act for the superficies of the lode. The owner of a quartz mill or reduction works, not owning a mine in connection therewith, may also receive a patent for a mill site, as provided in this section.

XI. TIMBER RIGHTS:

Any owner or worker of mining claim under this act is authorized to fell and remove for building and mining purposes any timber or any tree growing or being upon unoccupied lands as heretofore described, said lands being mineral and subject to entry only as mineral lands, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed for the protection of timber and undergrowth upon such lands, and for other purposes.

XII. OATHS AND CERTIFICATES:

For the purpose of effectually carrying out the provisions of this act all county or district surveyors are especially authorized and empowered to administer oaths, take affidavits and make certificates thereof: And it is also provided that all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the act, or any part thereof, are especially repealed.

COMMERCIAL LAW.

I. ACTIONS:

There is but one form of civil action. The action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except that an executor, administrator or trustee of an express trust may sue in his own name. Actions are commenced by filing a written complaint, or, if in Justices' Court, by filing a copy of the note, account or other instrument sued on. Summons may issue at the time of filing the complaint or at any time within one year thereafter, and must be served by leaving a copy thereof with the defendant, or with some person over the age of fourteen years at the usual place of residence of the defendant. Provision is made for service by publication in certain cases. Non-resident plaintiffs may be required to give security for costs.

II. ALIENS:

No restrictions against aliens acquiring and holding real property in Utah. Non-resident foreigners must make claim to succession within five years after the death of the decedent to whom succession is claimed.

III. APPEALS:

Appeals may be taken from judgments rendered by justices of the peace or a Police Court to the District Court within thirty days after the rendition of the judgment. Undertaking on appeal must be given with sufficient sureties in the sum of one hundred dollars for the payment of costs, and in order to stay execution the undertaking must be in a sum double the amount of the judgment and costs. The trial in the District Court shall be de novo, and shall be final, except in cases involving the validity or constitutionality of a statute.

Appeals from the District Court to the Supreme Court may be taken within one year after the entry of a final judgment in the action, or special proceeding commenced in the court in which the same is rendered. From an order granting or refusing a new trial; from an order granting or dissolving, or refusing to grant or dissolve, an injunction; from an order dissolving or refusing to dissolve an attachment, and from appealable interlocutory judgment or orders, the appeal must be taken within sixty days after the entry of such order or judgment.

IV. ASSIGNMENTS:

Common law prevails, therefore preferences are allowed.

V. ATTACHMENTS:

The plaintiff at the time of issuing the summons or at any time afterward may have the property of the defendant attached in an action upon a judgment or upon a contract which is not secured by any mortgage or lien upon real or personal property in this State; or, if originally so secured and the security, without any act of the plaintiff or of the person to whom the security is given, has become valueless; upon substantially the same grounds as in other states; and upon filing affidavit, and indemnity bond conditioned in favor of the defendant. In certain cases attachment may issue before maturity of the debt.

VI. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

Relatives of deceased are entitled to administer the estate only when they are entitled to succeed to estate or some portion thereof. The surviving partner must in no case be appointed administrator of his deceased partner's estate. When objection is made by any person interested a married woman must not be appointed an administratrix, or, if administratrix marries, letters to her may be revoked. Every executor or administrator must immediately after being appointed cause to be published a notice requiring all persons having claims against the estate to exhibit them with the necessary vouchers, within ten months after the first publication of said notice, or, if the value of the estate is less than three thousand dollars, claims must be presented within four months. If the claims be not presented within the time designated they shall be forever barred, with the exception that, if it be made to appear by affidavit of claimant, to the satisfaction of the court, that the claimant had no notice by reason of being out of the State, claim may be presented any time before decree of distribution. Every claim which is due must be supported by affidavit of claimant, or some one in his behalf, that the amount is justly due, and that no payments have been made thereon which are not credited, and that there are no offsets to the same to the knowledge of affiant. If the claim be not due when presented, or be contingent, the particulars of such claim must be stated. When the affidavit is made by a person other than claimant he must set forth the reason why it is not made by claimant. The executor and administrator may also require satisfactory vouchers or proofs to be produced in support of the claim. If the claim be allowed by administrator it must be presented to the judge of probate for approval. If the claim be founded on a bond, bill, note or any other instrument, a copy of such instrument must accompany the claim. If the claim or any part thereof be secured by a mortgage, or other lien, it shall be sufficient to describe the mortgage or lien and refer to the date, volume and page of its record. If a claim that is then due is rejected, holder must bring suit within three months from the date of its rejection; or, if the claim not due, suit must be brought within two months after maturity thereof, otherwise it is barred. Claims are payable: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Expenses of last sickness. 3. All debts which were liens on property of descendant at the time of death. 4. All other demands against the estate. Preference given to liens extends only to the proceeds of property affected by such liens. If there be not sufficient assets to pay all debts of any one class, such assets shall be distributed among that class pro rata.

VII. COURTS:.

There are Supreme, District and Justice of the Peace Courts. The Supreme Court has original jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, certiorari, prohibition, quo warranto and habeas corpus, and appellate jurisdiction only in other matters.

District Courts are courts of general jurisdiction over both civil and criminal matters, and over all probate matters as well. The State is divided into seven judicial districts. There are at least four terms of court in each county in the State every year. Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in civil matters, where the title to real estate is not involved and when the amount claimed is less than three hundred dollars.

IX. DEEDS:

Conveyances of lands or any interest therein must be made by deed, and the same must be attested by at least one credible witness and acknowledged, or proved, and when so witnessed and acknowledged, or proved, and recorded in the recorder's office of the county in which the real estate is situate, it operates as notice to third persons. The proof or acknowledgment of every conveyance affecting real estate shall be taken, if within this State, by some judge or clerk of a court having a seal, a notary public, county recorder, a justice of the peace of the county where the conveyance is executed and to be recorded; if without this State and within any state or territory of the United States, by some judge or clerk of any court of the United States, a notary public, or a commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State for that purpose; if without the United States by some judge or clerk of any court of any state, kingdom or empire having a seal, or any notary public therein, or any minister, commissioner or consul of the United States appointed to reside therein. It is not necessary for husband to join with wife in conveyance of her separate real estate.

X. DEPOSITIONS:

The testimony of a witness in this State may be taken by deposition at any time after the service of summons or appearance of defendant, and in a special proceeding, after a question of fact has arisen therein, in the following cases: 1. When witness is a party to the action, or person for whose immediate benefit the action is prosecuted or defended. 2. When witness resides out of the district, when the action is pending in the District Court, and out of the county, in either case in which his testimony is to be used. 3. When the witness is about to leave the district or county where the action is to be tried and will probably be absent when the testimony is required. 4. When the witness is too infirm to attend the trial. 5. When testimony is required upon a motion or in any other case where an oral examination of the witness is not required. Such deposition may be taken before a judge or officer authorized to administer oaths on serving upon the adverse party previous notice of time and place of examination, together with a copy of affidavit showing that the case is within the above requirements.

XI. DESCENT:

The property both real and personal of one who dies without disposing of it by will, passes to the heirs of the intestate, as follows: 1. If no issue, to surviving husband or wife wholly, but if child, in equal shares to the surviving husband or wife and child, or issue of such child; and if more than one child be living, or one child and the issue of deceased children, one-third to surviving husband or wife and remainder equally to said children and the issue of such deceased, by representation; but if there be no child of decedent living at his death the remainder goes to all of his lineal descendants, equally, if of equal degree of kindred to decedent, otherwise by representation. 2. In absence of surviving husband or wife, wholly to issue. 3. If no issue, one-half to surviving husband or wife and the other to decedent's father and mother equally, and if either be dead, the whole of said half goes to the other; but if none such, said half goes to brothers and sisters of the decedent, and descendants, by representation. 4. In absence of husband, wife or issue, to father and mother equally, or, if either be dead, then to the other. 5. Equally to brothers and sisters of decedent, and their descendants by representation. 6. To next of kin in equal degree, those claiming through nearest ancestor being preferred.

XII. EXECUTIONS:

Execution may issue at any time within five years after the rendition of judgment, and, if out of the District Court, must be directed to the sheriff of the county in which the writ is to be executed. It must be against the property of the judgment debtor and must require the officer to satisfy the judgment with interest out of the personal property of such debtor; or, if sufficient personal property cannot be found, then out of the real property of the defendant; or, if judgment be a lien upon real property belonging to him on the day when the judgment was docketed, or at any time thereafter. It may be made returnable at any time not less than ten nor more than sixty days after issuance.

XIII. EXEMPTIONS:

The following property is exempt from execution, except from the purchase price thereof, or from the foreclosure of mortgage or other specific lien thereon, viz.: Chairs, tables, desks and books to the value of two hundred dollars; necessary household furniture to the value of three hundred dollars; sewing machine, pictures, provisions, actually provided sufficient for three months; two cows with calves, and two hogs and all sucking pigs; all wearing apparel, beds and bedding; farming utensils not exceeding three hundred dollars in value; also two oxen, horses or mules, harness, one cart or wagon, and food for such oxen, cows or mules for sixty days; all seed grain, or vegetables actually provided, reserved, or on hand for planting or sowing within the ensuing six months of the value of two hundred dollars; tools, tool-chest and implements of mechanic of the value of five hundred dollars; besides instruments, libraries and office furniture of physicians, attorneys, judges, ministers and other professional men; the cabin or dwelling of a miner of value not to exceed five hundred dollars, and also his sluices, pipes, hose, windlass, derrick, cars, pumps, and tools not exceeding in value two hundred dollars; two oxen, two horses or two mules, harness, cart or wagon, dray or truck, by use of which drayman, truckman, huckster, peddler, hackman, teamster or other laborer habitually earns his living; one horse, vehicle and harness, or other equipments, used by a physician, surgeon or minister in making his professional visits, with food for such horse for three months; one-half of earnings of judgment debtor for personal services rendered at any time within sixty days next preceding the levy of execution or attachment, when it appears that such earnings are necessary for the use of his family; all moneys, benefits, privileges, or immunities accruing out of any life insurance on the life of debtor, if the annual premiums paid do not exceed five hundred dollars; all arms, ammunition, uniforms and accoutrements, required by law to be kept by any person; and all courthouses, jails, public offices and buildings, schoolhouses, houses of worship and grounds and property appertaining thereto.

XIV. HOMESTEAD:

If the debtor be the head of a family there is exempt a homestead to be selected by the debtor consisting of lands, together with improvements thereon, not exceeding in value the sum of one thousand dollars for the judgment debtor, five hundred dollars for his wife, and two hundred and fifty dollars for each other member of his family. If the homestead selected is of greater value than homestead exemption, the judgment debtor may, at his option, permit the same to be partitioned, or to be sold and to receive in money the value of the homestead.

XV. INTEREST:

The legal rate is eight per cent, but any rate may be contracted for.

XVI. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments may be given for or against one or more of several plaintiffs, and for or against one or more of several defendants. In an action against several defendants, the court may, in its discretion, render judgment against one or more, leaving action to proceed against the others, whenever a special judgment is proper. Judgment is barred after the lapse of five years and cannot be revived by scire facias, but suit should be brought within the limitation. Except in case of recovery of money, judgments may be enforced after five years from entry, by leave, on motion, or by judgment for the purpose founded on supplemental pleadings. Judgment of the District Courts becomes a lien from the time it is docketed, upon all the real property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in the district, and such lien continues from three to five years. Judgments of justices become liens upon real estate the same as judgments of the District Courts upon the filing of abstract of such judgment and docketing the same in the District Court.

XVII. LIENS:

Liens are secured to mechanics and others, including all persons of every class performing labor upon, or furnishing material to be used in constructions, alteration, addition to, or repair of any building, bridge, ditch, flume, aqueduct, tunnel, fence, railroad, wagon road, or other structure or improvement upon land; and architects, engineers and artisans, who have furnished designs, plats, maps, specifications, drawings, estimates of costs, surveys, or superintendence are likewise granted a lien upon the property upon which they have rendered service, performed labor, or furnished materials, whether at the instance of the owner, or his agent, or a contractor. The lien attaches to such interest as the owner or lessee may have in the real estate, and extends to the entire contract price; and payment made to the principal contractor before commencing the work, or prior indebtedness of the said contractor to the owner, cannot defeat sub-contractor's lien unless written notice thereof is posted and kept posted upon the structure. The original contractor must file his notice of lien in statutory form, with the county recorder for record, within sixty days after the completion of his contract, and every other person claiming the benefit of the lien act must file his notice of lien for record within forty days after furnishing the last material or performing the last labor. Liens may be enforced by action at any time within twelve months after the completion of the original contract, or the suspension of work thereunder for a period of thirty days.

The provisions of the law also apply to person who shall do work or furnish material for the working, preservation or development of any mine, lode, or mining claim. Except on leased mines the lien extends only to the leasehold interest and to ores, etc., mined and excavated by the lessees. All foundrymen, boiler-makers, and all persons performing labor or furnishing machinery or boilers or castings or other materials for constructing or repairing or carrying on work of any mill, manufactory, or hoisting works, have a lien on such structure; but the act does not apply to any public structure or improvement.

XVIII. LIMITATIONS:

No action for the recovery of real property or the possession thereof shall be maintained unless it appears that plaintiff, his ancestor, grantor, or predecessor, was seized or possessed of the premises in question within seven years before the commencement of such action, and such seizing is necessary in actions arising out of title to or rent of real property. In every action for the recovery of real property or the possession thereof, a person establishing legal title is presumed to have been possessed thereof within the time required by law, and occupation by any other person shall be deemed to have been under and in subordination to the legal title, unless that it appear that the property has been held and possessed adversely to such legal title for seven years before commencement of the action.

The periods prescribed for the commencement of actions other than for real property are for: Actions upon a judgment or decree of a court of the United States or of any state or territory therein, for the mesne profits of real property, five years. For actions upon any contract, obligation or liability founded upon an instrument of writing, except as above, four years. For actions for liability created upon the statute other than a penalty or forfeiture; for trespass upon real property; for taking, detaining or injuring, including actions for the specific recovery of property, and for relief on the ground of fraud or mistake, three years; the cause of action in such case not be deemed to have accrued until the discovery by the aggrieved party, of the facts constituting the fraud or mistake. For actions upon a contract or liability not founded upon an instrument of writing; upon an open account for goods, wares and merchandise, in which case action may be commenced at any time within two years after the last charge is made, or the last payment received; against a marshal, sheriff, coroner or constable upon a liability incurred by doing an act in official capacity or by omission of official duty; and to recover damages for the death of one caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another, two years. For actions upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture; upon a statute, or an undertaking in a criminal action for a forfeiture or penalty to the people of the State; for libel, slander, assault, battery, false imprisonment or seduction; against a marshal, sheriff or other officer for the escape of a prisoner; against a municipal corporation for damages to property caused by mob or riot, one year. For actions against an officer, or officers de facto; to recover any goods seized by such officer in his official capacity, as tax collector, or to recover value thereof, or damages for making any such seizure; for money paid such officer under protest or seized by such officer in his official capacity as collector of taxes, six months. Actions on claims against a county which have been rejected by the County Court must be commenced within one year after the first rejection thereof. If the defendant be absent from the State the statute does not run until his return. There are no limitations against actions to recover money or other property deposited with banks, bankers, trust companies, savings or other loan societies.

XIX. MARRIED WOMEN:

All property belonging to any married woman at the time of her marriage or to which she subsequently becomes entitled in her own right, with the rents and profits thereof, is her separate property, and may be managed, sold or disposed of by her as if a femme sole.

XX. MORTGAGES:

Mortgages on real estate are executed the same as deeds. There is but one action for the recovery of any debt secured by mortgage, which action is by a bill of foreclosure in the District Court, in the county in which the land is situate. Wife must join in the execution of a mortgage, except that for purchase money. The short form mortgage as prescribed by statute may be used. There is six months' redemption from all sales under foreclosure of mortgage, which right of redemption may be exercised by the judgment debtor or a creditor having a subsequent lien by judgment or mortgage on the whole or some part of the property sold.

A chattel mortgage is not good as against third persons, unless possession of property be delivered to and retained by the mortgagee, or unless the mortgage provide that the property may remain in the possession of the mortgagor and be accompanied by an affidavit of the parties thereto; or, in case of absence of a party, that the same is made in good faith to secure the amount named therein and without any design to hinder or delay the creditors of the mortgagor. Every such mortgage must be witnessed, acknowledged by the mortgagor or person executing the same and be filed for record in the office of the recorder of the county where the mortgagor resides, or, in case he is a non-resident of this State, then in the office of the recorder of each and every county where the property may be at the time of the execution of the mortgage. Any such mortgage, duly verified, acknowledged and filed as aforesaid, if made in good faith, shall be good and valid as against third parties, from the time it is so filed for record until the maturity of the entire debt, or obligation, for the security of which the same was given and for ninety days thereafter, provided the entire time shall not exceed fifteen months. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed in the same manner as mortgages on real estate, except that it is lawful for the mortgagor to insert in his mortgage the usual clause of a deed of trust, of power to sell, given to trustee therein named or to the sheriff of the county wherein said property is situate, under such notice and advertisement and in such manner as is provided for the sale of personal property taken on execution.

Trust deeds are frequently used in this State instead of mortgages, and are executed in the same manner. They are in the usual form, with power of sale in trust deed. If foreclosed in the manner therein provided, by advertisement and sale by trustee, there is no redemption; and if foreclosed in court in the same manner that mortgages are foreclosed there is the same redemption as in sales under mortgage foreclosures.

XXI. NOTES AND BILLS:

Days of grace are not allowed. The statute upon this subject follows the law merchant. When a note or bill by its terms becomes due on a holiday it is payable on the next day preceding, except when such preceding day is also a holiday; in the latter case such note shall become due on the next succeeding business day. The maturity of a bill of exchange, payable at sight or on demand is, if it bear interest, one year after its date; if it does not bear interest, ten days after its date, in addition to the necessary time required in forwarding it for acceptance. The maturity of a promissory note payable at sight or on demand is, if it bear interest, one year from its date; if it does not bear interest, six months from its date.

XXII. TAXES:

All property is assessed for taxation as owned and valued on the first day of March of each year. All State, school and county taxes become due and payable on the first of September, annually, and become delinquent on the first of October succeeding. Real estate sold for taxes may be redeemed at any time within two years by any person interested therein by paying into the county treasury for the use of the purchaser, the amount paid by the purchaser and all costs and one and one-half per cent interest per month on the whole from the date of sale to date of redemption and all taxes subsequently paid by the purchaser. If no redemption within two years the purchaser at such tax sale is entitled to a tax deed for the property purchased by him.

XXIII. WILLS:

Every person over eighteen years of age may dispose of his property by will. A married woman may dispose of her separate property by will as if she were sole. Wills must be in writing, subscribed by the testator at the end thereof in the presence of two witnesses, to whom the testator must at the time of subscribing declare the instrument to be his will; and must be attested by such witnesses, each of whom must sign his name at the end of the will, in the presence of the testator and of each other. All wills executed according to the law of the state or country where made or where testator was at the time domiciled, or in conformity to the laws of Utah, may be admitted to probate here after being duly approved and allowed in any other territory, state or foreign country.

CORPORATIONS.

I. CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS:

Corporations may be formed under the general laws, but shall not be created by special acts.

The Legislature shall not extend any franchise or charter, nor remit the forfeiture of any franchise or charter of any corporation now existing, or which shall hereafter exist, under the laws of this State.

The stock of corporations shall not be increased, except in pursuance of general law, nor shall the law authorize the increase of stock without the consent of the person or persons holding the larger amount in value of the stock.

No law shall be passed granting the right to construct and operate a street railroad, telegraph, telephone or electric light plant within any city or incorporated town without the consent of the local authorities therein.

No corporation shall do business in this State, without having one or more places of business, with an authorized agent or agents, upon whom process may be served; nor without first filing a certified copy of its articles of incorporation with the Secretary of State.

No corporation shall engage in any business other than that expressly authorized in its charter, or articles of incorporation.

The stockholders of a banking corporation are liable for the amount of their stock subscribed, and for an additional amount, equal to the amount of their stock in such corporation, for all its debts and liabilities of every kind.

II. ORGANIZATION:

Any number of persons, not less than five, one-third of whom are residents of this State, may associate themselves together and become incorporated, under a general act, for establishing and conducting any mining, manufacturing, commercial, or other industrial pursuit; for the purpose of conducting the business of loan, investment, trust or guarantee associations; for the construction or operation of wagon roads, or irrigating ditches; for the colonization and improvement of lands; for the establishment and maintenance of colleges, seminaries, churches, libraries, or any benevolent, charitable or scientific associations, or for any rightful subjects consistent with the constitution and laws of the United States, and of the State.

They shall enter into a written agreement, signed by each of them, and acknowledged by at least three of them before a notary public of the county in which they locate their principal place of business. Such agreement must state: 1. The precinct or city. 2. The name of the association. 3. The incorporators' names and places of residence written in full. 4. The time of its duration, which shall not in any case be less than three nor more than fifty years. 5. The pursuit or business agreed upon, specifying it in general terms. 6. The place of its general business. 7. The amount of stock each party has subscribed, the amount of each share, and the limit of capital stock agreed upon. 8. The number and kind of officers for the association, with their qualifications and term of office, and the time and manner of their election, removal and resignation; how many of the entire board of directors or trustees shall be necessary to form a quorum and be authorized to transact the business and exercise the corporate powers of the corporation. 9. Whether the private property of the stockholders shall be liable for its obligations or not, with such additional clauses as are deemed necessary for the conducting of the business and its future safety and welfare. To this there shall be added the oath or affirmation of three or more of their number to the effect that they have commenced, or it is bona fide their intention to commence, and carry on the business mentioned in the agreement, and that the affiants verily believe that each party to the agreement has paid or is able to and will pay the amount of his stock subscribed for; provided that said acknowledgment shall not be made until ten per cent of the stock subscribed by each shareholder has been paid in; but when subscriptions to capital stock are paid in other than money, the fact shall be so stated, and the kind of property, with a description thereof, specified in the articles of agreement. The agreement with the oath or affirmation shall be deposited with the county clerk within ten days after due execution, and recorded by him. The officers must, before entering upon their duties, take and subscribe an oath of office, and enter into bonds that they will discharge the duties of such office to the best of their judgment, and that they will not do nor consent to the doing of any matter or thing relating to the business of the association with intent to defraud any stockholder, or creditor, or the public, which oath and bond shall be filed in the same office. Whereupon the county clerk shall issue, under the seal of his court, a certificate to the effect that the agreement and oath, and the oath of office and bonds have been filed in his office, which certificate, with a copy of the articles of agreement and oath, certified by him, must be filed in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall issue, under seal of the State, a certificate to that fact; and these proceedings and certificate shall be sufficient to constitute the association a body corporate with succession; and the latter certificate, or a certified copy thereof, shall be evidence of the due incorporation.

III. POWERS:

Corporations so created are authorized to exercise the usual powers of business corporations, use a common seal, to buy, hold or sell such real estate as may be necessary to their business or to collect debts, to make by-laws and to increase or diminish the capital stock by formal proceedings. Corporations have also the right to own and the power to buy and sell real estate as a business to the extent of the limitation imposed by Congress.

IV. TAXATION:

The property of all corporations for pecuniary profit is subject to taxation, the same as that of individuals. Shares of stock in corporations are not taxable when the property of the corporation is taxable.

V. SPECIAL PROVISIONS:

There are special provisions for banking, domestic, railroad, telegraph, telephone, insurance, irrigation, loan, trust and guarantee associations, and building and loan associations.

VI. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Foreign corporations may enter into business in this State, but all such corporations are required within sixty days to file with the Secretary of State, and also with the clerk of the county wherein the principal office in the State is situated, certified copies of the articles and by-laws, and a certificate of incorporation; and in case of alteration and amendment of said articles or by-laws thereafter, shall file certified copies of such alteration or amendment with each of said officers, within thirty days after their adoption.

Such corporation shall also, within sixty days after commencing business, designate some person, residing in the county in which its principal place of business in the State is situated, upon whom process may be served, and shall file such designation with the county clerk and the Secretary of State. Any corporation failing so to comply shall not be entitled to the benefits of the laws limiting the time for the commencement of civil actions.

MINING.

I. LOCATION AND RECORD:

The locator may claim fifteen hundred feet along the vein or lode, and three hundred feet on each side of the middle of the vein or lode at the surface.

The location shall be along the vein or lode, and it shall be distinctly marked on the ground so that its boundaries can be readily traced, and the record shall contain such description by reference to some natural object or permanent monument as will identify the claim. The notice of location must be recorded with the mining recorder of the mining district in which the claim is located; and if the claim is not located in an organized district, or if there is a vacancy in the office of the recorder of any mining district, then with the county recorder of the county in which such claim is located. All transfers of mining claims are made by deed as in the case of land.

II. ASSESSMENT WORK:

Assessment work to amount of one hundred dollars must be performed annually on lode claims.

III. RIGHT OF WAY:

The owner, locator or occupant of a mining claim may have and acquire a right of way over and across the lands or mining claims of others, whether patented or otherwise, for a road, tramway, railroad, ditch, canal, flume, water-pipe line, cut or tunnel in, upon, through and across such lands or claims. Such right may be secured by petition and hearing in the District Court, and on payment of the damages assessed therein. The act contains a provision preventing injury to land through which such right of way passes; providing for the construction of safe crossings, etc., and for keeping same in good repair.

IV. COAL MINES:

All coal mines in which more than ten men are employed in each twenty-four hours shall be provided with an escapement shaft, slope or tunnel for the purpose of securing the safe egress of workmen in case of danger. Punishment for failure to comply with this law is one thousand dollars fine, or one year in the penitentiary

COMMERCIAL LAW.

I. ACTIONS:

The forms of action are those prescribed by common law. The declaration is included in the writ. Suits are commenced by writ of summons or attachment, as plaintiff prefers. ("VI. Arrest," and "VII. Attachment.")

II. ADMINISTRATION:

Letters testamentary are granted by Probate Courts. Letters of administration are granted: 1. To the widow or next of kin, or to both, or to such persons as they may request. 2. If widow or next of kin, or persons selected by them are incompetent, or if the widow or next of kin neglects for thirty days after the death of the deceased to apply for administration, letters may be granted to one or more of the principal creditors, and in case no creditor accepts, then letters may be granted to such person as Probate Court may select.

III. AFFIDAVITS:

May be made before any officer authorized to administer oaths, as justice of the peace, notary public, master in chancery, judge of County or Supreme Court, or commissioner appointed by the Governor in other states and foreign countries, and in case of affidavit to chattel mortgage, a town clerk to whose office the mortgage is returnable.

IV. ALIENS:

Are not expressly prohibited holding real estate, either by the laws or constitution; no forfeiture or escheat of lands owned by aliens. War between United States and foreign countries suspends the running of the statute of limitations in favor of aliens.

V. APPEALS:

From judgments of justices of the peace and municipal courts to County Courts must be taken within two hours, and from Probate Court within twenty days. Exceptions from decisions of the County and Municipal Courts, on questions of law, must be filed within thirty days, but writs of error may be brought within one year. Appeals from judgments of justices of the peace are not ordinarily allowable in suits where the ad damnum does not exceed twenty dollars and in actions on notes and accounts stated not exceeding forty dollars, except when the party makes affidavit that he has a good defense. Appeals from justices of Municipal Courts must be entered with the clerk of the latter within twenty-one days.

VI. ARREST:

May be made in actions of tort; when the defendant holds the plaintiff's money in a fiduciary capacity, and in actions founded on contracts, when the plaintiff makes an affidavit that he believes the defendant is about to abscond, or remove from the State, and has secreted about his person, or elsewhere, money or other property to an amount exceeding twenty dollars, or enough to pay the debt. Upon proof that the defendant is not about to abscond, and has not property in the amount above stated, said defendant may take the poor debtor's oath and be discharged from arrest.

VII. ASSIGNMENTS:

May be made for the benefit of all creditors alike, with no preference, if made in accordance with the statutory provisions, to a disinterested assignee. If statutory provisions are not complied with, the property may be subject to attachment or trustee process at the suit of creditors, whether in the hands of the assignee or not. Special assignment of the entire debt may be made on proper consideration, either orally or in writing, but if of a part of a debt it is not binding without acceptance.

VIII. ATTACHMENT:

Of real and personal property is allowable on mesne process, and holds good on personal property for thirty days, and on real property for five months, after final judgment. Attachment of personal property may be made by lodging a copy of the writ and officer's return in the town clerk's office. All personal property is attachable for purchase money.

IX. DEEDS:

Must be signed and sealed with a wafer or some cohesive matter in the presence of two witnesses, and must be acknowledged before a notary public, justice of the peace, master in chancery, or town clerk to whose office the paper is returnable. Acknowledgments without the State may be made before any officer authorized by such state to take acknowledgment, or by commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State. The separate acknowledgment or private examination of the wife is not required.

X. DEPOSITIONS:

May be taken when the witness resides more than thirty miles from the place of trial; when he is going out of the State not to return before trial; when he is not a resident of the State; and when, by reason of sickness or infirmity, he is unable to attend court. Depositions may be taken before a notary public, justice of the peace and master in chancery; or, if out of the State, by any officer there authorized to take depositions. The statutes give the forms for the citation, certificate and caption.

XI. DESCENT:

The widow is entitled to her personal apparel and ornaments, and such other part of the personal estate as may be assigned to her, being not less than one-third thereof; and the whole may be assigned to her if the estate does not exceed three hundred dollars. The residue, if there is more than three hundred dollars in value, is distributed the same as the real estate.

Of the real estate the widow has one-third as dower. If the husband leaves no issue, the widow is entitled to the whole of his estate if it does not exceed two thousand dollars in value. If it exceeds that sum, then the widow is entitled to two thousand dollars and one-half the remainder, and the remaining part of the estate shall descend in the same manner as the whole would if no widow survived. If the wife leaves no issue, husband has the same share as wife would have in his estate if he left no issue. If the deceased person leaves no issue, widow, nor father, his estate shall descend in equal shares to his brothers and sisters; and the mother, if living, takes the same share as a brother or sister. If the deceased leaves no issue or widow, the whole estate goes to the father; and, if none of the above named relatives survive, the estate descends in equal shares to the next of kin in equal degree; but no person shall be entitled by right of representation to the share of such next of kin who shall have died. The degrees of kindred are computed according to the rules of civil law, the kindred of half blood inheriting equally with those of the whole blood of equal degree. Illegitimate children inherit the estate of their mothers, and mothers that of such children.

XII. EXECUTIONS:

Personal property taken in execution is sold at public sale, and real estate is appraised and set off to satisfy the same.

XIII. EXEMPTIONS:

The law exempts a homestead to the amount of five hundred dollars, and numerous articles specified by statute.

XIV. GARNISHMENT:

In actions on contract the goods, effects or credits of the defendant in the hands of a third person may be attached if the debt on which the suit is based, and the goods, effects or credits so attached, exceed ten dollars.

XV. INSOLVENCY:

An insolvent law was passed in 1876, and is now in force. It is very similar in its provisions to the United States bankrupt law. It, of course, has no extra territorial effect. Judges of Probate Courts are judges of the Courts of Insolvency, and the law provides for voluntary and involuntary bankruptcy. Preferences and attachments within four months are dissolved by the adjudication of insolvency. Discharges are not granted where the assets do not amount to thirty per cent of the debts proven unless a majority in number and amount of the creditors assent thereto.

XVI. INTEREST:

The legal rate is six per cent. The excess above six per cent when paid may be recovered back by the party paying it.

XVII. JUDGMENTS:

Do not of themselves create a lien upon property not attached upon mesne process.

XVIII. LIENS:

Upon personal property sold and delivered, may be retained until the purchase price is paid, providing a memorandum witnessing such lien and conditional sale is duly executed and recorded in the clerk's office of the city or town in which the purchaser resides, within thirty days after the delivery of the property, and not otherwise.

A corporation has a lien on the capital stock held by the stockholders and upon their property invested in the corporation for the debts due to it.

Persons performing labor or furnishing material in building, repairing, fitting or furnishing a ship, vessel or steamboat have a lien on the same for eight months, and may secure same by attachment, which shall have precedence of all other claims.

A person erecting, repairing, moving, or altering a building, or furnishing labor or materials therefor shall have a lien to secure payment therefor on such building and the land on which it stands, which lien continues in force three months, but does not take effect until a memorandum of the claim is recorded in the town clerk's office of the town where the real estate is situated. It does not avail sub-contractors and does not take precedence of any former mortgage or lien.

When a person or company is compelled to stop business by reason of attachment and does not resume in thirty days, and is indebted to an employe for wages, such employe has a preference to the amount of fifty dollars, and his attachment will take precedence of others to secure that amount. In insolvency his claim to that amount is preferred.

XIX. LIMITATIONS:

Actions for recovery of lands, fifteen years; actions on contracts, accounts, notes, trespass on land, and all other actions for taking or injuring or detaining goods, six years; actions for assault and battery and false imprisonment, three years; actions for slanderous words and libels, two years.

XX. MARRIED WOMEN:

A married woman retains her real estate, and the rents, issues and products thereof, and her earnings are not subject to attachment on debts of the husband. She may make a will of her real and personal property, and may sell and dispose of her property, except that she cannot mortgage or convey real estate without the joining of her husband in the deed. A married woman carrying on business in her own name may sue or be sued.

XXI. MORTGAGES:

Are allowed without change of possession of the property, if executed in accordance with the statute and recorded in the office of the clerk of the city or town where the mortgagor resides, or if the mortgagor is a non-resident, where the property is situated. The mortgagee, at any time after thirty days from the time at which the condition is broken, may cause the property to be sold at public sale, by an officer, in satisfaction of the mortgage debt.

XXII. NOTES AND BILLS:

Are governed ordinarily by the law merchant. Notes payable on demand are considered overdue after sixty days. No days of grace are allowed.

XXIII. TAXES:

Real estate may be sold for taxes, with right of redemption within one year from date.

Manufacturing establishments, quarries and mines when first opened, including buildings and machinery necessary for the prosecution of the business, may be exempt from taxation for five years by a majority vote of the legal voters of the town or city where the same is situated.

XXIV. WILLS:

Must be signed by the testator and attested by three witnesses, who must subscribe as such, in the presence of and at the request of the testator, and in the presence of each other. A will made out of the State, which may be proved in the state where made, may be proved in this State. Wills must be recorded in the Probate Court and in the clerk's office in each town where real estate is in any wise affected by the will. No nuncupative will will pass personal estate when the estate thereby bequeathed exceeds two hundred dollars, nor be allowed unless a memorandum thereof is made in writing by a person present at the time of the making of such will, within six days from the making of it, nor unless presented to the Probate Court within six months after the death of the testator, but the common law rule applies to a soldier in actual military service, or mariner or seaman at sea in the disposal of his wages or other personal estate.

CORPORATIONS.

I. PURPOSES:

Corporations are often created by special charter, but may be formed by voluntary association for certain purposes, among them for manufacturing, mercantile, mechanical, mining, quarrying and building purposes, and for constructing and running railroads under certain restrictions.

II. ORGANIZATION:

Articles of association, signed by at least five incorporators, are filed with the Secretary of State, and a certified copy thereof must be recorded in the office of the clerk in the town or city in which the principal office of said corporation is located.

Before a corporation commences business the president or clerk shall make a sworn certificate of the amount of capital stock actually paid in, and file it with the Secretary of State, and a certified copy thereof with the clerk of the town or city in which is the head office. A failure to comply with these provisions, and the above provisions of filing a certified copy of the articles of association subjects the president and directors to a personal liability for the debts of the corporation.

III. DIRECTORS:

The corporation is managed by not less than three directors, who must be stockholders, and two of them must reside in the State. They shall be elected annually, and one of their number shall be elected president, and they may fill any vacancy in their board occurring during the year. They shall appoint a clerk and treasurer. A majority of the directors shall be a quorum, and a majority represented at a meeting may transact the business of a stockholders' meeting. Each share of stock is entitled to one vote.

IV. CAPITAL STOCK:

The capital stock shall be not less than five hundred dollars and not more than one million dollars. The shares shall not exceed one hundred dollars each. The corporation may, under certain provisions, increase or diminish its capital stock at any time after organization.

V. LIABILITIES:

Besides the liability of the president and directors above mentioned, a director assenting to the creation of the indebtedness over two-thirds of the capital stock actually paid in, shall be personally liable for the excess. One-fourth the capital stock must be paid in before the corporation contracts debts.

The clerk shall keep in the town where the corporation creditors to the amount unpaid on the stock held by them respectively for contracts and debts of the corporation. If the capital stock is withdrawn and refunded to the stockholders before the full payment of its debts said stockholders shall be personally liable for such debts to the amount so refunded.

VI. BOOKS AND RECORDS:

The clerk shall keep in the town where the corporation has its principal place of business a book containing a record of articles of the association, the number of shares held by each person, amount paid in by each, the time when they became owners, and the time and a record of transfers. All books of the corporation are subject to the inspection of the stockholders at the annual meeting and other reasonable times.

VII. DISSOLUTION:

Corporations are subject to future legislation and to dissolution by order of the Supreme Court or by decree in chancery upon vote of one-fourth the capital stock for proper cause shown.

VIII. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

There are no statutes relating to foreign corporations engaged in manufacturing, mercantile, mining or quarrying business, or in similar business, as to the method of their entering or doing business in the State, and they are allowed to do business without interference or regulation. This does not apply to insurance companies or banking institutions.

COMMERCIAL LAW.

I. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

All writings which are to be admitted to record (except conditional sales of personal property) must be acknowledged or proved by the oath of two witnesses before a clerk of the Circuit, County, or Corporation Court, or a justice, commissioner in chancery of a court of record, notary public, commissioner appointed by the Governor of Virginia for another state, clerk of a court of record within the United States, minister plenipotentiary, charge d'affaires, consul general, consul, vice consul, or a commercial agent appointed by the Government of the United States to any foreign country; or before the proper officer of any court of any such country, or the mayor or other chief magistrate of any city, town, or corporation therein. Where the acknowledgment or proof is before an officer not residing in the United States he must certify the same under his official seal.

II. ALIENS:

Any alien, not an enemy, may acquire by purchase or descent and hold real estate in this State; and the same may be transmitted in the same manner as real estate held by citizens.

III. ASSIGNMENTS:

Since the repeal of the bankrupt law, assignments may be made in trust for any special number of creditors, or for all the creditors. A debtor can make preferences. A trust deed on a stock of goods, reserving right to the grantor to sell and reinvest, is void.

Any lien or incumbrance on its work or property, created by any company chartered by a court or judge, for the purpose of giving a preference to any creditor, except to secure a debt contracted or money borrowed at the time of the creation of the lien or incumbrance, shall enure to the benefit ratably of all the creditors of the company then existing.

IV. ATTACHMENTS:

At the time or after an action is brought to recover specific personal property, a debt, or damages for breach of contract, express or implied, or damages for a wrong, and the defendant is a non-resident of the State, or is removing his effects out of the State, or is conveying or assigning his property with intent to hinder, delay, or defraud his creditors, an attachment may issue to seize the property of the defendant.

Whether the claim be payable or not, an attachment may be sued out against a debtor removing, or about to remove, his effects out of the State; also in certain cases for rent, and in certain others against vessels, boats, river craft, etc.

Chattel mortgages can be made, but unless recorded are void as to creditors, etc., against an attachment.

There must be property of a non-resident defendant which can be and is actually levied on, to give jurisdiction.

V. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

Where not evidenced by writing signed by the decedent, they must be proved to the satisfaction of the commissioner of accounts; the affidavit of a disinterested person is usually sufficient. All claims must be proved or suits brought upon them within five years from the qualification of decedent's personal representative; or if the right of action shall not have accrued at the time of decedent's death, within five years from the time it accrues.

VI. COURTS:

County Courts have jurisdiction of criminal business, probate of wills, appointment of administrators and guardians, opening roads, etc., and of removals and appeals from justices of the peace. They meet monthly on a day prescribed by the judge of the court.

Circuit Courts have jurisdiction of all civil matters. Where the demand is merely pecuniary it must exceed twenty dollars. They have appellate jurisdiction from the County Court. Their terms are prescribed by the Legislature. Some Circuit Courts are held twice a year, some three times, and some four times.

The Supreme Court of Appeals has appellate jurisdiction only, except in cases of mandamus, prohibition and habeas corpus. Where the matter in controversy is wholly pecuniary it must not be less than five hundred dollars.

VII. FEES:

VIII. DEEDS:

When voluntary, are void only as to existing creditors. If set aside as fraudulent, the grantor may claim homestead exemption. No estate of inheritance or freehold, or for a term of more than five years in lands, shall be conveyed except by deed or will. Voluntary partition by co-parceners can be made only by deed.

IX. DEPOSITIONS:

Depositions are taken in all chancery and common law suits where the witnesses reside out of the State, more than one hundred miles from the place of trial, or are aged or infirm. Reasonable notice must be given of the time and place of taking the same.

They may be taken before a justice of the peace, notary public, commissioner in chancery, or a commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State in another state. No commission is necessary to take depositions. Depositions may be taken to perpetuate testimony, under certain proceedings described by the code; and also may be taken in a foreign country by any person that the parties may agree upon in writing, or by any person authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds in such foreign country.

X. DESCENT:

Real and personal estate descends: 1. To children and their descendants. 2. If none such, to the father. 3. To the mother, brothers, and sisters, and their descendants. 4. If none such, then one moiety to the paternal, and the other to the maternal kin in upward and collateral order.

If an infant dies having real estate derived from a parent, the land goes to the kindred on the side of that parent.

A purchaser of land from an heir or devisee before a commissioner's report of the ancestor's or testator's debts is filed, is protected against the claims of ancestor's or testator's creditors if the purchase is made more than twelve months after his death.

XI. EXECUTIONS:

Executions may issue at any time within one year, and scire facias, or action to revive judgments, within ten. When an execution has issued within the year, other executions may be issued, or a scire facias or an action may be brought within ten years from the return day of an execution on which there is no return by an officer; or within twenty years from the return day of an execution on which there is such return, except that against the personal representative of a decedent it must be sued out within five years after qualification as such.

Any endorsement by an officer, upon a writ of execution which shows that the amount for which it issued has not been made, is sufficient to give twenty years in which another execution may issue.

XII. EXEMPTIONS:

Personal property: Bible, family pictures, and books to the value of one hundred dollars; pew in church, burial lot, beds and bedding for family, various articles of housekeeping, and sewing machine; mechanic's tools to the value of one hundred dollars; by seaman or fisherman his boat to the value of two hundred dollars; farmer, one yoke of oxen or pair of mules and farming utensils.

XIII. HOMESTEAD:

A householder, the head of a family, is entitled to have real and personal property exempt from sale under execution to the value of two thousand dollars, excepting for a debt incurred for the purchase of such real or personal property, rent, services rendered by a laboring person or mechanic, liabilities incurred by any public officer or officer of court, or any fiduciary or attorney for money collected, for taxes, for the legal or taxable fees of any public officer or officer of a court, or for any debt or liability on contract as to which debtor has waived his homestead exemption. All wages, also, not exceeding fifty dollars a month, are exempt. The homestead claimed to be exempt must be described in a writing signed by the householder and duly admitted to record in the county or corporation wherein the property claimed is located. A debtor cannot squander one homestead and take another.

A laborer's wages to the extent of fifty dollars a month are absolutely exempt, and such exemption cannot be waived so as to make execution a lien on the same.

XIV. INTEREST AND USURY:

The legal rate of interest is six per cent per annum. All contracts for more are void except as to principal. Interest is not allowed if bond is usurious on its face, though usury may not be pleaded. No corporation can plead usury.

XV. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments are liens on real estate possessed by debtor at or after the date of judgment; or if judgment be rendered in term in a case docketed at the beginning of the term, at or after the first day of the term. They are liens as against purchasers without notice, if docketed within twenty days from their date, or fifteen days before conveyance is made. Docketing is held to be conclusive notice to all the world. Judgments cannot be enforced in equity if barred at law. Where the liens of two or more judgments commence the same day, the creditors share ratably.

XVI. LIENS:

Any person performing labor or furnishing materials for the construction, repair, or improvement of any property or building, is entitled, under the law of Virginia, to a lien on the whole of same, or sufficient to cover the value of labor performed or material furnished. The contract, in writing, is required to be recorded in the county or corporation wherein the land lies, within thirty days from the completion of the building or from the time that work thereon is otherwise terminated. Liens remain in force but six months from the time the money to be paid is due, unless suit in equity to enforce the lien is instituted within the six months. In a suit in equity the lien also enures to the benefit of persons to whom the holder of the lien is indebted for materials or labor, provided they give notice in writing to the owner of such claim against the general contractor before he is paid. Crop liens must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county.

XVII. LIMITATIONS:

Actions upon an indemnifying bond, or bond of executor, administrator, guardian, curator, committee, sheriff or sergeant, deputy sheriff or sergeant, clerk or deputy clerk, or any other fiduciary or public officer, or on any contract under seal, must be brought within ten years on an award or contract in writing signed by the party to be charged thereby, within five years. On a retail store account, within two years. On any other contract within three years.

If the creditor is an infant, a married woman, or insane, the period of such limitation is additional, excepting that in all cases the action must be brought within twenty years. All real actions must be entered within fifteen years, east of the Alleghany Mountains; and within ten years, west of the same. No new promise will take an obligation out of these periods unless in writing. Plea of limitation on any action must be entered by the defendant; the court cannot enter such plea for him.

XVIII. MARRIED WOMEN: .

The real and personal property of any female married after April 4, 1877, owned at the time of her marriage, and the rents, issues and profits thereof, and any property, real or personal, acquired by a married woman during coverture, is not subject to the disposal of her husband or liable for his debts, but is her separate and sole property.

Any such married woman has power to contract in relation thereto or for the disposal thereof, and may sue and be sued as if she were a femme sole. Equity will not compel the specific performance of a contract to convey her separate real estate; and her husband must be joined with her in a suit to recover her property.

XIX. MORTGAGES:

Mortgages on real estate must be recorded in the office of the clerk of the county or corporation wherein such property is situate. A deed absolute on its face may be shown by parole proof to be a mortgage.

XX. NOTES AND BILLS:

Where a bill of exchange drawn or indorsed within this State is protested, the party liable for the principal of such bill shall, in addition, pay damages upon the principal at the rate of three per cent if the bill be payable out of Virginia and within the United States, and ten per cent if payable without the United States. On all negotiable notes and bills payable at a future day, grace is allowed according to custom of merchants. No grace on side drafts. Legal holidays, which are January 1st, January 19th (Lee's birthday), February 22nd, July 4th, December 25th, and any day appointed by the President of the United States or Governor of the State as a day of thanksgiving, fasting, and prayer, or other religious observance, shall, for all purposes as regards presenting for payment or acceptance and of the protesting and giving notice of the dishonor of bills, bank checks and promissory notes, be treated as the first day of the week (Sunday) and as public holidays. Whenever one of these legal holidays falls on Sunday, the Monday next following shall be a legal holiday. All bills, notes, checks, and other negotiable instruments, which, by their tenor, are presented on a legal holiday, shall become due and be presented on the secular, or business day next preceding.

The sale of negotiable paper at a greater discount than six per cent by a broker to an innocent purchaser is not usury. The endorser of negotiable paper is not bound by a notice of protest left with a servant.

XXI. SUITS:

Are begun by a summons issued by the clerk of court returnable within ninety days to a rule day, and must be entered at least fifteen days before the term of the court.

There is a tax on every summons beginning a suit at common law of not less than one dollar, and ten cents on every hundred dollars or fractional part thereof in excess of five hundred dollars; also on every chancery suit a tax of one dollar and fifty cents, and on appeals a tax of six dollars.

XXII. WILLS:

Must be in writing signed by the testator, or by some other person in his presence and by his direction, in such a manner as to make it manifest that the name is intended as his signature. Unless wholly written by the testator, the will must be acknowledged by him in the presence of at least two competent witnesses present at the same time, and such witnesses shall subscribe the will in the presence of the testator. No form of attestation shall be necessary.

Marriage revokes a will, except one made in the exercise of a power of appointment. Revocation, except by marriage, must be by writing executed in the same manner in which a will is required to be executed, or by cutting, tearing, burning, obliterating, cancelling, or destroying the same, or the signature thereto, with the intent to revoke.

Circuit, County, and Corporation Courts have jurisdiction of the probate of wills. A contract to leave a legacy by will is valid.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

The Legislature may grant charters for any purpose. The Circuit and Corporation Courts and judges thereof, in vacation, may grant charters to five or more persons, who desire to form a joint-stock company for the conduct of any enterprise or business which may be lawfully conducted by an individual or by a body politic or corporate, except to construct a turnpike to be constructed beyond the limits of the county, or a railroad, street railway or canal, or to establish a bank of circulation. Application for incorporation to a court must be signed by five or more persons, and acknowledged by them before a justice, notary, judge or clerk of said court, and must set forth: 1. The name of the company. 2. Purpose for which it is formed. 3. Capital stock and its division into shares. 4. Amount of real estate proposed to be held. 5. The place at which principal office is to be kept. 6. The chief business to be transacted. 7. The names and residences of the officers who for the first year are to manage the affairs of the company.

This certificate must be presented to the Circuit or Corporation Court of the county or city in which the principal office is to be, which may grant, amend or refuse the charter. If granted, the charter must first be recorded in the charter-book of the court, and then certified to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, who also records it. No company can organize until a copy of the charter is so lodged with the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Charters granted by the Legislature are forfeited if the company does not organize in two years from passage of the charter, or if after organization it suspends its operation for two years. Charters of mining and manufacturing companies expire thirty years after date.

A tax or fee must be paid on every charter, whether granted by a Legislature, court or judge, before it is operative or effectual for any purpose whatever." The fee is graduated according to maximum capital stock. If no maximum is named in the charter, the fee is two hundred dollars. (See "VII. Fees.")

A company may adopt any by-laws which are not inconsistent with the charter or the general laws of the State.

Every company incorporated by this State or by another state, and doing business in it (except insurance companies incorporated by another state), must have an office in this State at which claims against it due residents can be audited, settled and paid.

II. MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS:

Annual meetings of stockholders are required. The time may be fixed by charter or by the stockholders in general meetings. Either the board of directors or stockholders owning one-tenth of the capital stock may call a general meeting at any time by publication for thirty days in some newspaper published in or near the place where meeting is to be held.

President and directors are elected by stockholders, except so far as named in the charter, or to fill a vacancy, which last the directors may do. They can receive no compensation, unless allowed by the stockholders.

III. BOOKS AND RECORDS:

The board of directors is required to have regular books of accounts kept and balanced annually or semi-annually and to make annual reports to the stockholders of the receipts disbursements and condition of the company.

IV. STOCKS AND DIVIDENDS:

Two dollars per share shall be paid on all stock at time of subscription, and the residue as required by the president and directors.

The persons in whose names the shares stand on the books of the company are deemed the owners, as regards the company. Dividends shall be applied to any indebtedness of a stockholder to the company. Stock is not assignable without the company's consent until all assessments have been paid. When assigned, assignor and assignee are both liable for past and future assessments. Stockholders are not liable to the creditors of a company for more than the amount of their subscriptions.

Directors are required to declare semi-annually dividends of so much of the net profits as they deem it prudent to do. They are personally liable to the company's creditors if they declare a dividend of any part of the capital stock.

V. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Every company incorporated by another state is required to record in the county where its office is, and also to have transmitted to the Secretary of the Commonwealth its charter and a power of attorney appointing some person residing in such county an agent on whom all lawful process against such company may be served.

All mining and manufacturing companies chartered elsewhere can do business in this State and acquire, lease, sell, mortgage, and convey real estate or interests therein and personal property suitable for their business; except they cannot at one time hold more than ten thousand acres of land in any one county. Such companies must pay the fees required of companies chartered in the State before they can do business here.

I. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Acknowledgments of deeds, mortgages, and other written instruments may be taken in this State before a judge of the Supreme or Superior Court, a clerk of either of said courts or his deputy, a justice of the peace, a county auditor or his deputy, or a notary public. Outside of this State, deeds to property situated within this State may be acknowledged before any officer authorized to take acknowledgments of deeds by the laws of the state or territory of the United States wherein the acknowledgment is taken, or before any commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State for that purpose.

Acknowledgments of deeds to property in Washington made without the territorial limits of the United States are legal if made before any minister plenipotentiary, secretary of legation, charge d'affaires, consul general, consul, vice consul, or commercial agent of the United States, or before the proper officer of any court of said country, or before the mayor or other chief magistrate of any city, town, or other municipal corporation therein.

It is not necessary for a wife to be examined separately and apart from her husband by the certifying officer before making the certificate, except in case of mortgage of homestead.

Deeds by Indians must be acknowledged before a judge of a court of record, who shall certify that he explained to the grantor the contents of said deed and the effect of signing the instrument, and the judge shall examine and approve the deed or other instrument.

II. ALIENS:

The ownership of lands by aliens other than those who in good faith have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States is prohibited, except where acquired by inheritance, under mortgage, or in good faith in the ordinary course of justice in the collection of debts. Conveyances made to aliens or in trust for aliens made subsequent to the admission of the State are void. This prohibition does not apply to land containing valuable deposits of minerals, metals, iron, coal, or fire clay, and the necessary land for mills and machinery to be used in the development thereof, and the manufacture of the products therefrom.

Every corporation, the majority of the capital stock of which is owned by aliens, shall be considered an alien.

Indians who now hold, or may hold, any of the lands of any reservation in severalty, located in this State, by virtue of treaty have power to lease, incumber, grant, and alienate in same manner and with like effect as any other person.

III. ASSIGNMENTS:

"No general assignment of property by an insolvent, or in contemplation of insolvency, for the benefit of creditors, shall be valid unless it be made for the benefit of all his creditors in proportion to the amount of their respective claims; and after the payment of the costs and disbursements thereof, including the attorneys' fees allowed by law in case of judgment, out of the estate of the insolvent, such claim or claims shall be deemed as presented and shall share pro rata with other claims as hereinafter provided."—Sec. 2741, 2, Hill's Code, as amended, 1893.

In case of an assignment for the benefit of all creditors, assent of creditors is presumed. The assignment shall be in writing, duly acknowledged as are deeds of real estate, and recorded in the record of deeds of the county where the person making assignment resides, or the business in respect to which the same is made is carried on. Assignee may be selected by creditors at a meeting held for that purpose, or, in default of such, be appointed by a Superior Court judge.

The assignee shall give a bond to the State of Washington in double the amount of the inventory and valuation, with two or more sufficient sureties to be approved by the clerk, for the faithful performance of his trust, and shall file said bond, with a true inventory and valuation of said estate, with the clerk.

No creditor shall be entitled to vote at an election of assignee until he shall have presented to the clerk who shall preside at such meeting a verified statement of his claim against the debtor.

The assignee shall at once give notice by publication in a newspaper of the said county for six weeks, and shall send a notice by mail to each creditor of whom he shall be informed, directing such creditors to present their claims, under oath, within three months thereafter.

At the expiration of three months from the first publication of said notice, the assignee shall file with the clerk a true and full list of all such creditors of the assignor as shall have claims to be such. Any person interested may appear within three months after the filing of such report, and file with the clerk any exceptions to the claim or demand of any creditor, and the clerk shall forthwith notify such creditor. At the next term thereafter the court shall hear the proof and allegations of the parties in the premises and render judgment therein.

The court may from time to time order dividends made of the assets in the assignee's hands, and said assignee shall at all times be subject to the order of the judge.

Creditors may claim debts to become due as well as those due, but on those not due a reasonable abatement shall be made when not drawing interest, and all creditors who shall not exhibit their claims within the term of three months from the publication of notice as aforesaid, shall not participate in the dividends until after the payment in full of all claims presented within said term and allowed by the court.

IV. ATTACHMENTS:

The plaintiff may attach the real or personal property of all or any of the defendants, and it is the duty of the clerk of the court to issue a writ of attachment at the time of commencing an action or afterward, upon filing with the county clerk the affidavit of the plaintiff or some one in his behalf, showing that the said defendant or defendants are indebted to the plaintiff (specifying the amount over and above all just credits and offsets), and that the attachment is not sought and the action is not prosecuted to hinder, delay or defraud any creditor of the defendant, and either (1) that the defendant is a foreign corporation; (2) that the defendant is not a resident of this State; (3) that the defendant conceals himself so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; (4) that the defendant has absconded or absented himself from his usual place of abode in this State so that the ordinary process of law cannot be served upon him; (5) that the defendant has removed or is about to remove any of his property from this State, with intent to delay or defraud his creditors; (6) that the defendant has assigned, secreted or disposed of, or is about to assign, secrete or dispose of, any of his property, with intent to delay or defraud his creditors; (7) that the defendant is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors; (8) that the defendant has been guilty of a fraud in contracting the debt or incurring the obligation for which the action is brought; or (9) that the damages for which the action is brought are for injuries arising from the commission of some felony, or for the seduction of some female.

An action may be commenced and an attachment issued upon a debt not due when the affidavit states that nothing but time is wanting to fix an absolute indebtedness and in addition thereto: (1) that the defendant is about to dispose of his property with intent to defraud his creditors; (2) that the defendant is about to remove from the State, and refuses to make any arrangements for securing the payment of the debt when it falls due, and which contemplated removal was not known to the plaintiff at the time the debt was contracted; (3) that the defendant has disposed of his property, in whole or in part, with intent to defraud his creditors; or (4) that the debt was incurred for property obtained under false pretenses.

No attachment shall be issued until the plaintiff or some one in his behalf shall file with the clerk a bond in a sum not less than three hundred dollars in the Superior Court, or of fifty dollars in the Justice Court, in addition to double the amount for which plaintiff demands judgment, conditioned that plaintiff will prosecute his action without delay and pay all costs and damages sustained by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the amount specified in the bond, should the same be wrongfully sued out.

V. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

It is the duty of the executor or administrator, as soon as appointed and qualified, to publish a notice to the creditors to present their verified claims against the estate. Claims must be presented within one year from the date of the first publication of notice or they will be barred. If a claim is rejected by the executor, administrator or court, suit must be brought on the same within three months thereafter, or the same is barred by statute.

Debts are paid in the following order: 1. Funeral expenses. 2. Expenses of last sickness. 3. Debts having preference by the laws of the United States. 4. Taxes or any dues to the State. 5. Judgments rendered against the deceased in his lifetime on which executions might have issued at the time of his death; and mortgages in the order of their date. 6. All other demands against the estate.

VI. COURTS:

The Supreme Court is always open for the transaction of business, except on non-judicial days. Holds regular sessions at the seat of government for hearing causes, commencing on the second Mondays of January, May and October of each year, and special sessions at such other times as the justices thereof may prescribe. The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court is original in habeas corpus, quo warranto and mandamus as to all State offices; and it has appellate jurisdiction in all actions and proceedings, except in civil actions at law for the recovery of money or personal property, when the original amount in controversy does not exceed two hundred dollars, unless the action involves the legality of a tax, impost, assessment, toll, municipal fine or the validity of a statute; and has also jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus, review, prohibition, habeas corpus, certiorari, and all other writs necessary and proper to the complete exercise of its appellate and revisory jurisdiction. Each of the judges has power to issue writs of habeas corpus to any part of the State upon petition, and may make such writ returnable before himself or before the Supreme Court, or any Superior Court of the State, or any judge thereof.

Superior Courts are courts of record and have original jurisdiction in all cases of equity, and in all cases at law which involve the title or possession of real property, the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll or municipal fine; all other cases in which the demand or value of the property in controversy amounts to one hundred dollars; all criminal cases amounting to a felony; and all cases of misdemeanor not otherwise provided for by law; of actions of forcible entry and detainer; proceedings in insolvency; actions to prevent or abate a nuisance; all matters of probate, divorce and for annulment of marriage, and of all cases and proceedings which are not by law vested in some other court. Have appellate jurisdiction from the inferior courts of their respective counties. Superior Courts are always open except on non-judicial days, holding their sessions at the county seats of the respective counties, at such times as may be prescribed by the judge or judges thereof. A judge of the Superior Court may hold court in any county of the State at the request of the judge of said court for such county, and upon the request of the Governor, it shall be his duty to do so.

Courts of Justices of the Peace are not courts of record; their jurisdiction extends to all civil actions at law for the recovery of money or personal property where the amount in controversy is less than one hundred dollars, except the following: In which the title to real property is brought in question; an action for the foreclosure of a mortgage or enforcement of a lien on real estate; actions for false imprisonment, libel, slander, malicious prosecution, criminal conversation, or seduction; actions against executor or administrator as such. Nor does it extend to any equitable proceedings. The jurisdiction of the justice is co-extensive with the limits of his county, but he must keep his office in the precinct for which elected. Justices' Courts have limited criminal jurisdiction.

Municipal Courts exist in all incorporated cities in the State having a population of twenty thousand and over, of which the jurisdiction is entirely criminal.

VIII. DEEDS:

All conveyances of real estate, or any interest therein, and all contracts creating or evidencing any encumbrance upon real estate, shall be by deed.

All deeds of gift, all conveyances, transfers or assignments, verbal or written, of goods, chattels, or things in action, made in trust or for the use of the person making the same shall be void as against existing or subsequent creditors of such person. No contract for the sale of any goods, wares or merchandise, for the price of fifty dollars or more shall be good and valid unless the purchaser shall accept and receive a part of the goods so sold, or shall give something in earnest to bind the bargain, or in part payment, or unless some note or memorandum in writing of the bargain be made and signed by the party to be charged thereby, or by some person thereunto by him lawfully authorized. No bill of sale for the transfer of personal property shall be valid where the property is left in the possession of vendor, unless the said bill of sale be recorded in the auditor's office of the county in which the property is situated within ten days after such sale shall be made. (See "XVIII. Married Women.")

A deed shall be in writing, signed by the party bound thereby, and acknowledged by the party making it, before some person authorized by the laws of this State to take acknowledgments of deeds. Seals to signatures, and witnesses are not necessary. All deeds and mortgages shall be recorded in the office of the county auditor of the county in which the property is situated and shall be valid as against all purchasers from the date of filing and indexing in said office, and when so filed and indexed shall be notice to all the world.

IX. DEPOSITIONS:

Depositions may be taken, to be read in an action or proceeding pending in any court in this State in the following cases: 1. When the witness resides out of the county and more than twenty miles from the place of trial. 2. When the witness is about to leave the county and go more than twenty miles from the place of trial and there is a probability that he will continue absent when the testimony is required. 3. When the witness is sick, infirm or aged, so as to make it probable that he will not be able to attend at the trial. 4. When the witness resides out of the State.

Either party may commence taking depositions at any time after service of summons on defendant. Depositions may be taken in this State before any judge of the Superior Court, justice of the peace, clerk of the Supreme or Superior Court, mayor of a city, or notary public by serving on the adverse party or his attorney notice of the time and place of taking the same.

Depositions without the State: Depositions may be taken out of the State by a judge, justice, chancellor or clerk of any court of record, a justice of the peace, notary public, mayor or chief magistrate of any city or town, or any person authorized by a special commission from any court of this State. Any Superior Court of this State may grant a commission to take depositions within or out of this State, upon a proper application made therefor by the party desiring same, made upon notice to the adverse party. Such deposition shall be taken upon interrogatories settled by the judge at the time of granting the commission and the interrogatories shall be attached to the commission, which shall be forwarded by the clerk to the commissioner.

Depositions may be used by either party upon the trial or other proceeding against any party having or receiving the notice, subject to legal exceptions. If it appear at the trial that the reason no longer exists for the taking of said deposition, it shall not be read in evidence, unless another cause exists.

X. DESCENT:

Subject to debts as follows: Equally to surviving husband or wife, and child, or issue of such child; if more than one child living, or one child living and the lawful issue of one or more deceased children, one-third to surviving husband or wife, and the remainder in equal shares to children to lawful issue of any deceased child by right of representation; if there be no child of the decedent living at his death, the remainder goes to all lineal descendants equally, if all such are in the same degree of kindred to the decedent; otherwise by representation.

If decedent leaves no issue, the estate goes equally to the surviving husband or wife, and to decedent's father and mother if both survive; but if such are dead then one-half equally to the brothers and sisters of decedent, and the children of such, by right of representation. If decedent leaves no issue, nor husband nor wife, the estate must go to his father and mother.

If there be no issue, neither husband, wife, father, nor mother, equally to the brothers and sisters of the decedent, and to the children of such deceased, by representation. If the decedent leaves a surviving husband or wife, and neither issue, nor paternal or fraternal kin, the whole estate goes to the surviving husband or wife. The estate goes to the next of kin, through the nearest ancestor in equal degree, when there is no issue, husband, wife, father, mother, brother or sister.

If no kindred, the estate escheats. One-half of the community property, upon the death of either husband or wife, goes to the survivor subject to community debts, the other half is subject to the testamentary disposition and descent.

Personal property, after payment of the debts of the deceased is distributed upon the death of a husband or wife, one-half to the surviving spouse and the balance to the issue; if there be no issue, then the whole of it to the surviving spouse. If no surviving spouse or kindred, the property escheats to the State.

XI. EXECUTIONS:

The party in whose favor judgment has been given or entered in this State in any court of record thereof may have execution issued for collection or enforcement of same; providing, that if a period of five years shall have elapsed without an execution being issued on such judgment, then execution shall not issue thereafter until such judgment shall be renewed.

Execution may issue: 1. Against the property of judgment debtor. 2. Against his person. 3. For the delivery of the possession of real or personal property with or without damages for withholding same. 4. Commanding the enforcement or obedience to any special order of court. In all cases there shall be an order to collect costs.

Execution may be issued for the collection or enforcement of judgment and directed to the sheriff of any county in the State, provided that if the judgment requires the delivery of real or personal property, execution shall be issued to the sheriff of the county in which the property is situated.

Execution may issue in the name of the assignee of any judgment upon such assignment being recorded in the execution docket of the court in which said judgment was rendered.

XII. EXEMPTIONS:

The following property is exempt: All wearing apparel of every person and family; all private libraries not to exceed five hundred dollars in value, and all family pictures and keepsakes. To each householder one bed and bedding, and additional bed and bedding for each additional member of the family, and other household goods, utensils and furniture not to exceed five hundred dollars in value. To each householder, two cows with their calves, five swine, two stands of bees, thirty-six domestic fowls; and provision and fuel for the comfortable maintenance of such householder and family for six months; also feed for such animals for six months. If the householder does not possess or desire to retain the animals above named he may select and retain other property instead to the value of two hundred and fifty dollars. To a farmer is allowed one span of horses or mules with harness, or two yoke of oxen with their yokes and chains, and one wagon; farming utensils to the value of five hundred dollars, one hundred and fifty bushels of wheat, one hundred and fifty bushels of oats or barley, fifty bushels of potatoes, ten bushels of corn, ten bushels of peas, and ten bushels of onions for seeding purposes. To a mechanic, the tools and instruments used to carry on his trade for the support of himself and family; also material used in his trade, not exceeding in value five hundred dollars. To a physician, his library, not exceeding five hundred dollars, one horse, with harness and buggy; the instruments used in his practice, and medicines, not exceeding two hundred dollars in value.

To attorneys, clergymen and other professional men, their libraries not exceeding one thousand dollars in value; also office furniture, fuel and stationery not exceeding two hundred dollars in value. All firearms kept for the use of any person or family, to any person a canoe, skiff, small boat, with its oars, sails and rigging, not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars in value. To a person engaged in lightering for the support of himself or family, lighters, barges, scows, small boats, etc., not exceeding two hundred and fifty dollars in value. To a teamster or drayman, his team, consisting of one span of horses or mules, or two yoke of oxen, or a horse and mule, with harness, yokes and one wagon, truck, cart or dray. To a person engaged in logging for the support of himself or family, three yokes of work cattle and their yokes, and axes, chains and implements for business, and camp equipments, not exceeding three hundred dollars in value. A sufficient quantity of hay, grain or feed to keep the animals mentioned in these several subdivisions for six weeks.

No property shall be exempt from execution on a judgment for the purchase price therof or for any tax levied thereon.

Any money received by any citizen of this State as a pension from the government of the United States, whether the same be in the actual possession of such person or deposited in a bank or loaned by him, shall be exempt from any execution or legal process whatever.

Exemptions may be waived by agreement in writing. Agreement of waiver by a husband and wife shall be witnessed and acknowledged as a deed conveying real estate. Exemptions do not extend to non-residents or persons about to leave the State with intent to defraud creditors.

All real and personal estate belonging to any married woman in her own right acquired before or after marriage, and all the rents, issues and profits thereof, and all her personal earnings shall be exempt from execution upon any liability or judgment against the husband so long as she or any minor heir of her body shall be living.

XIII. HOMESTEAD:

There is exempt from execution and attachment to every householder being the head of a family, a homestead not to exceed two thousand dollars in value, which said homestead must be selected by filing a declaration of homestead duly executed and acknowledged the same as deeds to real property, with the auditor of the county in which said homestead is situated. If the claimant is married, the homestead may be selected from the community property or the separate property of the husband, or with the consent of the wife, shown by her making the selection, from the separate property of the wife; provided, the homestead shall be subject to execution or forced sale on debts secured by mechanics', laborers' or vendors' liens, or by mortgages on the premises executed and acknowledged by the husband and wife, or by an unmarried claimant.

When any person dies seized of a homestead, leaving a widow or husband or minor children, the survivors shall be entitled to the homestead, but in case there is no survivor, said homestead is liable to the debts of deceased. The homestead may be mortgaged, but no mortgage shall be valid as against the wife of the mortgagor, unless she shall sign and acknowledge the same. The homestead may consist of a house and the land on which the same is situated, but must be selected as provided by law.

XIV. INTEREST AND USURY:

Every loan or forbearance of money or goods or things in action where no different rate is agreed upon shall bear interest at seven per cent. The discounting of commercial paper, where the borrower makes himself liable as maker, guarantor or indorser, shall be considered a loan. Any rate not exceeding twelve per cent per annum agreed to in writing is legal, and taking any greater, either directly or indirectly, is prohibited. State, county, city, town and school warrants and all warrants or other evidences of indebtedness payable from any public funds shall bear interest at a rate not greater than eight per centum per annum, unless a rate be specified therein. Judgments founded on a written contract providing for payment of interest at a specified rate until paid, shall bear the rate specified in the contract, provided that said interest rate is set forth in the judgment. All other judgments bear interest at the rate of seven per cent. In case a greater rate of interest than twelve per cent per annum is contracted for or reserved either directly or indirectly, and the same is proven on suit on the contract, only the principal less the interest accruing thereon can be recovered; and if the interest has been paid, then the original amount less the accrued interest and twice the amount of interest paid. The acts of the agent bind the principal and if one agent act for borrower and lender he shall be considered the agent of the lender. (Act approved March 20, 1895.)

XV. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments of the Superior Court, Supreme Court, Justice Court and of the District and Circuit Courts of the United States rendered in this State are liens on the real estate of the judgment debtor, or that which he may acquire, as follows: Of the Superior Court of the county in which the property is situated, from the date of its entry; in all other cases from the date of filing and indexing a transcript thereof with the county clerk of the county in which such real estate is situated. The lien continues for the period of five years from the date of rendition of judgment; after five years and within six years from date of rendition a judgment may be revived, which revival continues or renews its lien from the date of its revival for another period of five years, when it may be again revived.

XVI. LIENS:

Every person performing labor upon or furnishing material to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of any mining claim, building, wharf, bridge, ditch, dyke, flume, tunnel, fence, machinery, railroad, street railway, wagon road, aqueduct to create hydraulic power, or any other structure; or who performs labor in any mine, mining claim, or stone quarry; has a lien upon the same for the labor performed or materials furnished, whether performed or furnished at the instance of the owner of the property subject to the lien or his agent; and every contractor, sub-contractor, architect, builder or person having charge of the construction, alteration or repair of any such property subject to lien shall be deemed the agent of the owner. A railroad company when contracting with any person for the construction of a road shall take a bond from the contractor for the payment of labor and material men, and persons who supply such persons to whom work is given with provisions, or such railroad company, shall be liable to such persons to the full amount of all such debts contracted.

The land upon which the property subject to lien is situated, together with a convenient space about the same, is subject to such lien. Such lien is required to be filed with the county auditor of the county in which said property is situated, duly verified, within sixty days from time of ceasing to do such work or furnishing such materials, and action to foreclose the same must be commenced in the Superior Court of said county within eight months from date of filing claim of lien.

Loggers' Liens: Liens are allowed every person performing labor upon or assisting in securing all kinds of logs, timber, etc., and also to all persons who shall assist in manufacturing timber into lumber and shingles while such lumber and shingles remain at the mill where manufactured or under the control of the manufacturer. Lumber includes every class of articles manufactured from timber.

Liens are also granted to any person permitting another to go upon his timber lands and cut therefrom timber, to the extent and for the price agreed upon to be paid for such privilege, or if no agreement, for what it would be reasonably worth.

Loggers' liens must be filed within thirty days from the cessation of labor with the auditor of the county in which said logs, lumber, etc., were cut or manufactured, and must be foreclosed by civil action in the Superior Court, commenced within eight months after filing the claim.

XVII. LIMITATIONS:

All actions by municipal corporations to collect any special assessment for local improvements of any kind shall be commenced within ten years after the assessment becomes delinquent, or within ten years after the last installment shall have become delinquent, if payable in installments.

All actions brought for the recovery of the possession of lands must be brought within seven years from the time adverse possession begins; infants and persons under disability have three years from the time of the removal of disability. Actions in the following cases must be commenced within three years from the time the action accrues: For waste or trespass on real property; for taking, detaining or injuring personal property or for the injury of the person or rights of another not hereinafter enumerated; on contracts not in writing or a liability not arising out of a written instrument; for fraud, time to run from the discovery of the facts constituting the fraud; against a sheriff, coroner or constable for misfeasance or malfeasance in office, except escape; upon a statute for a penalty or forfeiture, where an action is given to the party aggrieved; and for seduction and breach of promise of marriage.

Within two years: Actions for libel, slander, assault, assault and battery, false imprisonment; or upon a statute for a forfeiture or penalty to the State.

Within one year: Actions against a sheriff or other officer for the escape of a prisoner arrested or imprisoned on civil process; by heirs, legatees, creditors, or other parties interested against an executor or administrator for misfeasance, malfeasance, or mismanagement, the year to run from date of final settlement.

Within three months: Appeals from any order of a board of county commissioners or a claim rejected by such board; upon claims against an estate, rejected by an executor or administrator, within three months after rejection.

In case of mutual open or current account the cause of action accrues at time of last item on either side. If there be more than one year between any series of items or demands, the said items shall not be deemed such an account.

The statute applies to the State, county or other public corporation. In case of the concealment of a debtor, or his absence from the State the statute ceases to run during the period of such absence or concealment. If a disability of the debtor occur, as insanity, etc., the period of such disability shall not be counted as part of the time limited.

If a cause of action survive the death of a party, his personal representatives may commence action within one year from the date of his death. If the cause of action against a party dying survive, action may be commenced within one year after issuing letters testamentary or of administration. No promise is sufficient to waive the statute unless it is in writing. Payment of any part of the principal or interest starts the statute anew.

XVIII. MARRIED WOMEN:

Have all property rights common to married men. Dower and curtesy are abolished. Husband and wife may contract with each other and either may sue the other to obtain the possession or control of property belonging to such person bringing the action, but cannot sue each other on contract. The husband has the management and control of the community property with power of disposition, but cannot encumber or convey community real estate except by deed in which the wife joins. However, a conveyance of community property by the husband alone is not void unless the other party to the contract had notice or knowledge of the community character of the property. The husband or wife has ninety days after any conveyance is made to the other of any property to file with the auditor of the county in which such lands are situated written notice of his or her claim thereto as community property.

All property owned before marriage or afterward acquired by gift, bequest, devise or descent, with the rents, issues and profits thereof, is the separate property of such person. All acquired otherwise is community property, except the earnings and accumulations of the wife and of the minor children living with her or in her custody while she is living separate from her husband, which are her separate property. Where a debt is incurred for support of the family or education of the children it is chargeable upon the separate property of either or the community property; but a judgment on an obligation not incurred in the course of business carried on for the benefit of the community cannot be enforced against the community property or against the property of the spouse not interested. Either party may convey land or interest therein to the other and either may constitute the other his or her attorney in fact to convey lands. (See "XII. Exemptions," "XXII. Suits.")

XIX. MORTGAGES.

Mortgages of real estate must be by deed. The mortgage is deemed a security, not a conveyance. Mortgage contract can only be enforced by foreclosure and sale. The wife must join in the execution of mortgage on community property or homestead. When there is no express agreement in the mortgage or other instrument for the payment of the mortgage debt, the remedy of the mortgagee is confined to the mortgaged premises; but where there is an express agreement for the payment of the mortgage debt and the property does not fully satisfy such debt on foreclosure sale, the mortgagee may have a deficiency judgment which may be satisfied out of any other property of the mortgagor not exempt from execution.

The mortgagor or his successor in interest may redeem the property from sale at any time within one year thereafter by paying the purchase price with interest thereon from date of sale, together with any taxes which may have been paid by the purchaser since said sale.

A chattel mortgage must be in writing, signed and acknowledged by the mortgagor, who must also attach his affidavit that said mortgage is not made to hinder, delay or defraud creditors. Chattel mortgages to affect third parties must be filed with the county auditor of the county in which the property mortgaged is situated at the time of mortgage. If the property is thereafter removed from the county in which it is situated, it is, except as between the parties thereto, exempted from the operation thereof, unless: 1. The mortgagee within thirty days after such removal causes the mortgage to be recorded in the county to which the property has been removed. 2. The mortgagee causes within such time the mortgage to be recorded in the custom house. 3. The mortgagee within such time takes possession of the property; provided, that a mortgage of any vessel or boat, or part of a vessel or boat, over twenty tons burden, shall be recorded in the office of the collector of customs, where such vessel is registered, enrolled, or licensed, and need not be recorded elsewhere.

XX. NOTES AND BILLS:

Promissory notes when made payable to order or bearer, shall have the same effect and be negotiable in like manner as inland bills of exchange and both shall be subject to the law. Payees, indorsees and holders of notes payable to bearer may maintain actions against the makers and indorsers respectively and in like manner as in cases of inland bills of exchange. When there is no express stipulation to the contrary, three days of grace are allowed. Acceptances of bills of exchange must be in writing and signed by acceptor or his agent. For all purposes the Fourth of July and the Twenty-fifth of December shall, as regards presentment for payment or acceptance, protesting and giving notice of the dishonor, be treated as Sunday. An unconditional promise in writing to accept a bill before it is drawn shall be deemed an actual acceptance. A bill or note may be protested for non-acceptance or non-payment. Damages may be recovered for refusal to accept a bill after a promise to accept has been made and such bill has been drawn or negotiated on the faith of such promise. The measure of damages to be allowed or paid upon the usual protest for non-payment of bills of exchange drawn or indorsed in this State, if payable without the limits of the United States, shall be ten per cent upon the contents thereof; if without the limits of this State and within the limits of some state or territory of the United States, five per cent. Such damages shall be in lieu of interest, charges of protest and all other charges incurred previous to and at the time of giving notice of protest for non-payment.

XXI. OIL AND SALT WELLS, ETC.:.

Whenever twenty-six taxpayers (each paying taxes on at least one thousand five hundred dollars) shall petition the county commissioner for an appropriation of a specific sum for boring for minerals, such as coal, oil, gas, salt, etc., the commissioner shall make an estimate of the probable depth, cost, etc., and shall call a general election to vote for or against. The notice of election shall state fully the amount to be raised, proposed purpose, and locality where to be used, etc., and no money shall be spent on land not owned by the county or held by the county on lease of not less than twenty years. The tract of land used must be nearly square and contain not less than ten acres, and the well bored or drilled near the center. If there are at one time petitioners for more than one well, the commissioners shall select the site. No one shall vote who did not pay taxes in the county during the preceding year. The ballot shall read "tax, yes;" or "tax, no." In making estimate of the cost, etc., the commissioner may add fifteen per cent for delinquency and expense of collecting. The tax is collectible same as school tax and payable on order of a majority of the commissioners. The commissioners shall advertise in the newspaper in said county having the largest circulation for four consecutive weeks for bids for boring or drilling said well; if there be no newspaper in the county, then in the nearest one. When the bids are opened, if it appears to a majority of the commissioners that any of them are reasonable, they shall let the contract to the lowest bidder; shall require from the contractor a good and sufficient bond; and within one year after the well is completed the county commissioners may, after advertising the same, proceed to sell the title to the well, etc., the proceeds to go to the general county fund. The commissioners may draw on the general county fund to make up deficit not to exceed one thousand dollars. Election expenses shall be paid out of the general fund. No election for this purpose shall be held in any county oftener than once in two years.

XXII. SUITS:

Every action shall be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except as otherwise provided by law. An executor, administrator, guardian of a minor or of a person of unsound mind, a trustee of an express trust or a person authorized by statute, may sue without joining the person for whose benefit the suit is prosecuted.

When a married women is a party her husband must be joined with her except when the action concerns her separate property, or her right or claim to the homestead property. She may sue alone, and when the action is between herself and husband, she may sue or be sued alone; also, when she is living separate and apart from her husband, she may sue or be sued alone.

All persons interested in the cause of action necessary to a complete determination of the question involved must be made parties to the action. When the question is one in which many are interested one or more may represent the whole and sue or defend for the benefit of all. The assignee or assignees of any judgment, specialty or other chose in action for the payment of money by assignment in writing, signed by the person authorized to make the same, may bring suit and prosecute in his or her own name, notwithstanding the assignor may have an interest in the thing assigned.

Persons severally liable upon the same obligation, including parties to bills of exchange or promissory notes, may all or any of them be included in the same action at the option of plaintiff. Action for personal injury survives to wife or child and may be prosecuted in favor of such wife or in favor of wife and children; or if no wife, in favor of children. The court may order in any new parties when necessary to complete determination of question involved. (See "XII. Exemptions;" "XVII. Limitations.")

XXIII. TAXES:

All personal property is listed annually; real property biennially. Land shall be listed according to the smallest legal subdivision, separately.

All property is subject to taxation except the following: Property belonging to the State or public school system or State educational institutions, cemeteries, churches built and supported by donations, whose seats are free to all and whose grounds do not exceed one hundred and twenty feet by two hundred feet in size; all property belonging exclusively to any county, municipal corporation, the State or to the United States; all fire engines and other implements used for the extinguishment of fires, with the buildings used exclusively for the safe keeping thereof and for the meeting of fire companies, whether belonging to any town or any fire company organized therein; all free public libraries, orphanages, orphan asylums, institutions for the reformation of fallen women, homes for the aged and infirm, and hospitals for the care of the sick, when such institutions above mentioned are supported in whole or in part by charity, or are wholly supported by public appropriations, and all of the income thereof after paying the expenses thereof is devoted to charitable purposes; provided, however, all such institutions shall provide by its articles of incorporation, that the mayor of the city wherein such institution is located, and the chairman of the board of county commissioners shall be ex-officio trustees thereof; the personal property of each householder and head of a family liable to assessment and taxation, of which said individual is the owner, to three hundred dollars in value.

The county treasurer is the collector and receiver of taxes. All taxes shall be due and payable on or before May 31 of each year, after which they shall become delinquent and a penalty of two per cent shall attach, and interest at the rate of twelve per cent added until paid; provided, that if one-half of said taxes be paid on or before said May 31, then the time of payment of the remainder thereof shall be extended until November 30 following, when if that is not paid it shall become delinquent, and a like penalty and interest added from delinquency until paid.

After December 1 of each year, the county treasurer collects delinquent personal property taxes by distraint and sale of personal property belonging to those assessed.

Taxes and levies are declared a lien on the real estate upon which they are imposed, which liens include all charges and expenses incurred thereby, and are prior to all other liens.

XXIV. WILLS:

A person of sound mind, who has attained his or her age of majority, may make a will. The same must be in writing, signed by the testator or by some other person in his presence, and under his direction, and must be attested by two or more competent witnesses, subscribing their names in the presence of the testator. Every person who shall sign the testator's name to any will by his direction shall subscribe his own name as a witness to such will, and state that he subscribed the testator's name at his request. A witness to a will is not entitled to benefits under such will unless there are two other competent witnesses. No nuncupative will shall be good when the estate bequeathed exceeds the value of two hundred dollars, unless the same be proved by two witnesses who were present at the making thereof, and it be proven that the testator, at the time of pronouncing the same, did bid some person present to bear witness that such was his will, or to that effect, and such nuncupative will was made at the time of the last sickness and at the dwelling house of the deceased, or where he had been residing for the space of ten days or more, except where such person was taken sick from home and died before his return.

CORPORATIONS.

I. CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS:

Corporations may be formed for manufacturing, mining, milling, wharfing and docking, mechanical, banking, mercantile, improvement and building purposes; for the building, equipping and running railroads; constructing canals or irrigation canals; for building, equipping and managing water flumes for the transportation of wood and lumber; or engaging in any other species of trade or business.

No such corporation shall commence business or institute proceedings to condemn land for corporate purposes until the whole amount of its capital stock is subscribed: Provided, such prohibition does not apply to corporations engaged exclusively in loaning money on real estate, nor to corporations engaged exclusively in raising money from, and loaning or repaying it to, their own members and which confine their loaning and business operations wholly to the counties of their principal place of business, respectively, and to the counties adjacent and adjoining thereto.

II. ORGANIZATION:

Two or more persons may form a corporation. They must make, subscribe and acknowledge written articles in triplicate, file one copy in the Secretary of State's office, one copy in the office of the county auditor of the county in which the principal place of business is located, and retain the third in the corporation's possession.

The articles of incorporation shall state the corporate name of the company; its object; amount of capital stock; time of its existence, not to exceed fifty years; number of shares of stock; number of trustees and the names of the trustees, who shall manage the affairs of the company for not more than six months nor less than two months next after incorporation; and the name of the city, town or locality and county in which the principal place of business shall be located. Amendments to the articles may be made by supplemental articles, made, executed and filed as are the original articles. A copy of the articles filed as aforesaid and certified by the officer with whom filed is evidence in any court.

III. REPORTS:

Corporations must on or before the second Tuesday of January of each year, and at such other times as such corporation may elect so to do, file with the county auditor of the county in which said corporation has its principal place of business, a statement sworn to by its president, attested by its secretary and sealed with its corporate seal, containing a list of all its officers and their respective titles of office, names and addresses, and the term of office for which chosen. Every new corporation shall file a like statement within thirty days after it shall have filed its articles of incorporation, with the county auditor of the county in which the principal place of business of said corporation is located.

When articles of incorporation are filed as aforesaid and stock subscribed as provided by law, a corporation has power to transact all business for which said corporation was formed.

IV. POWERS:

The powers enumerated are as follows: To sue and be sued. To make and use a common seal and to alter the same at pleasure. To purchase, hold, mortgage, sell and convey real and personal property. To appoint officers, agents and servants as the business shall require and define their powers, prescribe their duties and fix their compensation. To require of them such security as may be thought proper for the fulfillment of their duties, and to remove them at will, except that no trustee shall be removed from office unless by vote of two-thirds of the stockholders. To make by-laws not inconsistent with the laws of the United States or of this State. To manage its property, regulate its affairs, transfer its stock and carry on all kinds of business within the objects and purposes of the company as expressed in its articles of incorporation.

V. TRUSTEES:

The corporate powers are exercised by a board of trustees of not less than two, who shall be stockholders; a majority of them citizens of the United States, and at least one of them a resident of the State. Trustees must take oath of office, and be annually elected after the term of the first trustees. All elections shall be by ballot and according to by-laws. Each share has a vote unless the by-laws limit each shareholder to one vote. Any vacancy except by expulsion may be filled by appointment by the trustees remaining.

VI. CAPITAL STOCK:

Capital stock may be increased or diminished, but before it is diminished debts must be reduced so as not to exceed the amount to which capital is reduced. To change the amount of capital stock, a meeting of stockholders must be called by a notice signed by a majority of the trustees, published eight weeks in a newspaper in the county, or if none is published in the county, then in the nearest paper published in the State. The notice must specify the object of the meeting, the time and place, and the amount to which it is proposed to change the capital stock. 1. A vote of two-thirds of the capital stock is necessary to change. If the amount is to be changed a certificate of the proceedings showing compliance with the statute shall be made; showing the amount of capital paid in, the amount of debts, and the amount to which the capital is changed. Certificates are to be signed and verified by the chairman and secretary of the meeting; further certified by a majority of the trustees, and filed as are original articles of incorporation.

By-laws may provide the time and manner of payment for stock; but in case they do not, the trustees have power to call in from stockholders the sums by them subscribed, at such times and in such manner, payments or installments as they may deem proper. Notice of such calls may be personal or by publication in a newspaper, either in the county, or nearest thereto in the State. If stockholders default in the payment of calls, sufficient of their shares to pay all their assessments may be sold, such sales to be made according to by-laws; but the sale shall not be made at the office of the company, but shall take place at public auction, and to the highest bidder, after four weeks' notice published as aforesaid. The highest bidder is he who will take the smallest number of shares and pay assessments and costs.

Stock held by an executor, administrator, guardian or trustee may be represented and voted upon by said executor, etc., as a stockholder. Stock may be pledged by delivery of the certificate, but the pledger may represent and vote upon said stock.

VII. LIABILITIES:

No dividends may be declared except from net profits. In case of an unlawful dividing or withdrawal of capital, trustees (except those who have their dissent entered in the minutes of the meeting) are personally liable for the amount so withdrawn or divided. Upon payment of all debts and dissolution, the capital is divided among the shareholders.

No corporation organized under the laws of this State shall have power to issue bills, notes or other evidence of indebtedness for circulation as money, except bonds by railroad companies, which bonds shall not exceed double the amount of paid-up stock.

Each stockholder is personally liable to the creditors of the company, to the amount unpaid on his stock subscription, but personal liability does not apply to persons holding stock as executor, administrator, guardian, trustee, or holding it as collateral security or in pledge, but estates or owners are liable as stockholders. Stockholders in banks incorporated under the laws of the State, are held individually and ratably and not one for the other, for all contracts, debts and engagements of such association, accruing while they remain such stockholders, to the extent of the amount of their stock therein at the par value thereof in addition to the amount invested in such shares.

The interest of any person in shares of stock or in a joint stock company may be garnished by service of writ of garnishment in the same manner as service of summons on such corporation or joint stock company, and such stock or interest may be sold on execution.

VIII. BOOKS AND RECORDS:

Books must be kept containing the names of stockholders, alphabetically arranged, showing number of shares held by each and when they became owners of the same; such books to be open to stockholders and creditors, who shall have the right to make extracts from the books, and may demand a certified copy of any part of the books and papers. Said certified copies are presumptive evidence of any fact therein stated against the company or any stockholder. Any false entry or refusal to comply with the foregoing provisions is a misdemeanor, and subjects such clerk or officer to a forfeiture of from one hundred to one thousand dollars, recoverable by process of law.

IX. DISSOLUTION:

Upon dissolution, the trustees at the time of dissolution shall be trustees of the creditors and stockholders, and shall have power to sue for and recover debts, property, etc., in the name of the trustees of such corporation, and to settle and adjust all business of the corporation.

Corporations may be dissolved by presenting a petition to the Superior Court of the county in which the principal place of business is located, accompanied with a certificate of the proper officers, stating that at a meeting called for that purpose it was decided by a two-thirds' vote to dissolve. Notice of the application, setting forth its nature and specifying the time and place at which it is to be heard, shall be given by the clerk of the court by publication in some newspaper of the county, or nearest thereto in the State, once a week for eight weeks.

X. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Foreign corporations (except those organized to do real estate business and those having a majority of their capital stock owned by aliens) may do business in the State by complying with the following provisions, to wit: 1. Filing and recording in the Secretary of State's office a certified copy of the charter and articles of incorporation. 2. Appointing an agent residing in this State at the place where the principal place of business of such corporation is to be. Such appointment shall be in writing, signed by the president or chief officer of such corporation, and shall authorize such agent to accept service of process in all suits, etc.

A foreign corporation organized to do a building and loan business must file with the State Auditor of this State a certified copy of its articles of incorporation or charter; also the certificate of the authorized officer of another state, showing that securities of the value of one hundred thousand dollars are on deposit with such state officer or a duly incorporated trust company, in trust for all the members and creditors of such building and loan association; and also file with the said auditor an authenticated copy of a resolution adopted by the board of directors of such association stipulating that any legal process may be served on the association by service on the examiner and mailing a copy of the process to the said association addressed to its home office; and that said association will not remove any action commenced in a State court to the Federal Court, and will pay every judgment entered against it within sixty days from date of final judgment.

XI. MINING CORPORATIONS:

In incorporations already formed, or which may hereafter be formed under this chapter, where the amount of the capital stock of such corporation consists of the aggregate valuation of the whole number of feet, shares or interest in any mining claim in this State, for the working and development of which such corporation shall be or have been formed, no actual subscription to the capital stock of such corporation shall be necessary; but each owner in said mining claim shall be deemed to have subscribed such an amount to the capital stock of such corporation as under its by-laws will represent the value of so much of his interest in said mining claim, the legal title to which he may by deed, deed of trust or other instrument vest or have vested in such corporation for mining purposes; such subscription to be deemed to have been made on the execution and delivery to such corporation of such deed, deed of trust or other instrument; nor shall the validity of any assessment levied by the board of trustees of such corporation be affected by the reason of the fact that the full amount of the capital stock of such corporation, as mentioned in its certificate of incorporation, shall not have been subscribed as provided in this section: provided, that the greater portion of said amount of capital stock shall have been so subscribed; and provided further, that this section shall not be so construed as to prohibit the stockholders of any corporation formed or which may be formed for mining purposes as provided in this section from regulating the mode of making subscriptions to its capital stock and calling in the same by by-laws or express contract.

XII. WATER RIGHTS:

Any person or persons or company now incorporated, or that may hereafter become incorporated under the laws of this State for the purpose of mining or manufacturing, shall have the right to purchase or appropriate, and take possession of and divert from its natural channel, and use and hold the waters of any river, creek or stream in this State that may be required for the mining and manufacturing purposes of any such person or persons, corporation or corporations, and to construct all dams, canals, reservoirs, ditches, pipes, flumes and aqueducts suitable and necessary for the controlling, directing and running such waters to the mines or manufacturing establishments of any such person or persons, corporation or corporations, where the same may be intended to be utilized for such purposes; provided, that no such appropriation or diversion of the waters of any such river, creek or stream from its natural channel, nor shall any such dam, canal, reservoir, ditch, pipe, flume or aqueduct be constructed, to the detriment of any person or persons, corporation or corporations, occupying the lands or being located below the point or place of such appropriation or diversion on any such stream or its tributaries, or above or below such dam, canal, reservoir, ditch, pipe, flume or aqueduct, or of the owners of the lands through which the waters run in the natural course for the deprivation of the same, or the owners of the land through or upon which such dam, canal, reservoirs, ditch, pipe, flume or aqueduct may pass through or over, or be situated upon, unless just and adequate compensation be previously ascertained and paid therefor.

MINING.

I. SALE OF MINERALS:

Timber, stone and minerals on State lands may be sold, but must be removed within five years from date of sale or revert to the State. If located within or adjacent to any incorporated city when sold, shall be removed within three years or such less time as the board of land commissioners shall fix.

II. LOCATION AND RECORD:

All mining claims shall be governed by law in force at time of location.

The miners of each mining district may make rules and regulations governing location and amount of work necessary to hold possession not in conflict with the laws of the United States or this State, but on each claim one hundred dollars' worth of work must be done in each year. First year shall date from January 1st succeeding date of location. Failure to comply shall work forfeiture and claim may be re-located.

Mining claims located after February 2, 1888, upon any vein or lode, etc. (whether located by one or more persons), shall not exceed fifteen hundred feet in length along the vein, and three hundred feet on each side of the middle of the vein at the surface, but no location shall be made until the discovery of the vein or lode within the limits of the claim located.

The locators of all mining claims on any mineral vein, lode or ledge on the public domain and their heirs and assigns (as long as they comply with the laws in relation thereto) shall have exclusive right to possession and use of all the surface included in the location, and all veins, lodes and ledges throughout their entire depth, and the top or apex of which lies within the surface line of their location extending downward vertically, although they may so far depart from the perpendicular as to extend outside of the vertical side line of the surface location.

Miners of each district may elect a recorder. The recorder when elected shall record all notices, transfers, bonds, conveyances and assignments of mining claims within the district. Such records are declared to be public records and shall have same effect as to notice, etc., as the records of deeds and mortgages in this State. The recorder shall hold office for one year and until his successor is elected; shall file oath with county auditor; shall be certifying officer; and his fees shall be same as are county auditor's. When there shall occur a vacancy in the office, the records shall be transmitted to the county auditor and the auditor shall keep such records as part of the records of his office, in districts where there is no mining recorder. Notices of location, etc., and other instruments shall be recorded in the county auditor's office within thirty days after the execution thereof. All records made prior to February, 1888, are validated.

III. INSPECTION OF MINES:

The State is divided into two inspection districts. The Governor shall appoint two competent coal mine inspectors for a term of four years, subject to removal for neglect or malfeasance; such appointments to be made on recommendation of a board of examiners consisting of three practical coal miners and one mining engineer, the said board to be appointed by the Governor. The inspectors must be citizens with at least two years' practical experience in this State, and shall have resided within the district at least one year. Inspectors shall not be interested in any coal mine or company in the State; shall be of good moral character and habits, and shall not commit any act injurious to mines or operators of mines, and shall devote their entire time to duties of office. The State shall provide modern (and best) instruments, said instruments to remain the property of the State. Inspectors shall give bond for performance of their duties in a sum of five thousand dollars, with sureties approved by a judge of the Superior Court. They shall examine each mine in the district at least once in every three months and make records of examination, number of mines in district, employes in each mine, number of accidents, deaths, etc. The record must be completed by December 31st in each year, and be filed in the Secretary of State's office by 1st day of February following. Two thousand copies of the report of each inspector are published biennially by the State in pamphlet form for free distribution.

Inspectors may enter and inspect any and all mines and machinery used within their district at all times, day and night, and owners must furnish all facilities for said inspection. If owners refuse, the inspector shall file an affidavit with a Superior Court judge and obtain an order from such judge commanding the owner or operator to allow the inspection and comply with the law, or in default thereof to be in contempt of court and to be punished accordingly. If mines are worked contrary to law, the inspector must proceed by injunction (without bond) to close said mines.

The owner, agent or operator, etc., of all coal mines shall for information of inspector furnish accurate maps or tracings of mines showing workings thereof up to at least six months prior to any given date. Within three months next after abandonment of a mine, an accurate map or plan thereof must be filed with the Secretary of State as mining record and shall be the property of the State. (Maps must be on a scale not to exceed one hundred feet to an inch.) In case of failure or neglect to make map as aforesaid the inspector shall have maps made at the expense of owners, etc., cost recoverable by suit from owners, etc.

When loss of life and serious personal injury shall occur from any accident in a coal mine, the parties having charge of said mine shall give notice thereof to the inspector of the district, and, if death results, to the coroner of the county, who shall give notice of inquest. The mine inspector may testify at the inquest and shall give full information in relation to the mine. The mine inspector may question witnesses, etc. Upon receiving notice of accident the mine inspector shall at once repair to the scene of the accident and do what he can to procure the present and future safety of the men; shall investigate cause of accident and keep record of same, and may compel witnesses to attend, testify, etc. Cost of investigation to be paid by the county.

On petition of not less than ten reputable citizens, or miners, mine inspectors may be cited before the Superior Court to answer to charges of neglect of duty or incompetency, or malfeasance in office. If the court finds charges true it shall so certify to the Governor and the Governor shall declare the office vacant, and proceed to fill the vacancy according to law. Costs shall be taxed against the inspector if charges are found true; if not, against the petitioner.

IV. MEASURES OF SAFETY:

Mines worked by shaft, slope or drift must have at least two openings, separated by natural strata by a distance of not less than one hundred feet (in mines already opened, distance may be less with approval of inspector), provided twenty-four persons may be employed before the second opening is reached. The second opening must be made without unnecessary delay, and in case furnace ventilation is used before second opening is reached, the furnace shall not be placed within forty feet of a shaft, slope or draft, and shall be well secured against danger of fire, by brick, stone or other fireproof walls, until said second opening is secured.

Escapement shafts shall be equipped with stairways or ladders, with landing places, or in lieu thereof hoisting apparatus (to be approved by inspector); all escapements and hoisting apparatus to be kept in good order and inspected every twenty-four hours by competent persons employed for that purpose.

Ventilation must be equal to at least one hundred cubic feet of air per minute for each person, measured at the foot of the downcast, the same to be increased at discretion of the inspector. Air must be forced to the face of every working place throughout the mine, so that mine shall be free from smoke and gases. Mines must be inspected every morning for firedamp, with safety lamp, and the result of inspection shall be marked at face of each working place. It is unlawful to use a furnace for ventilation. Bore-holes shall be kept twenty feet in advance of the face of each working place, and if necessary on both sides when driving toward an abandoned mine.

In all shaft or slope mines, suitable provision for communication between top and bottom shall be maintained, together with improved hoisting apparatus and cages covered with boiler iron, with brake on every drum, and safety catches. Covered cages not required in mines less than one hundred feet in depth, but in all vertical shafts of more than one hundred and fifty feet in depth shall be provided iron bonneted safety cages. The safety apparatus, whether consisting of eccentric springs or other device, shall be securely fastened to the cage and shall be of sufficient strength to hold the cage loaded at any depth, provided the cable shall break. Fine for violation of this provision not less than five hundred dollars and not more than one thousand dollars.

No person shall ride on a loaded cage or hoisting machine; not more than twelve persons shall ride on any car or cage at one time; not more than five persons shall be allowed for each ton's capacity of hoisting apparatus in any cage or car, except in case of persons employed as rope riders or couplers; no coal shall be hoisted while persons are descending into such mine, notice of which shall be posted at said mines. Persons shall not be lowered into or hoisted out of any mine at a greater rate of speed than six hundred feet per minute, the number ascending and descending at any one time to be regulated by mine inspector.

All underground, self-acting or engine planes on which coal cars are drawn and persons travel shall be provided with proper means for signaling between the sloping planes and the end of said planes, and sufficient places of refuge shall be provided at the sides of said planes, not more than sixty feet apart and to extend six feet at right angles from the rail. Such places of refuge are not required when a separate traveling road is provided for employes.

In all mines where coal is hoisted by steam power and there is no means of ingress or egress afforded to persons except by hoisting apparatus by way of shaft or slope, a steam pump conveniently situated, with a sufficient supply of water shall be maintained always ready for use in any part of the building or premises within fifty feet of said coal hoisting machinery. In case of failure to comply with this provision, the mine inspector shall proceed by injunction to close such mine.

All shafts, excavations and holes, whether used for mining or otherwise, must at all times be securely fenced. These requirements in relation to fencing may be enforced by statutory proceedings before a justice of the peace or in a Police Court.

All iron needles and iron tamping bars must be tipped with five inches of copper. Failure or neglect to comply therewith is punished by fine.

Stretchers for the purpose of removing injured persons shall be constantly kept at or near the mouth of all drifts, shafts or slopes.

All main doors in coal mines shall be so placed that whenever one door is open another having the same effect on the same current of air shall be and remain closed, and thus prevent any stoppage of the current.

The owner or operator of a mine shall keep a sufficient supply of lumber for all needed props, at or near the opening of the mine, and shall at all times send down the same when needed or demanded.

All boilers must be kept in good order and inspected once in six months by a competent person, and the result of the examination certified to the mine inspector. Every steam boiler must be furnished with steam gauge, water gauge and safety valves.

Competent, experienced and sober engineers and firemen, not less than eighteen years of age, must be employed. No boy under the age of fourteen years and no female shall be employed or permitted to be in the mine. When employer is in doubt about age, he must require a certificate from parents. No boy under twelve is to be employed in outside structures except clerks in office, etc.

At all mines, printed rules, approved by the mining inspector, regulating the duties of persons employed, shall be kept posted in conspicuous places.

V. CONNECTING MINES:

When two or more mines are so located as to allow connection by permanent entries between, the right of way for such entry may be obtained in the manner provided by law of eminent domain.

VI. MISDEMEANORS:

Any person who shall knowingly injure any water gauge, barometer, air course or brattice; or shall obstruct or throw open any airways; or carry any lighted lamp or matches into places worked by the light of safety lamps; or shall handle or disturb any part of the machinery of the hoisting engine; or open a door in the mine and not leave the same closed again, whereby danger is produced either to person or property; or who shall enter any part of the mine against caution; who shall interfere with or attempt to interfere with any engineer, fireman or employe employed in or about such mine in the discharge of his duty or employment; or who shall disobey any order made in pursuance of the mining law of this State; or violate any of the rules established by said law; or who shall do any willful act whereby the health of any person working in any mine or mines is injured or endangered; or any act or acts endangering any mine or machinery therein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction punished by fine of not more than two hundred nor less than fifty dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding six months nor less than three months, or by both fine and imprisonment.

VII. REPORTS, TAXES AND WEIGHTS:

All owners, etc., of coal mines shall keep accurate account of all coal used or sold from their mines, and deliver same to the mine inspector once in every three months, and shall send a certified copy of same to the State Treasurer.

Every ton of coal used or sold from any mine shall be taxed four mills, said amount to be paid into the State Treasury quarterly, on the first day of January, April, July and October in each year.

All coal mined at bushel or ton rates must be weighed and credited to the mine before being screened, etc. The weighman of coal shall take an oath to do justice between employer and employe; and miners may employ at their own expense a check-weighman.

I. ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Deeds and other papers to be recorded should be acknowledged before a justice, notary public, recorder, prothonotary or clerk of any court within the United States, or a commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State. A notary without the State shall certify the same under his official seal.

II. ALIENS:

May hold, convey and devise real estate as if they were citizens of the State. They may acquire by purchase or inheritance.

III. ASSIGNMENTS:

There is no statutory regulation of assignments, except that no preferences may be made.

Assignments are made in the form of deeds of trust to a trustee whose duties are fixed by the trust. If in any way this instrument hinders, delays or defrauds creditors, or if debtor remains in possession of stock of goods it is void as to attaching creditors. Does not release debtor from unpaid balance of debts, unless such a provision is put in the deed of trust. If it is, and the creditors accept payments thereunder it would prevent them from proceeding against the debtor personally. Without the assent of the creditors in some form, the debtor is not discharged personally.

Preferences by insolvent debtors in favor of creditors, sureties or endorsers are made void, except that a transfer of bonds, notes, stocks, securities, or other evidences of debt, to pay a debt or secure an endorser, or as collateral security shall be valid. Such invalid preference by an insolvent debtor shall be valid unless a creditor bring a suit within one year after the transfer, or charge, to set it aside, and cause the property so transferred to be applied to the payment pro rata of all the debts of such debtor existing at the time of such transfer. But if such transfer is admitted to record within eight months after it is made, then such suit must be brought within four months after such transfer is admitted to record. But a transfer of bonds, notes, stocks, securities or other evidences of debt, to pay a debt, or as collateral security, is not affected by the statute.

IV. ATTACHMENTS:

May be sued out on affidavit that defendant is a foreign corporation or a non-resident of the State; has left State with intent to defraud creditors, or is about to do so; is removing, converting, or disposing of his property, or about to do so with like intent; has property which he conceals; or fraudulently contracted the debt. Such attachment may be sued out for a debt not due, except that if it be against a foreign corporation that ground alone will not be sufficient as to debt not due. Attachments in Circuit Court may be levied on real and personal property. If officer is to take possession of property bond must be given. If not, no bond need be given. But if no bond be given, the lien of the attachment may be defeated by the defendant by a sale of the property even though the purchaser is aware of the pendency of the suit. Before a justice a bond must be given under all circumstances. The lien of attachment dates from its levy.

V. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

Executors and administrators are given a year in which to settle up the estate, or longer if necessary, to collect claims and otherwise adjust the business of the estate. They cannot be compelled to pay a claim against the estate or to make distribution of the assets until after the expiration of one year. Claims should be proven before an administrator by affidavit within the year. If the claim is disputed then a suit against the administrator to determine the right to recover will be necessary. All of the property, real and personal, is liable to the payment of debts, but subject to the widow's right of dower in the real estate. If the personal property is not sufficient to pay the debts, then suit may be brought against the real estate by the administrator. If the administrator fails for six months after his appointment to bring such suit, then any creditor may bring such suit.

VI. COURTS:

The Supreme Court of Appeals has jurisdiction of all appeals from the Circuit Courts of the different counties. No appeal can lie after two years from the date of judgment or order complained of, nor where less than one hundred dollars, exclusive of interest and costs, is in controversy.

Circuit Courts: The State is divided into thirteen circuits, with a circuit judge for each circuit. Three terms a year of the Circuit Court are held in each county, and the court has jurisdiction in all criminal matters and in all civil matters over fifty dollars. An appeal lies to this court from the judgments of justices where over fifteen dollars is in controversy. Sixty days is required to mature an ordinary action at law, but by a special statutory notice judgment may be had in thirty days.

Justices of the peace have jurisdiction where matters in controversy do not exceed three hundred dollars—exclusive of interest and costs. If no defense is made, judgment may be had at the end of five days from the service of the summons. If defendant swears he has a just defense he can obtain a continuance of one week.

VII. FEES:

VIII. DEEDS:

May be made by any person twenty-one years of age. Are necessary to convey real estate, or an interest therein of over five years. Must be acknowledged in order to go on record, and deed of married woman even, as to her separate estate, of no effect unless her husband joins in it.

Deeds of trust are now almost universally used in place of mortgages, whether chattel or real. They may be so drawn as to fix the terms of sale and manner of giving notice, but if not so drawn thirty days' notice of the sale must be published. Sale will be made by the trustee upon the terms mentioned in the deed, or if such terms are not mentioned and the property be real estate, one-third down and balance in one and two years. Personal property will be sold for cash.

IX. DEPOSITIONS:

In equity cases all the evidence is in the form of depositions. In law cases depositions of witnesses living out of the State, or in certain cases out of the county, may be taken. Reasonable notice of the taking must be given the opposite party, but no commission is necessary. May be taken in or out of the State before a justice, notary public, commissioner in chancery, commissioner appointed by the Governor or by any officer authorized to take depositions in the state where they may be taken. If such depositions are taken out of the State the officer taking them must certify them under his official seal, and if he have none, then his signature must be authenticated by a clerk of a court of record under his official seal.

X. DESCENT:

Real estate descends in the following order: To the children or descendants; next to the father, then to the mother, brothers and sisters; then one-half to the paternal and one-half to the maternal kindred as fixed by the statute. Persons of the half blood inherit only half as much as the whole blood.

Personal property passes in the same way as real estate except that if the intestate was a married woman and leave children surviving, the husband will take one-third, and if she leaves no children, he takes all. And if intestate leave a widow and children, she shall be entitled to one-third, and if he leave no children, she takes all.

XI. EXECUTIONS:

May be issued by a justice any time within three years from date of judgment, or within three years from return of last execution. Must be issued from Circuit Court within two years from date of judgment, and thereafter within ten years from return day of last execution. May be levied on current money, bank notes and goods and chattels.

The lien of an execution levied relates to the time it went into the officer's hands. It is a lien on property which cannot be levied on, and the defendant may be summoned before a commissioner in chancery to answer interrogatories, disclose his property and turn it over to satisfy the execution. Defendant may give forthcoming bond for property levied on, and if bond is forfeited judgment must be obtained on it before proceeding further; but no forthcoming bond can be given on such a judgment.

On a judgment before a justice no forthcoming bond can be given, but within twenty days from the date of the judgment defendant may give a stay bond which stays execution on judgment not exceeding fifty dollars for two months; over fifty dollars and not exceeding one hundred dollars, for four months; and if over one hundred dollars, for six months.

XII. EXEMPTIONS:

Two hundred dollars of personal property by any husband or parent, or widow, or infant children of deceased parent. The personal property exemption is obtained by filing a schedule of the property as provided by the statute with the officer having an execution or with the administrator of a decedent's estate as the case may be.

One thousand dollars of real estate, but this real estate exemption does not apply as to any debt contracted before a declaration, claiming the property exempt, has been recorded in the clerk's office of the County Court, and this is very rarely done.

XIII. INTEREST AND USURY:

No greater rate than six per cent can be collected, but the contract for a greater rate only forfeits the excess of interest above six per cent.

XIV. JUDGMENTS:

Are enforced as to personal property by executions levied. On the real estate, the judgments of the Circuit Court are a lien from the first day of the term at which they are rendered, and as against purchasers may be docketed in the office of the County Court within sixty days from the time they are rendered. Judgments before justices are not liens against purchasers until docketed. Judgments are enforced against real estate by suits in chancery to sell or rent the real estate.

XV. LIENS:

There are no liens specially applying to a mining corporation, or to miners, but every workman, laborer or other person who shall do or perform any work, or labor by virtue of any contract for any incorporation doing business in this State, shall have a lien for the value of such work or labor upon all the real estate and personal property of said company, and such lien shall have priority over any lien created by deed or otherwise on such real estate or personal property, subsequent to the time when the said labor was performed, but there shall be no priority between the persons claiming such mechanics liens.

Such lien shall be discharged unless the person claiming it shall file with the clerk of the County Court of the county in which such work or labor was performed, or in which the principal office, works, real estate or personal property of the company is situated, a just and true account of the amount due him after allowing all credits which account shall be sworn to by the claimant or some one for him. But no such lien may be claimed for labor performed more than nine months before such lien was recorded.

In addition to the above, every mechanic, builder, artisan, workman, laborer or other person who shall perform any work or labor or furnish any material or machinery for constructing, altering, repairing or removing a house, mill, manufactory or other building, appurtenances, fixtures, bridge or other structure by virtue of a contract with the owner or his agent shall have a lien therefor on the interest of the owner in the property. Such lien will be lost unless an account duly sworn to as above is filed in the same manner, within sixty days from the time the last work was done or material furnished. Such liens will be lost unless suit is brought thereon within six months from the time the lien is recorded.

XVI. LIMITATIONS:

Action for the recovery of land must be brought within ten years. A note under seal made before April 1st, 1869, might be sued on within twenty years; and a note not under seal, of that date, might be sued on within five years. Notes made since that date, whether under seal or not, may be sued on within ten years of the time they fall due.

Store accounts must be sued on in three years. Accounts between merchants within five years from the time dealings cease. Any other contract within five years. In order to take the debt out of the statute, a new promise to pay must be in writing. A payment on the debt will not answer.

As to an action for the settlement of partnership accounts, or upon accounts concerning the trade of merchandise between merchant and merchant, an action may be brought until the expiration of five years from a cessation of the dealings in which they are interested together.

XVII. MARRIED WOMEN:

A married woman will not bind herself personally by a contract, but will charge all her separate property, real or personal; and may be sued at law just as if single. Her personal property may be sold on execution, and her real estate may be sold in chancery suit to enforce lien of judgment.

XVIII. MILLS:

A person having on his land or proposing to build on his land a water mill, or other machine, manufactory or engine useful to the public, and desiring to erect a dam across or in the water-course on which the same is situated, or to cut or enlarge a canal through lands above or below, or to raise a dam, may apply to the Circuit Court of the county for the appointment of five commissioners to ascertain a just compensation to the owners of the estate proposed to be taken. They shall give notice, hear evidence, and make report of their assessment of damages. Exceptions may be made to the report, and either party may demand a jury to ascertain the compensation. From such trial there may be an appeal as in all appealable civil cases. On payment to the parties entitled of the amounts ascertained the applicant by such judgment and payment will become seized in fee simple of the lands proposed to be taken.

If work is not begun within one year and the mill completed for use within three years; or if the mill be destroyed, or become unfit for use, and the work of rebuilding be not commenced within two years, and completed within five years, then the title to the land shall revert to the former owner, his heirs and assigns.

XIX. MORTGAGES:

Chattel mortgages are valid, but deeds of trust are universally used instead of mortgages. (See "VIII. Deeds.")

Real estate mortgages are valid, but as to enforce them it is necessary to bring a suit in equity, deeds of trust are almost universally used instead of mortgages. (See "VIII. Deeds.")

XX. NOTES AND BILLS:

All bills and notes payable at a bank or place of discount and deposit are negotiable. Those not so payable are not negotiable. No days of grace. January 1st, February 22d, May 30th and July 4th are legal holidays. Negotiable paper due on those days or Sunday is payable and due on the preceding day.

XXI. SUITS:

In the courts the common law practice is used. The same courts have also jurisdiction of chancery suits. Ordinarily it requires sixty days to mature an action in court. The action before justices may be brought for any matter of debt, the recovery of personal property or the recovery of damages to property and if defense is not made, may be matured in five days. But the title to real estate cannot be called in question before a justice.

XXII. TAXES:

Constitute a lien from April 1st of each year. Payable in autumn on days fixed by the sheriff, who collects the taxes. Sale of real estate for taxes every two years. May be redeemed from purchaser within one year by paying amount and twelve per cent interest.

XXIII. WAGES:

It shall be unlawful for any company, firm or person, directly or indirectly, to issue, sell, give or deliver to any person employed by him, or it, in payment of wages due such employe, or as advances on the wages of labor not due, any scrip, token, draft, check or other evidence of indebtedness payable otherwise than in their face value in money. The company or person doing it shall be liable to a fine of not less than twenty dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, and at the discretion of the court imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days.

The compelling or attempting to compel an employe to purchase goods or supplies from a particular person is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine and imprisonment.

XXIV. WILLS:

All persons of sound mind and above the age of twenty-one years may make a will, and minors of eighteen years of age may will personal property. Must be executed in the presence of two witnesses, or be written wholly by the testator.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

The agreement for incorporation should set forth: 1. Name of the corporation. 2. The purpose for which it is formed. 3. Place where its principal office or place of business shall be kept. 4. Term for which it is to exist, not exceeding fifty years. 5. The amount subscribed to the capital stock, the number and value of each share, and the amount to which corporators desire the privilege of increasing the capital. 6. The agreement must be subscribed by five or more persons, who need not be residents of the State. It must be acknowledged before a notary public or some officer authorized to take the acknowledgment of deeds, and two of the corporators must make affidavit that at least ten per cent of the capital subscribed has been paid in in good faith, and without any intention of withdrawing it before the dissolution of the corporation. Upon the filing of such agreement and affidavit with the Secretary of State, he will issue a certificate of incorporation, declaring the persons named in the agreement a corporation.

II. BY-LAWS:

The first stockholders' meeting must be held not less than twenty-one nor more than ninety days after the date of the certificate of incorporation. At this meeting by-laws should be adopted providing for: 1. Officers, including directors, and the duties and tenure of office, and compensation, except where this latter is left to the board of directors. 2. Time of annual election. 3. Time, place and manner of calling meetings of stockholders and directors. 4. The general business of the corporation. 5. If desired, restrictions on the usual powers of officers. 6. These by-laws may be adopted by a majority vote of those present, and may be subsequently amended as provided by the by-laws.

The by-laws should be entered on the record and certified by the chairman of the stockholders' meeting and the secretary. The directors may adopt by-laws governing their action, provided they do not conflict with the by-laws adopted by the stockholders.

The principal office or place of business may be in any state or territory of the United States or District of Columbia; and the meetings of directors and stockholders may be held out of the State; but this cannot be done without the concurrence of persons holding a majority in value of the stock, nor without reasonable notice.

III. MEETINGS AND ELECTIONS:

Directors must be elected annually by the stockholders, and such election shall be on the fourth Tuesday of January unless the by-laws prescribe a different time.

IV. LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS:

Stockholders are not liable beyond the amount of stock subscribed by them. When that is paid up their personal liability ceases. There is no personal liability for debts or wages due to mechanics, workmen or laborers employed by the corporation.

V. REPORTS AND STATEMENTS:

The board of directors shall make a report to the stockholders, at the annual meeting, of the condition of the corporation. The report shall show: 1. Property and funds of the corporation. 2. Estimated value thereof. 3. Debts due to it, distinguishing such as are deemed to be good from those considered doubtful or hopeless. 4. Debts of the corporation. 5. The capital paid in and the estimated surplus or deficiency as the case may be. 6. Dividends declared, and losses incurred and profits accruing during the preceding year. A copy of this report shall be furnished to each stockholder requiring it, with a list of the stockholders and their residences. But this report is not required to be published.

VI. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

No corporation incorporated under the laws of another state may hold property or transact business in this State, until it shall have filed with the Secretary of State a copy of its articles of association and of the law and authority under which it is incorporated. A certificate that this has been done will be issued by the Secretary of State, and this certificate shall be filed and recorded in the office of the clerk of the County Court of one of the counties in which the business of the corporation is conducted. Every such corporation which shall do business in this State without complying with said provisions shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than five hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars for each month its failure so to comply shall continue.

MINING.

I. RIGHT OF WAY:

Mining property is not subject to a right of way more than any real estate, nor does it have in its favor such right of way. Mine owners desiring to drain their mines or lands through the land of others may apply to the Circuit Court for the condemnation of such right in the manner already described as to mill-dams. But it is doubtful if the statute can be enforced, as such condemnation can only be had for public uses, and the West Virginia Supreme Court have held a similar use not a public use.

A coal mine cannot be mined within five feet of adjoining land, and the owner of such land shall have the right once a month to enter the mine, and if need be, survey it. This right will be enforced by a justice of the peace on complaint made.

This State has no statutes regulating the location of mining claims on public domain and no lands on which they could be located.

The statutes do not indicate what shall be considered real estate pertaining to mining properties, but fixtures and machinery would no doubt be counted such by the courts.

II. INSPECTION OF MINES:

The State is divided into two mining districts, and two mine inspectors, one for each district, are appointed by the Governor and hold their office four years. The inspector's duties shall be to examine each mine at least twice a year and see that the provisions of the mining law are observed and strictly carried out. These examinations particularly apply to ventilation, drainage and general safety. He must make a record of such examinations and annually as of June 30th make a detailed written report to the Governor. This report shall be filed not later than December 30th following.

Proper facilities for entering and examining the mines shall always be afforded the inspector, and if his requirements are not complied with, he may enforce them by enjoining the working of the mine by injunction obtained from the Circuit Court of the county.

The inspector shall be notified of any accident occasioning loss of life, or serious personal injury, by mail, at once. In case of loss of life an inquest shall be held.

The operator or agent shall annually during July deliver to the inspector a report of the preceding twelve months ending with June 30th. The report must include the details required by the inspector. The operator or agent of each coal mine shall also make, or cause to be made, an accurate map or plan of each mine, and file a copy thereof with the inspector of the district. The original shall be kept in the mine office, subject to examination and use by the inspector. Twice a year the mine must be surveyed and the map corrected to show the extensions and changes in the mine. If the operator fails to do this the inspector may have it done at the expense of the operator.

III. VENTILATION AND MEASURES OF SAFETY:

Ample means of ventilation shall be provided, affording not less than one hundred cubic feet of air per minute for each person employed in the mine, and as much more as may be necessary, which shall be thoroughly circulated in all parts of the mine.

The mine shall be kept free of standing gas in the abandoned parts, and entrances thereto closed, warnings posted, and self-closing doors hung to divide the ventilation therein. Before each shift, all places where gas is known to or liable to exist must be examined by the "fire boss" with a safety lamp, and on each examination he must leave the mark thereof, and workmen shall not be permitted to enter until examination is made. Fine coal dust shall be watered down. Safety lamps so used shall be furnished by the operator of the mine.

A "mining boss" shall be employed who shall be an experienced coal miner, or having two years' experience in a coal mine, who shall see to all the interior workings of the mine, ventilation, safety appliances, excavations, timbering, drainage and other matters. The "mining boss" or his assistant shall visit every working place at least once in three days and see that safety in all respects is assured.

There shall be at least two outlets separated by natural strata of not less than one hundred feet if the mine be worked by shaft, and not less than fifty feet in breadth if worked by slopes or drift. There shall be a safe and available roadway from the interior of the mine to each of said outlets, which shall be kept free from all obstructions that might prevent travel in case of an emergency, and if either of said outlets be a shaft it shall be fitted with all proper appliances, ready for immediate use, whereby persons employed may readily escape. This will not apply while work is being actually prosecuted to communicate between said outlets, nor as to work being done in the final abandonment of the mine, if no more than twenty persons are employed in the mine at any one time. If the owner of a coal mine has not suitable ground to make a second outlet from the mine he may condemn ground therefor from adjoining land.

A metal speaking tube from top to bottom of the shaft, and the usual and necessary safety appliances in the hoisting apparatus must be provided, and once in every twenty-four hours inspected by a competent person. Only sober and competent engineers shall be put in charge of the machinery. Not more than ten persons shall ride in a car or cage, and on a loaded car or cage no person shall ride. Refuge holes every sixty feet shall be provided on one side of each slope.

No boys under twelve years of age and no female of any age shall be permitted to work in any mine.

IV. WEIGHT OF COAL:

A weighman shall be employed by the operator of the mine, and the miners working therein shall employ one. If they fail to do so, then the weighman employed by the operator of the mine shall weigh the coal. Each of the persons so employed shall be sworn.

All coal under contract for payment by weight shall be weighed before screening, and if paid for by measure it shall be ascertained before screening.

Each company or person operating a coal mine shall provide suitable standard scales to be tested by the sealer of weights and measures.

V. PENALTIES:

A fine of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five hundred dollars is imposed for violating the provisions of the act. The act applies only to those mines employing ten or more persons in the twenty-four hours.

Any person who shall knowingly injure any shaft, lamp, air-course or brattice, or do other acts, or fail to obey orders, whereby the life or health of any person employed or the safety of the mine is endangered, shall be liable to a fine of not less than fifty dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, as above provided.

VI. QUARRIES:

Quarries are subject to the laws relating to real estate generally.

I ACKNOWLEDGMENTS:

Deeds and like instruments for record must be acknowledged within the State before any judge, or clerk of court of record, court commissioner, county clerk, register of deeds, notary public, or justice of the peace; without the State, according to either the local law or the Wisconsin law before a notary with seal or other authorized officer. No "clerk's certificate" is needed for a notary, commissioner of deeds for Wisconsin, or clerk of a court of record if official seal is affixed, as should be done in all cases. For other officers it is needed to authenticate the acknowledgment. By enactment of 1893, defective acknowledgments that have been recorded twenty years are made good.

II ACTIONS:

The practice is under a code. Distinctions between actions at law and suits in equity have been abolished as to form. Actions affecting real property must be commenced in the county where the land lies; non-residents must give security for costs on commencing actions, if security is demanded. Process to begin action in all courts is by summons. In courts of record defendants must answer in twenty days. All insurance companies interested in a loss may be joined as defendants.

III ADMINISTRATION:

All probate jurisdiction is vested in the County Court of the county of decedent's domicile, or of his property situs, if a non-resident. Administrators, executors, and guardians are appointed on petition and notice, the widow and minors being preferred over creditors, unless they decline or fail to apply. Security is required. Foreign administrators and executors can act here upon filing copies of their letters, without ancillary administration. Possession and control of all realty (except homestead, q. v.) as well as personalty pertain to the administrator, etc., pending distribution of the estate. All non-exempt property is applicable to debts. Debts must be proved by affidavit filed in the County Court within six months after notice given of issue of letters, unless time is extended by the court; after that they are barred. This limitation does not bar contingent liabilities not fixed before said time expires. The Federal Courts ignore this limitation and entertain actions against the administrator, etc., on such debts within six years if assets are still in hand. Any other creditor or the administrator, etc., may contest claims. In insolvent estates all other debts pro-rate after full payment of administrative, funeral and last-sickness expenses, and debts preferred by United States laws. In solvent estates the same order obtains. The residue (except homestead, q. v.) is distributed under the will or the law of descent. (XII. post.)

IV. ALIENS:

May acquire, transfer and inherit property, like citizens, except that non-resident aliens cannot acquire more than three hundred and twenty acres of land by purchase. Alien women not barred of dower.

V. APPEALS:

Appeals may be taken to the Supreme Court direct from Circuit and County Courts having civil jurisdiction, regardless of the amount involved, within two years from entry of judgment. Bills of exceptions must be served within sixty days. The appellant must give security for costs of appeal. Appeals from Justice Courts to Circuit and County Courts with civil jurisdiction are permitted within twenty days after entry of judgment, and security may be required. The case is tried de novo in the Appellate Court if the amount in controversy exceeds fifteen dollars. Appeals as to wills and other matters of probate jurisdiction lie from the County to the Circuit Court, and thence to the Supreme Court.

VI. ASSIGNMENTS:

Assignments may be made by an insolvent debtor to such person, being a resident of this State, as he elects, who must give bond in double the nominal value of assets.

The assignee must file list of creditors and inventory within twenty days, and notify creditors, who may prove their claims by affidavit filed with assignee or with the clerk of the Circuit Court of the county where debtor lives. Proof of claim must be so filed within ninety days after assignee gives notice. That court has a general supervision of all proceedings and settles final accounts.

The assignee or any creditor can contest any claim filed. Debts to employes for wages, etc., earned within three months are preferred by law, and the same for six months may be preferred by the assignment. All others must pro-rate, and other preferences avoid assignment. Exemptions are allowed to assignor. (See XIV. Exemptions.) The assignment cancels a lien or levy under a judgment by confession entered within sixty days before; or, conditionally on the creditor's knowing or having cause to believe the debtor insolvent, any sale or security made within that time and in contemplation of an assignment or of insolvency.

Insolvent debtors, after properly noticed hearing, may be discharged from all liabilities. A debtor who has made a voluntary assignment, by filing within one year thereafter his application for discharge in the Circuit Court, where such assignment is filed, may be discharged from all debts, after notice and hearing. Such application shall have annexed thereto a sworn statement that debtor has not disposed of any property for his future benefit, or in any way fraudulently compounded with any of his creditors. Opposing creditors may have a jury trial on hearing of application for discharge, and have the right to appeal. Upon payment of final dividend judgment satisfying the balance due on all claims filed under the assignment is entered in favor of assignor. Foreign assignments are treated according to the rules of comity. A majority in number and value of creditors may procure removal of assignee, and appointment of a new one, and the Circuit judge may, upon notice and after hearing, remove assignee for cause. The assignee must file verified itemized statement annually during continuance of trust; assignor and assignee may be fully examined as to all matters relating to state of business immediately before and after assignment.

VII. ATTACHMENT:

May be had, on contracts, when indebtedness exceeds fifty dollars, for absconding from State or concealment in it, to avoid process; for fraudulent disposition or removal, actual or intended, of property; for fraudulent contraction of liability; for official defaults; or against a non-resident, or a foreign corporation. On torts, it may be had in the two latter cases. It may be had in Justice Court, when indebtedness exceeds five dollars, on the same grounds and also for residence of defendant over one hundred miles away and in another county of this State.

The writ issues only upon affidavit of the ground for it and of the debt or tort, and, except in Justice Court, a bond for two hundred and fifty dollars must go with it. No bond is required when the State, county or city is plaintiff in the attachment. (Acts, 1895.) The defendant may traverse or deny the ground for the writ, and if he succeeds on trial the writ is dismissed, but judgment (on proof of debt) given for plaintiff, less costs of attachment. Attachment may be had on a debt not due, if bond is given for thrice the debt; but on failure to sustain the writ, the action, too, fails. This is the only case where an action lies before debt is due.

VIII. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

The County Court shall at the time of granting letters testamentary or of administration fix the time within which creditors shall present their claims for examination and allowance. Such time shall be fixed by an order and shall not exceed one year nor be less than six months from the date of the order. Upon giving notice this time may be extended for good cause shown, but in no case shall the time exceed two years. The order shall also specify the time and place to receive, examine and adjust such claims, and the County Court shall cause notice of such time and place to be given by publication for four successive weeks, or in such manner as it shall direct, the first publication to be within fifteen days after the making of the order. Failure to file claim within the time limited by the order bars the claim, excepting in the Federal Courts, which do not recognize this provision. ("III. Administration.")

IX. COURTS:

The Circuit Court has general jurisdiction over all actions except those against the State. Some County Courts have a limited civil jurisdiction. Superior courts have jurisdiction over civil cases within a limit specified by law establishing them.

Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in civil actions where the amount involved does not exceed two hundred dollars; but cannot try suits in which title to land is involved. Their jurisdiction over torts is limited.

Regular terms of County Courts are held the first Tuesday in each month, except the months of July and August. Special terms may be held on any other Tuesday. Terms of the Circuit and Superior Courts are held at times specified in the statutes.

X. DEEDS:

Conveyances of land or of any estate or interest therein may be made by deed signed and sealed by the person from whom the estate or interest is intended to pass, being of lawful age, or his lawful agent or attorney, and acknowledged or proved in form prescribed, without any other act or ceremony whatever; but no mortgage or alienation by a married man of his homestead exempt by law from execution shall be filed or have any effect as to such homestead without the signature of his wife to the same. A husband can convey directly to his wife.

XI. DEPOSITIONS:

Depositions may be taken in pursuance of a stipulation, or after due notice, to be used before any court or magistrate in any action or proceeding, or on any motion therein. In criminal cases in courts of record the defendant may, on notice of the district attorney, apply to the court or presiding judge thereof to take the deposition of any material witnesses within the State in imminent danger of death, or of any material witness who is without the State. The deponent shall be sworn and his testimony taken in writing, and when completed, carefully read over by the officer taking the same, to, and signed by the witness; and thereafter forwarded under seal; such deposition to remain so to the clerk of the court or the magistrate or other person before whom the matter is pending, sealed until opened by the court. Depositions may be taken by any judge, justice, court commissioner, or master in chancery of any court of record in the United States, or any notary public or justice of the peace.

XII. DESCENT:

Realty (except homestead, q. v.), undevised, descends to: 1. Children and their issue, if all are in the same degree; else by right of representation. 2. Widow. 3. Parents, or survivor of them. 4. Brothers and sisters, or if deceased, their issue by right of representation. 5. Other next of kin in equal degree.

All realty owned in husband's life, except homestead, is subject to dower, unless barred by wife's assent to deed, or by a jointure or provision by will accepted in lieu of it; and all owned by wife at death and not devised by her or descended to issue by a former husband is subject to tenancy by curtesy. A non-resident wife is dowable only of lands owned by husband at decease. Tenancy by curtesy is independent of issue. Personalty is distributed by rules of descent.

XIII. EXECUTIONS:

Executions from a Justice Court may be stayed by bond for periods varying with amount; from a court of record only by security on appeal. There is no lien on chattels till levy; and sale is on twenty days' notice.

On realty, lien begins with docket of judgment or transcript from Justice or Record Court, in the office of clerk of the Circuit Court of the county wherein the land lies. All papers or certified copies thereof may be filed in county where land lies for enforcement of judgment. Sale is had on six weeks' notice, and sheriff's deed absolute issues after fifteen months without redemption. Supplementary proceedings lie after issue of execution and before or after return unsatisfied. Execution is issued, as of course, within five years after judgment; after five years, only on authority from the court.

XIV. EXEMPTIONS:

Exempt chattels are growing crops, clothing, bedding, stoves, cooking utensils, and other furniture to value of two hundred dollars; library; two cows, ten swine, two horses or mules (or one of either and a yoke of oxen), ten sheep and their wool, and a year's food for all exempt live stock; a wagon, sleigh, dray, plow and two hundred dollars' worth of other farm tools or tackle for teams; a year's provisions for debtor and family; tools and implements, or stock in trade, or both, up to two hundred dollars in value; sewing machines for family use; printing materials and presses of a printer or publisher up to one thousand five hundred dollars in value (except that as to claims of laborers and servants for services, only four hundred dollars shall be exempt); patents, owned by the inventor; three months' earnings (not over $60 a month), if the debtor has a family to support; and all insurance money on exemptions.

Most of these exemptions avail only residents. Corporations have no exemptions. Partners, however many, may take exemptions as individuals from joint assets. None of the above property is exempt from execution or attachment in action for purchase money of the same property. If husband does not select exemptions, the wife may.

XV. HOMESTEAD:

Real estate of whatever value, not over one-quarter of an acre in a city or village, or forty acres for agriculture in the country, is exempt to the actually resident owner. So, too, is its insurance, when burned, or its proceeds when sold, and held not over two years for purchase of a new one. But it is subject to mechanics' and mortgage liens, created with the wife's assent, and it cannot be conveyed without her signature (except that purchase money mortgage is good without wife's signature). On death of owner (unless widow is otherwise provided for to her satisfaction) it goes to her for life or widowhood; then, as other realty, to the heirs. (XII. Descent.)

XVI. INSOLVENCY:

An insolvent, independently of an assignment for his creditors, may procure a discharge as to creditors within (but not without) the State, by surrender of all non-exempt property, and petition. The property is distributed to creditors through an assignee. On notice to creditors, and an examination of the debtor, in the absence of fraud, the discharge is granted. (VI. Assignments.)

XVII. INTEREST AND USURY:

The legal rate is six per cent; maximum contract rate, ten. Usury forfeits the whole interest.

XVIII. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments in the Circuit Court keep debts alive for twenty years, are liens on land for ten years, and bear interest at the rate of seven per cent.

XIX. LIENS:

Every person who, as principal contractor, architect, civil engineer or surveyor, performs any work or labor, furnishes any materials or prepares any plans or estimates for, in or about the erection, construction, repairs, protection or removal of any dwelling-house or other building, or any machinery erected or constructed so as to be or become a part of the freehold upon which it is to be situated, or of any bridge, or in the filling up of any water lot, or the construction thereon of any wharf or permanent erection, or in the dredging of the channel in front of such water lot, or in digging or constructing any well or fountain, or in digging, building, or repairing any fences upon land, and the making or repairing of any walk, sidewalk or curbing, upon land, irrespective of any easement on or over said land, or doing manual labor thereon, shall have a lien thereupon, and upon the interest of the owner of such dwelling-house, building, machinery, etc., in and to the land upon which the same is situated, or of the person causing such manual labor to be done, and upon the water lots so filled or in front of which such dredging is done not exceeding forty acres; or, if within the limits of an incorporated city or village, upon the piece or parcel of land used or designed for use in connection with such dwelling-house, building, machinery, etc., or land on which such manual labor is done, not exceeding one acre. Such lien shall be prior to any other lien which originates subsequent to the commencement of the construction, repairs, removal or work aforesaid of or upon such dwelling house, building, machinery, etc., and shall also attach to and be a lien upon the real property of any person or whose premises such improvements are made, such owner having knowledge thereof and consenting thereto, and may be enforced as provided by statutes.

In case any person shall order or contract for the purchase of any machinery to be placed or connected to or with any building or premises, and such person not having an interest in such building or premises in or connected with which such machinery is placed, sufficient for a lien to secure payment for said machinery, the person furnishing such machinery shall have and retain a lien upon such machinery, and shall have the right to remove from such building or premises such machinery, in case there shall be default in the payment for such machinery when due, leaving such building or premises in as good condition as they were before such machinery was placed in or on the same.

And whenever the doing of manual labor on land for which a lien is given by this section shall consist of the building of a continuous roadbed or structure designed or intended for use as a single thing, or as a part of a single thing, and such roadbed or structure is not limited in extent to one acre of land in an incorporated city or village, or to forty acres of land outside such city or village, but extends over and across more than forty acres of land, whether within or without or partly within and partly without such city or village, then in every such case the limitation to an acre or forty acres, as the case may be, in this section contained, shall not apply, but the party entitled shall have a lien upon all the interests of the owner in and to the whole of said continuous roadbed and structure and the whole of the land of the owner on which the same is constructed, or which is intended to be used or is used for the purpose of such roadbed or structure, and the claimant may make and file a single petition or claim for a lien on all of the same, which petition, or a copy thereof, shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of such county in which such roadbed is situate or partly situate, and such lien may be foreclosed or enforced by the party entitled thereto in the Circuit Court of any of the said counties in which the said claim or petition is so filed, and in the enforcement of such lien the said roadbed or structure, if sold, shall be sold as one continuous and single thing.

Every person who, as sub-contractor of a principal contractor, or employe of any contractor or sub-contractor, performs any work or labor for or furnishes any materials to a principal contractor or sub-contractor, in any of the cases mentioned in the preceding section, shall be entitled to a lien, if, within sixty days after performing such work or labor, or furnishing such materials, he shall give notice in writing to the owner or his agent of the property to be affected by such lien, setting forth that he has been employed by such principal contractor or sub-contractor to perform or furnish, and has performed or furnished such work, labor or material, with a statement of the labor performed or materials furnished, and the amount due therefor from such principal contractor or sub-contractor, and that he claims the lien given by law. In all cases where a lien shall be filed by any person other than the principal contractor it shall be the duty of the principal contractor to defend any action brought thereupon at his own expense, and during the pendency of such action the owner may withhold from the contractor the amount of money for which such lien shall be filed; and in case of judgment against the owner or his property upon the lien, he shall be entitled to deduct from any amount due by him to the contractor the amount of such judgment and costs, and, if he shall have settled with the contractor in full, shall be entitled to recover back from the principal contractor any amount so paid by the owner, for which the principal contractor was originally liable. And any contractor or sub-contractor who shall purchase materials on credit, and represent at the time of purchase that the same are to be used in a designated building or other improvement, and shall thereafter use or cause to be used the said material in the construction of any building or improvement other than that designated, without the written consent of the person from whom the materials were purchased, with intent to defraud such person, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than three months, or by a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars.

Such claim for lien shall contain a statement of the contract or demand upon which it is founded, the name of the person against whom the demand is claimed, the name of the claimant or assignee, the last date of the performance of labor or furnishing of materials, a description of the property affected thereby, a statement of the amount claimed, and all other material facts in relation thereto. It shall be signed by the claimant, or his attorney, and need not be verified, and may be amended in case of action brought by order of the court as pleadings may be. Lien shall be filed in the office of the clerk of the Circuit Court of the county in which the lands affected thereby lie. Statutory procedure provides for the manner of foreclosing liens.

Miners' Liens: Any person who shall do or perform any work, labor or services, for any person or corporation engaged in or organized for the purpose of mining, smelting or manufacturing iron, copper, silver, or other ores or minerals in this State, and any bona-fide holder of any draft, time-check or order for the payment of money due for any such labor issued or drawn by any person or corporation, shall have a lien for the wages due him, or for the amount due on such draft, time-check or order, upon all the personal property connected with such mining, smelting or manufacturing industry belonging to such person or corporation, including the ores or products of such mine or manufactory, together with the machinery and other personal property used in the operation of such industry, and all the interest of such person or corporation in any real estate belonging thereto and connected with such business, which said lien shall take precedence of all other debts, judgments or decrees, liens or mortgages, against such person or corporation, except liens accruing to this State for taxes, fines or penalties, subject to the exceptions and limitations set forth in the law. Liens may be assigned.

XX. LIMITATIONS:

On sealed instrument, when cause of action accrues within the State, twenty years; when it accrues without the State, or on equitable cause for action, or a foreign judgment, ten years; on a municipal bond or other contract even when sealed, or any unsealed contract or liability at law, or trespass, trover or replevin, six years; on action against a sheriff or other officer for violation of duty, three years; on action for a penalty or forfeiture, or for an injury to person or character, two years; on an action for equitable relief against fraud, within six years after discovery of the facts constituting the fraud; on an action for recovery of realty, ten years after the adverse possession begins, where occupant claims under a paper title; otherwise, twenty years. Absence from State, after cause of action accrued, suspends statute.

XXI. MARRIED WOMEN:

Married women have in general the same rights as o her adults, except that they cannot become liable as sureties without an express charge of the debt on their separate estate. A deed by a married woman without her husband's signature passes her entire estate in land, free of his tenancy by curtesy.

XXII. MORTGAGES:

Mortgages are executed precisely as deeds, except that the wife need not join in a purchase money mortgage to bar dower. One year's redemption is allowed after sale, when sale is made on a mortgage with power of sale inserted. The general practice is to get judgment of foreclosure in the Circuit Court and then sell at the expiration of one year from the date of judgment.

Chattel mortgages must be filed in the town or city clerk's office, or actual possession must be taken and kept by mortgagee, to make them good against third parties; and when filed, they must be renewed by filing affidavit of amount unpaid every two years from date. If on household furniture or exempt chattels they are invalid without the wife's signature before two witnesses. If on stocks of merchandise, they become due between the parties unless the mortgagor every sixty days files a verified statement of the amount sold, payments made and new stock added; if this statement is not so filed, the mortgage becomes due between the parties and invalid as to third parties fifteen days afterward. Foreclosure sales cannot be had without mortgagor's consent, and the goods cannot be removed from the county within five days after seizure. On satisfaction of mortgage, certificate of mortgagee may be filed and original mortgage removed from files.

XXIII. NOTES AND BILLS:

The common law prevails as to negotiability, protest and rights and liabilities of the various parties to them. Warehouse receipts are negotiable unless expressed not to be. Municipal bonds are not negotiable, unless expressly authorized to be. Damages on foreign bills, five per cent. One action may be brought against all parties liable on a note or bill. Negotiable paper maturing on Sunday or holiday becomes due on the next preceding secular day. Days of grace abolished.

XXIV. PARTNERSHIPS:

There is no statutory regulation of general partnerships. Limited ones may be formed, to consist of general partners and special partners. The latter contribute a stated amount of capital and are liable for no losses beyond that. Public notice must be given of the formation of the firm, its members' names, their contributions of capital, etc. The special partners must pay all their shares in cash, and must be strictly non-participating—else they become liable as general partners, but they may examine into the business and advise as to its management.

XXV. REPLEVIN:

Specific personalty may be recovered by this action, on an affidavit by or for plaintiff showing his title or right of possession and defendant's wrongful detention or taking. The limit of jurisdiction in Justice Court is two hundred dollars. All cases above that must be in courts of record. Security in double its value for return of the property and payment of damages is required in the latter, but not in the former court; and the defendant can reclaim the property pending the suit by due security in his turn. In case of contest, allegations of affidavit must be proved as questions of fact.

XXVI. SALES:

Sales are prima facie invalid, unless accompanied by immediate and continued change of possession. Unless the vendee proves his good faith this presumption is absolute. Installment leases and contracts for sale reserving title to vendor till full payment must be written and filed like chattel mortgages.

XXVII. TAXES:

Taxes are levied about December 10th in each year, and must be paid about January 20th following or interest and costs are incurred. If taxes are not paid, and land not previously redeemed, the land is returned delinquent to the County Treasurer and sold on the third Tuesday in May following. The tax certificates issued therefor bears fifteen per cent interest, and after three years (unless sooner redeemed) a deed is due the purchaser, which is absolute.

XXVIII. WILLS:

Any person over twenty-one and a married woman over eighteen, of sound mind, may make a will, which must be attested by two witnesses in sight of each other in the presence and at the request of the testator. Nuncupative wills under certain strict conditions are allowed. Revocation is by usual modes of destruction or by writing executed under the formalities of a will.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

Three or more adult persons, residents of this State, may form a corporation for any lawful mercantile, trading, mining, smelting, quarrying, producing, lumbering, manufacturing business, etc., or for any two or more of such. In the acts of 1895 provision is made for trusts and corporations for furnishing security bonds; also for corporations affording protection to abandoned and ill-treated children.

Articles of incorporation containing certain statutory requirements shall be made, signed and acknowledged, and the original articles, or a copy verified as such by the affidavit of two of the signers thereof, shall be recorded by the register of deeds of the county in which the corporation is located, and a like verified copy shall be filed within thirty days with the Secretary of State. By enactment in 1895 it is provided that a copy of articles of association are not invalidated by failure to verify.

The first meeting of any stock corporation may be held after one-half of the capital stock shall have been subscribed. At least twenty per cent of the capital stock must be actually paid in before a corporation can transact business with others than its members. The business of every stock corporation shall be managed by a board of directors, who shall be chosen annually by the stockholders from among their number as provided by the articles of organization or the by-laws, and shall hold office for one year and until their respective successors are chosen, except that when classified by the articles of organization they may be elected to hold office accordingly.

II. POWERS:

Any corporation formed for the purpose of mining, smelting, quarrying or any mechanical or manufacturing purpose, upon and with the assent of three-fourths of its capital stock, may and shall have power, in its corporate capacity, to subscribe for, purchase, take and hold stock in any corporation, foreign or domestic, formed for the purpose of manufacturing, creating or generating any kind of power or light, to be used as a mechanical agency, when such power or light is to be used wholly, or in part, in facilitating the operations of such mining, smelting, quarrying or manufacturing company, or the transaction of its business.

Every corporation organized under any law of this State, when no other provision is specially made by law or by its articles of organization, shall have the usual powers vested in corporations; of making all necessary and proper contracts to effect its purposes and conduct its business; to sue and be sued, and to appear and defend in all actions and proceedings in its corporate name; to have a common seal and alter the same at pleasure; to elect and appoint all necessary officers, define their duties and obligations, fix their compensation, and to establish branch offices or places of business in this State or elsewhere; to make, amend and repeal by-laws and regulations for its own government and such others as shall be necessary or convenient for the accomplishment of its purposes; to take and hold property, both real and personal, and sell, convey or otherwise dispose of the same; to mortgage its franchises, tolls, revenues and property, both real and personal, to secure the payment of its debts, or to borrow money for the purposes of the corporation, and no other, with the consent of a majority of its stockholders, or, if not a stock corporation, of a majority of its members; and to establish, with the like consent, a sinking fund for the payment of its debts.

A majority of the directors or trustees of every corporation, convened according to the by-laws thereof, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The members owning a majority of the stock in stock corporations and a majority of the members of other corporations shall constitute a quorum at any meeting of the stockholders or members, and be capable of transacting any business thereof, except when otherwise specially provided by the laws or the articles of organization of the corporation.

III. CAPITAL STOCK:

Capital stock is deemed personal property, and when certificates thereof are issued shares may be transferred by indorsement of the owner, his attorney or legal representatives, and delivery of the certificates. Delivery of a stock certificate to a bona-fide purchaser or pledgee, for value, together with a written transfer of the same, shall be sufficient delivery to transfer the title as against all parties; such transfer to be recorded upon the books of the corporation or a new certificate issued before the rights of the corporation are affected. Transfer of stocks on books can, by proceeding, be compelled.

Stock shall not be issued, nor any bond, or other evidence of indebtedness, except in consideration of money, labor, or property estimated at its true money value, actually received by the corporation, and equal to the par value of such stocks, bonds, etc., and all stocks and bonds issued contrary to these provisions, and all stock dividends or other fictitious increase of the stock of any corporation shall be void, provided, however, that any corporation whose stock or bonds have been or shall hereafter be admitted to the stock exchanges of Chicago, New York, Boston, or Philadelphia, or of either of said cities, may sell such stock or bonds so admitted at the best price or prices for the time being obtainable therefor on any of the said exchanges at which the same shall be offered for sale.

Payment of subscriptions to stock may be enforced, or in case stockholder shall neglect or refuse payment of any installment on the stock for the space of sixty days after due, and after notice, such stock may be sold at public auction and the proceeds applied in payment of the installment called for and expenses attending the sale, and residue refunded to owner; if proceeds are insufficient, the stockholder remains liable to the corporation for the deficiency.

IV. LIABILITIES:

Whenever the capital stock of any corporation shall be diminished by any corporate vote, the stockholders thereof shall be liable for the payment of all debts then remaining unpaid, in an action by any such creditor or lawfully appointed receiver or assignee of such corporation, to an amount equal to the sum respectively refunded to them, or credited upon their debts for unpaid stock, or both. And also the stockholders voting for such diminution shall be jointly and severally liable to any creditor whose debt shall then remain unpaid, to an amount equal to the whole amount refunded to the stockholders or credited upon their debts for unpaid stock, or both; but all stockholders shall be liable for contribution to every stockholder compelled to discharge corporate debts under this section, proportionably to the amount so refunded or credited to them respectively.

If any stock shall be transferred which is not fully paid, the corporation may, by agreement, to be noted on its stock-book, discharge the stockholder making such transfer from liability to it for the unpaid part of his stock subscription, and accept that of the person to whom the stock is transferred in his place; but the person transferring such stock shall be liable for the amount unpaid thereon to the then creditors of such corporation, and those who may become such within six months after such transfer, or to any lawfully appointed receiver or assignee of the corporation for their use.

Stockholders of corporations, other than railroad corporations, are personally liable to the amount of their stock for debts due to its clerks, servants and laborers for services performed for the corporation, but not exceeding six months' service in one case.

V. DIVIDENDS:

No dividends shall be paid to the stockholders of any corporation until the capital stock has been fully paid in. All subsequent dividends shall be paid out of the net proceeds. By law of 1893, dividends are allowed to be paid out of the amount of improvements made.

VI. BOOKS AND RECORDS:

Every corporation organized under the laws of this State, except such railroad corporations as own or operate railroads in another in connection with their railroad in this State, shall have its principal office in this State, and shall keep in such office its general and principal books of account, including its stock-books; and its principal managing officer or superintendent shall reside within this State. Corporations not having their principal office or books of account within this State shall, when required by the railroad commissioner, the Legislature or any committee thereof, or any court of record, produce its books of account and stock-books.

At least once in each year each stock corporation shall file in its principal office, and keep on file there for the use of its stockholders, a statement of the assets and liabilities of such corporation, and of its financial transactions for the previous year, which statement shall be verified by the affidavit of the treasurer or other proper officer of such corporation, and shall contain a brief statement of the sources whence its receipts have been received, stated in classes, and a similar statement of its expenditures, showing the amount disbursed for each class of objects and purposes.

Any stockholder may at all reasonable times inspect the books of the corporation. Every creditor of a corporation shall be informed at any time of the amount of capital stock of such corporation subscribed, the amount paid in, who the stockholders are, the number of shares of stock owned by each, and the amount unpaid by each stockholder upon the shares owned by him; and if any shares of stock which were not fully paid for have been transferred within six months of the time of inquiry, the name of the person who transferred the same and the amount due thereon at the date of such transfer.

A complete record of the proceedings of the corporation shall be kept. Every stockholder is entitled to one vote for each share of stock. When all the members of any corporation shall be present at any meeting, however notified, and shall sign a written consent to the holding of such meeting on the records thereof, they may transact any business at such meeting which could lawfully be transacted at any meeting of the members of such corporation regularly called and notified. Unless otherwise provided, election of officers shall take place annually.

VII. DISSOLUTION:

Whenever any corporation shall have remained insolvent, or shall have neglected or refused to pay and discharge its notes or other evidences of debt, or shall have suspended its ordinary and lawful business for one whole year, it shall be deemed to have surrendered the rights, privileges and franchises granted or required under any law, and shall be adjudged to be dissolved. This simply declares a cause for dissolution in a lawful way, and not the fact of dissolution for all purposes. In case of the dissolution of a corporation it may still continue as a body corporate for a period of three years for the purpose of settling its affairs.

VIII. FOREIGN CORPORATIONS:

Every foreign or domestic corporation, not duly organized under the laws of this State, formed for the purpose of transportation of either passengers or property, shall, before doing any business in this State, deposit in the office of the Secretary of State a written instrument, duly signed by the president and secretary thereof, and under their seal (if they shall have such officers and seal, otherwise by the principal officer thereof), and therein appoint an attorney to reside in this State and have an office therein, specifying his place of residence and office, upon whom and where any summons, notice, pleading, etc., may be served, and it shall therein be stipulated that any service of any such summons, notice, pleading, etc., upon such attorney, or in his absence at his said office, in any action brought against said corporation in this State upon any cause of action arising out of any business or transaction in this State, shall be accepted irrevocably as a valid service thereon, unless another attorney shall be subsequently appointed, with like authority in his stead. Such corporation can do no business in this State until it complies with these provisions. The penalty for failure to appoint an attorney and establish an office for service of legal process is five hundred dollars for the first, and not less than one thousand dollars for any subsequent offense.

Every foreign corporation engaged in manufacturing within this State shall, upon the written request of any resident creditor, within sixty days thereafter, and annually thereafter, upon a like request, file in the office of the Secretary of State a statement showing the capital stock subscribed, the amount thereof actually paid in, the full name of each of its stockholders and the amount of stock held by each; and shall at the time of so filing the first statement also file in such office a certified copy of its articles of organization. A formal request so to do may be served upon an officer of the corporation by mail, or upon any officer thereof who may be in this State, and the penalty for non-compliance therewith is forfeiture of the right to do business within the State.

MINING.

I. MINING RIGHTS:

Where there is no contract between the parties, or terms established by the landlord to the contrary, the following rules and regulations shall be applied to mining contracts and leases for the digging of ores and minerals, viz.: 1. No license or lease, verbal or written, made to a miner, shall be revocable by the maker thereof, after a valuable discovery or prospect has been struck, unless the miner shall forfeit his rights by negligence. 2. The discovery of a crevice or range containing ores or minerals shall entitle the discoverer to the ores or minerals pertaining thereto, subject to the rent due his landlord, before as well as after the ores or minerals are separated from the freehold, but such miner shall not be entitled to recover any ores or minerals, or the value thereof, from the person digging on his range in good faith, and known to be mining thereon, until he shall have given notice of his claim; and he shall be entitled to the ores or minerals dug after such notice. 3. Usages and customs among miners may be proved in explanation of mining contracts, to the same extent as usage may be proved in other branches of business.

II. DRAINAGE:

Every corporation, company or person engaged in mining may, when it is necessary in order to prosecute their work in mining, upon compliance with the provisions of the statute for the determination of the damages, conduct or convey the water away from their shafts, levels or land upon, over or below the surface of the land of any adjoining owner, in pipes, ditches, races or tunnels, doing as little damage as the case will admit of. The nature of the proceedings for the determination of damages is an award by commissioners upon petition of the county judge. Either party may appeal from the award of the commissioners within twenty days after the same is filed, by filing with the clerk a written notice of appeal.

III. SMELTER RECORDS:

Every smelter and every purchaser of ores and minerals shall keep a substantially bound book, ruled into suitable columns, in which shall be entered from day to day, as ores or minerals are received, the following items: The day, month and year when received; the name of the person from whom purchased; the name of the person by whom hauled and delivered; the name of the owner of the land from which the ores or minerals were obtained, or, if not known, the name of the diggings or some distinct description of the land. Said book shall be kept at the furnace, or at the usual place of business of such smelter or purchaser, or his agent, in this State, and shall be open to all persons at reasonable times for inspection and taking extracts.

COMMERCIAL LAW.

I. ALIENS:

The Constitution of the State provides that no distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens as to the possession, taxation, enjoyment and descent of property.

II. ASSIGNMENTS:

Any debtor in embarrassed or failing circumstances may make a general assignment of all his property in trust for the benefit of his creditors, and all assignments, except as provided for in the act, will be deemed fraudulent and void.

Assignment is by deed, and it must designate all of the real and personal property conveyed. The proceedings are controlled by the District Court. Any creditor accepting dividend thereby releases the assignor from further liability. No preferences can be made except in favor of wages due from the assignor and earned within three months immediately preceding the date of assignment.

III. ATTACHMENTS:

Plaintiff in a civil action for the recovery of a money judgment may have an attachment against the property of the debtor in the following cases, wherein the debtor:

1. Is a foreign corporation, or non-resident of Wyoming, or is about to become a non-resident thereof. 2. Has absconded with intent to defraud his creditors. 3. Has left the county of his residence to avoid the service of summons. 4. So conceals himself that service of summons cannot be had upon him. 5. Is about to remove his property, or a part thereof, out of the jurisdiction of the court, with intent to defraud his creditors. 6. Is about to convert his property, or a part thereof, into money, for the purpose of placing it beyond the reach of his creditors. 7. Has property or rights of action which he conceals. 8. Has assigned, removed or disposed of his property, or a part thereof, with intent to defraud his creditors. 9. Fraudulently or criminally contracted the debt for which suit is brought.

In all cases, except against foreign corporations, plaintiff must file an undertaking, in a sum not less than double the amount of the claim, conditioned that the plaintiff will answer all damages which the defendant may sustain by reason of the attachment, if the order prove to have been wrongfully obtained.

IV. CLAIMS AGAINST ESTATES:

All claims arising upon contract must be presented to the executor or administrator within six months after the date of the letters, or they may be precluded from any benefit from such estate, and if such claims be not exhibited within one year from the date of said letters, they are forever debarred; provided, however, that when it is made to appear by affidavit of the claimant to the satisfaction of the court, or the judge thereof, that the claimant had no notice of the issuance of the letters, by reason of being out of the State, it may be presented at any time before decree of distribution is entered. The claim must be supported by an affidavit showing that the account is justly due, that no payments have been made thereon which are not credited, and that there are no offsets to the same, to the knowledge of the affiant.

V. COURTS:

The Supreme Court holds two regular terms annually at the capital of the State. Its business is principally of an appellate character.

District Court is held twice a year in each organized county, except Albany county, where it is held three times a year. Said court has full common law and chancery powers. It also has exclusive jurisdiction in all probate matters, and the administration, settlement, and distribution of the estate of deceased persons.

Justices of the peace have jurisdiction in civil actions where the amount in controversy, exclusive of costs, does not exceed two hundred dollars.

VI. DEEDS:

If executed within the State, must be so in the presence of one witness, who shall subscribe his name thereto as such. Want of record does not affect validity of deeds, except as against subsequent purchasers and incumbrancers. They should be acknowledged. Acknowledgments must be made before a judge or clerk of a court of record, or before a county clerk, notary public, justice of the peace, or United States court commissioner within this State. If made out of the State, before any officer authorized by the state or territory in which it is made to take acknowledgments, before the clerk of any court of record, or before any commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State for such purpose, provided that if such acknowledgment is not made before an officer having a seal, it must have attached thereto a certificate of the clerk of a court of record, or a county clerk of the same place, having a seal, certifying that the officer taking the acknowledgment is authorized to take the same, and that said clerk believes the signature appended to the acknowledgment is genuine. Every notary public, justice of the peace, and commissioner of deeds for Wyoming who takes an acknowledgment to any written instrument to be recorded in any public office in Wyoming, shall add to the certificate the date when his commission or term of office expires.

VII. DEPOSITIONS:

May be taken in this State before a judge or clerk of the Supreme Court, or judge or clerk of the District Court; a justice of the peace, notary public, or mayor or magistrate of a municipal corporation; or any other person authorized by law to administer oaths, or empowered by a special commission.

May be taken out of the State before a judge, justice or chancellor of any court of record, justice of the peace, notary public, mayor or chief magistrate of any municipal corporation, a commissioner appointed by the Governor of this State to take depositions, or any other person authorized by law to administer oaths, or any person authorized by a special commission from this State. Provided, that whenever a deposition is taken before an officer not having a seal, the jurat of such officer shall be accompanied by a certificate of the clerk of the county in which such deposition is taken, setting forth that the officer taking such deposition is in fact such officer, and that his signature to such deposition is genuine.

VIII. DESCENT:

The real and personal estate of an intestate descends and is distributed in parcenary to his kindred, male and female, subject to the payment of his debts, as follows:

If such intestate leave a husband or wife, and children, or the descendants of any children, one-half of such estate descends to such husband or wife, and the residue thereof to such surviving children and descendants of children. But if the intestate leave an estate exceeding ten thousand dollars in value, and leave a husband or wife, but no child, or descendants of children, three-fourths of such estate shall descend to the surviving husband or wife, and one-fourth to the father or mother of the intestate, or the survivor of them; but if the estate does not exceed in value the sum of ten thousand dollars, and the intestate leave no child, nor the descendants of any child, the whole of such estate shall descend to the surviving husband or wife.

In other cases the estate will descend as follows: To the children surviving, and the descendants of children who are dead (the descendants collectively taking the share which their parent would have taken if living); if there be no children nor their descendants, then to the father, mother, brothers and sisters, and to the descendants of brothers and sisters who are dead (the descendants collectively taking the share their parent would have taken if living), in equal parts; if there be no father, mother, brothers or sisters, nor descendants of deceased brothers or sisters, nor husband nor wife living, then the grandfather, grandmother, uncle, aunts and their descendants (the descendants taking as before), in equal parts.

IX. EMINENT DOMAIN:

Provision is made in the law for condemnation proceedings for the purpose of laying out public roads, railroads, irrigating ditches, flumes, or telegraph lines; and also for the State, counties, and municipal corporations to acquire any real estate, including streets, alleys or public highways, as sites for public buildings, or for any other necessary public purposes. The State Constitution provides that private property shall not be taken for private use, unless by the consent of the owner, or taken or damaged for public or private use without just compensation, and that no person shall be deprived of property without due process of law.

X. EXECUTIONS:

Execution may issue immediately after judgment is rendered, and is returnable in sixty days from a court of record, and thirty days when issued by a justice of the peace. There is no stay law, except in Justices' Courts, and when the case is taken on error or appeal to a higher court.

XI. EXEMPTIONS:

Household furniture, provisions, etc., for head of family residing with same, to value of five hundred dollars; tools, team, implements or stock in trade of mechanic, miner, or other person, kept for his trade or business, to value of three hundred dollars; library and instruments of professional man to value of three hundred dollars; homestead actually occupied as such by head of family, in country, one hundred and sixty acres; in town, lot or lots in value not exceeding one thousand five hundred dollars; and necessary wearing apparel of every person to the value of one hundred and fifty dollars. The earnings of a judgment debtor are exempt to the amount of one hundred dollars where necessary to the use of a family supported wholly or in part by his labor. No property is exempt to a person removing or absconding from the State, and all persons claiming exemption must be actual, bona fide residents of the State. No article of property is exempt from attachment or sale on execution for its purchase price.

XII. INTEREST AND USURY:

In the absence of express contract, all moneys, claims, or judgments draw interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum. Any rate may be agreed upon in writing, not exceeding twelve per cent per annum. If any greater rate is agreed upon the lender forfeits all interest. Unsettled accounts draw interest after thirty days from date of last item.

XIII. JUDGMENTS:

Judgments are a lien on debtor's real estate within the county from the first day of the term at which judgment is entered, but judgments by confession and judgments rendered at the same term at which the action is commenced bind the debtor's real estate only from the time of entry, which lien continues for five years.

XIV. LIENS:

The law provides for liens of agistors and stable-keepers, common carriers and warehouse men, upon property entrusted to them to care for; also of mechanics and material men for labor and materials furnished for the construction or repair of buildings; and also a lien of mechanics, artisans or other persons who may make, alter, repair or bestow labor upon any article of personal property at the request of the owner or party having possession thereof. ("XVII. Miners' Liens.")

XV. LIMITATION:

On contracts not in writing, eight years; upon specialty or agreement in writing, five years; on all foreign judgments, or contracts made or incurred before debtor becomes a resident, within two years after he establishes residence in the State; recovery of lands, ten years. Revivor: Part payment or acknowledgment in writing.

XVI. MARRIED WOMEN:

A married woman retains her property, both real and personal; may make a will; carry on business; sue and be sued; and retain her own earnings in the same manner as if sole. She may also vote and hold office. There is no right of dower under the State law. In cases where an unmarried woman is appointed executrix or guardian her authority to act in either of those capacities is extinguished by her marriage. A married woman cannot be appointed administratrix.

XVII. MINERS' LIENS:

He who shall work, at the request of the owner thereof, on a vein or lode, mine or bank, shall have a lien thereon to the amount due, at any time when a demand shall be made upon such owner therefor and payment shall be refused.

Any person who shall labor as a mechanic or otherwise, or who shall furnish materials for erecting or constructing apparatus upon any mine shall also have a lien upon the mine for his reasonable charges.

Any person performing labor or furnishing materials shall have like liens upon oil territory upon which he labored or furnished materials, as miners or other laborers upon or in mines, as provided in this chapter.

Any sub-contractor, whose demand has not been paid, by giving notice to the owner and an attested account of his work performed and material furnished, is entitled to the amount of his claim out of the money due the contractor; and the owner shall thereupon notify the contractor, so that if there be any disagreement as to the true sum due, the account may be amicably adjusted. But if, within thirty days after the receipt of such notice, the contractor does not notify the owner that he intends to dispute the claim, he shall be considered as assenting to the demand, and the owner shall be justified in paying the sum when it becomes due.

All liens afore mentioned, in every case, shall hold not only against the owner of the mine, but against all persons who shall have purchased such mine.

Any person entitled to a lien under this chapter shall make an account in writing of the items of labor, skill, machinery or material furnished, and making oath thereto, shall within sixty days from the time of completion of said work or furnishment of said material, file the same in the office of the register of deeds of the county where the mine is located, with a correct description of the property, which account so made and filed shall for one year thereafter operate as a lien upon the described property. He may then proceed by civil action, and the lien shall continue until such suit or suits be finally determined. All persons claiming liens shall be made parties defendant, and their rights therein shall be determined by the court. Such action shall be brought in the county where said lien is filed. Service therefor may be had in any county in the State, or by publication if the owner or owners of the mine live out of the State, or being a corporation, has no office within the State. All lien claims for labor performed or material furnished shall be concurrent and paid pro rata out of the proceeds arising from the sale thereof.

XVIII. MORTGAGES:

Chattel mortgages are required by law to be executed and acknowledged in the same manner as are mortgages of real estate. They are required to be filed, but not recorded, in the office of the county clerk of the county where the mortgaged property is situated. The lien of the chattel mortgage continues until the indebtedness thereby secured, or the last installment thereof, becomes due, and for sixty days thereafter. After that time it continues in force as between the parties thereto, but it ceases to be valid as against the creditors of the mortgagee and as against subsequent purchasers, or mortgagees, in good faith. The chattel mortgage may be renewed by filing, during the said period of sixty days, an affidavit setting forth the amount still due and unpaid of the original indebtedness. This affidavit, when filed in the office of the county clerk, continues the lien of the mortgage in force for a period of one year, and a similar affidavit may be filed within thirty days next preceding the expiration of said period of one year, and each year thereafter, by means of which the lien of the mortgage is continued in force. Chattel mortgages are foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged property, notice of which must be given by publication once each week for three successive weeks in a weekly newspaper published in the county in which the sale shall take place, or by posting notices in three public places in said county, if no newspaper is published therein. Contracts or leases providing for the sale of personal property, dependent upon conditions, are required to be in writing, signed by the vendee, or lessee, and filed in the office of the county clerk of the county where the property is.

Real estate mortgages must be attested by one witness, acknowledged and recorded in the manner provided by law for the execution and recording of deeds, and are foreclosed by action at law, or by advertisement for six weeks. Real property sold under foreclosure of mortgage, either by decree of court or by advertisement, may be redeemed within six months from the date of sale, upon payment of the amount for which the property was sold, and interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent per annum from the date of sale.

XIX. NOTES AND BILLS:

Notes and bills of exchange are subject to a State law which substantially enacts the law merchant. The first day of January, twenty-second day of February, thirtieth day of May, fourth day of July, the day appointed by the President of the United States or the Governor of the State as a fast or Thanksgiving Day, the twenty-fifth day of December, a day appointed by the Governor of the State as Arbor Day, and all days on which regular State and county elections are held are legal holidays.

XX. SUITS:

There is but one form of action, and the code of procedure is very similar to that of Ohio.

XXI. TAXES:

Taxes become due and payable on the third Monday in September in each year, and the taxpayer should pay the entire amount of his taxes after that time and before the thirty-first day of December following. In all cases where the tax is not paid on the thirty-first day of December succeeding the levy thereof, the amount of the tax charged against any taxpayer so failing to pay such tax shall become delinquent from that day. A penalty of ten per cent on the amount unpaid is added to all taxes when they become delinquent. Delinquent taxes draw interest at the rate of twenty-five per centum per annum until paid or collected by distress and sale. Taxes upon real property are made a perpetual lien thereupon, and taxes due from any person upon personal property are a lien upon any real property owned by such person. Both personal and real property may be sold for taxes in the manner provided by law. Real property may be redeemed from tax sale at any time within two years after the sale, by payment of the amount for which it was sold, thirty per cent of the same, interest on the whole amount at the rate of twelve per cent per annum, and subsequent taxes.

XXII. WAGES:

Wages due to the employees of an insolvent debtor, who has made an assignment, for three months prior to the date of the assignment, constitute preferred claims against the estate of assignor and must be paid first. See "XI. Exemptions," in regard to earnings of a judgment debtor which cannot be garnisheed.

XXIII. WILLS:

Any will, to be valid, must be in writing or typewritten, witnessed by two competent witnesses, and signed by the testator, or by some person in his presence, and by his express direction; and if the witnesses are competent at the time of attesting the execution of the will, their subsequent incompetency, from whatever cause it may arise, shall not prevent the probate and allowance of the will. No subscribing witness to any will can derive any benefit therefrom, unless there be two other disinterested and competent witnesses to the same; but if without a will such witness would be entitled to any portion of the testator's estate, such witness may still receive such portion, to the extent and value of the amount devised. Wills are admitted to probate in the court of the proper county upon petition being filed, and after notice by publication for not less than ten, nor more than thirty days from the production of the will. Every custodian of a will, within thirty days after receipt of information that the maker thereof is dead, must deliver the same to the District Court having jurisdiction of the estate, or to the executor named in the will.

CORPORATIONS.

I. ORGANIZATION:

Three or more persons who may desire to form a company for the purpose of carrying on any kind of manufacturing, mining, chemical, macadamizing or mechanical business; constructing wagon roads, railroads, telegraph lines, ditches, building flumes, running tunnels, or carrying on any branch of business designed to add to the industrial or productive interests of the country, may make, sign and acknowledge, before some officer competent to take acknowledgment of deeds, duplicate certificates in writing, in which shall be stated: the corporate name, the object, the capital stock, the term of its existence (not to exceed fifty years), number of shares, the number of trustees and their names, and the names of the town and county in which the operations of said company shall be carried on; and shall file one of the said certificates in the office of the county clerk of each county wherein the business of the company is to be carried on, and one other in the office of the Secretary of State.

II. POWERS:

When said certificate is certified to by the Secretary of State it shall be evidence of the existence of such company, which shall be a body politic and corporate, and by its name have succession, be capable: of suing and being sued; of acquiring by purchase, pre-emption, donation or otherwise, holding or conveying by deed or otherwise any real or personal estate necessary to enable the said company to carry on the operations named in the certificate; of having, using and altering at pleasure a common seal, of appointing such officers and agents as may be necessary in its business; and of making by-laws, not inconsistent with existing laws for the regulation of its business.

III. TRUSTEES:

Not less than three nor more than nine trustees, who shall respectively be stockholders, and annually elected by the stockholders at such time and place as shall be directed by the by-laws, shall manage the property and concerns of the company. The elections shall be by ballot, and each stockholder shall be entitled to as many votes as he owns shares of stock. When a vacancy shall happen among the trustees it shall be filled for the remainder of the year as the by-laws provide. The failure to elect trustees shall not dissolve the company.

IV. BY-LAWS:.

The stockholders, if the certificate so provides, shall have the power to make by-laws for the management of the business affairs and disposition of the stock of the company, not inconsistent with the State laws.

V. CAPITAL STOCK:

The trustees may demand from the stockholders, respectively, all such sums of money by them subscribed as the trustees shall deem proper, the proportion thereof to be paid at one time, not to exceed ten per cent thereof per month, under the penalty of forfeiting the shares of stock subscribed for and all previous payments.

The stock shall be transferable as the by-laws prescribe. The company cannot use any of its funds in the purchase of stock in any other company, nor in its own; provided, however, that it may hold and own any stock to any amount in any other company that is or may be subsidiary to, and that does contribute to the objects and purposes of the first company named.

Full-paid stock may be issued for property. Any corporation may increase or diminish its capital stock to any amount which may be deemed sufficient and proper for the purposes of the corporation.

Any corporation may provide in its certificate of incorporation for the issuance and disposal of preferred stock which shall be entitled to dividends not exceeding seven per centum per annum in preference to all other stock. In cases of the liquidation of any corporation which shall have outstanding both common and preferred stock, the net assets of such corporation shall be distributed to all stockholders share and share alike.

VI. LIABILITY OF STOCKHOLDERS:

The stockholders shall be severally and individually liable to creditors to the amount of the unpaid assessments on capital stock held by them respectively for debts and contracts made by the company.

VII. ACCEPTANCE OF CONSTITUTION:

No corporation organized under the laws of the Territory of Wyoming, or any jurisdiction other than that of the State of Wyoming shall be permitted to transact business in the State until it shall have accepted the constitution of the State. Every acceptance of the constitution shall be filed and recorded in the office of the Secretary of State, who shall note on the margin of the record the corporation filing such acceptance, and the fact that the same is filed.

MINING.

I. MINING DISTRICTS:

In any mining district the miners may meet and organize, and elect a recorder and make regulations, not in conflict with the laws of the United States or this State, governing the location of, manner of recording and amount of annual work necessary to hold possession of claims, subject to the following requirements: 1. Any five miners owning in part or in whole claims within the proposed district shall give at least three written notices of a meeting called by them for organizing such district. 2. The meeting must be attended by at least ten persons, owning in part or in whole claims within the proposed district. 3. The recorder elected shall hold office until his successor is elected and qualified; he shall give bonds for at least one thousand dollars, which shall be approved by the Probate judge, and filed in the office of the county clerk. 4. When a district is once organized it cannot be subdivided, except in accordance with the local laws of the district, or by action of the Legislature. In case of abandonment the recorder shall deposit all records pertaining to his office in the office of the register of deeds of the county. 5. Each mining district may regulate the fees for recording certificates and other instruments. 6. The laws and records of each mining district shall be filed with the county register of deeds.

[Lode Claims.] II. LOCATION AND RECORD:

A discoverer of any mineral lead, lode, ledge or vein shall, within sixty days from the date of such discovery, cause such claim to be recorded in the office of the county clerk and ex-officio register of deeds of the county within which said claim may exist, by a location certificate which shall contain the following facts: 1. The name of the lode claim. 2. The name or names of the locator or locators. 3. The date of location. 4. The length of the claim along the vein measured each way from the center of the discovery-shaft, and the general course of the vein as far as known. 5. The amount of surface ground claimed on either side of the center of the discovery-shaft or discovery workings. 6. A description of the claim by such designation of natural or fixed objects, or, if upon ground surveyed by the United States system of land survey, by reference to section or quarter section corners, as shall identify the claim beyond question. Any certificate of the location of a lode or claim which shall not fully contain all the requirements named in the preceding section, together with such description as shall identify the lode or claim with reasonable certainty, shall be void.

Before the filing of a location certificate in the office of the county clerk the discoverer of any lode, vein or lissure shall designate the location thereof as follows: 1. By sinking a shaft upon the discovery lode or fissure, to the depth of ten feet from the lowest part of the rim of such shaft at the surface. 2. By posting at the point of discovery, on the surface, a plain sign or notice, containing the name of the lode or claim, the name of the discoverer and locator, and the date of such discovery.

By making the surface boundaries of the claim, which shall be marked by six substantial monuments of stone or post, hewed or marked on the side or sides which face toward the claim and sunk in the ground, one at each corner and one at the center of each side.

The length of any mining claim located within the State shall not exceed fifteen hundred feet horizontally along such lode, vein or fissure as aforesaid; and the width shall not exceed three hundred feet on each side of the discovery-shaft.

An open cut which shall cut the vein ten feet in length, and with a face ten feet in height; or any cross-cut tunnel or tunnel on the vein ten feet in length which shall cut the vein ten feet below the surface, measured from the bottom of such tunnel, shall hold such lode the same as a discovery-shaft were sunk thereon. The discoverer of any mineral lode or vein shall have the period of sixty days in which to sink a discovery-shaft thereon.

III. RE-LOCATION:

In case an abandoned lode claim is re-located, such relocation shall be perfected by sinking a new discovery-shaft and fixing new boundaries in the same manner as provided for the location of a new claim; or the relocator may sink the original discovery-shaft ten feet deeper than it was at the time of its abandonment, and take new or adopt the old boundaries, renewing the posts or monument of stone if removed or destroyed. In either event a new location stake shall be fixed. The location certificate of an abandoned claim may state that the whole or any part of the new location is located as an abandoned claim.

When there is error in the original location certificate, or where it is desired to change the surface boundaries of the claim, such locator may file an additional location certificate in compliance with and subject to this act, provided such re-location shall not infringe upon the rights of others. No location certificate shall contain more than one claim or location.

[Placer Claims.] IV. LOCATION AND RECORD:

The discoverer of any placer claim shall, within thirty days after the date of such discovery, record such claim with the recorder of the mining district in which it is located, if such district be organized; and shall, within ninety days from the date of discovery, cause to be recorded such claim within the office of the recorder of deeds of the county within which said claim may exist, (1) a location certificate, which shall contain in each case the following facts: 1. The name of the claim, designating it as a placer claim. 2. The name or names of the locator or locators thereof. 3. The date of location. 4. The number of feet or acres thus claimed. 5. A description of the claim by such designation of natural or fixed objects as shall identify the claim beyond question.

Before filing such location certificate the discoverer shall locate his claim by: 1. Securely fixing upon said claim a notice in plain printed or written letters containing the name of the claim, the name of the locator or locators, the date of discovery, the number of feet or acres claimed. 2. Designating the surface boundaries by substantial posts or stone monuments at each corner of the claim.

ASSESSMENT WORK:

The annual assessment work shall consist of manual labor, permanent improvements made on claim by building flumes or ditches, made for the benefit of working such claim, or after any manner, so long as the work done contributes to the improvement of the claim, or shows good faith and intention on the part of the owner or owners, and their intention to hold possession of said claim.

On placer claims of an area of one hundred and sixty acres not situated in an organized district not less than one hundred dollars worth of assessment work shall be performed during each calendar year; and on every placer claim so located of less than one hundred and sixty acres, the amount of annual assessment work shall be at the rate of sixty-two and one-half cents per acre for each and every acre and fraction thereof; provided, that the total amount to be annually expended be in no case less than one hundred dollars.

When two or more placer claims lie contiguously and are owned by the same person or persons or corporation, the combined yearly expenditure of labor and improvements required upon each of said claims may be made upon any one of such contiguous claims if the owner or owners thus prefer.

When such placer claims are situated in an organized mining district, then the amount of assessment work and the manner of its accomplishment shall be regulated entirely by the district laws.

If the required assessment work is not done within the time provided by law, then the claim or claims upon which such work has not been completed are open to re-location on or after the first day of January in any year after such failure, if the original locators, or their representatives, have not resumed work upon such claim or claims after such failure, and before any subsequent location has been made.

The law provides that when the required assessment work has been done upon any mining claim an affidavit setting forth the facts thereof shall be recorded within thirty days after the completion of the work in the office of the recorder of the district in which said claim is situated, if within an organized district; or if not, such affidavit shall be filed for record in the office of the register of deeds of the county in which said claim is located, within sixty days after the completion of the work.

VI. PATENTS:

When any person has held and worked a placer claim in conformity with the laws of this State and the regulations of the mining district for five successive years after the first day of January succeeding the date of location, he shall be entitled to obtain a patent for his claim from the United States without performing further work; or, if he desires to obtain a United States patent before the expiration of five years from said date, he shall be required to expend work upon said placer claim to the value of at least five hundred dollars.

[General.] VII. WATER RIGHTS:

Any person mining or milling in the State shall have the right to bring water from mines or natural watercourses as their business interests may require, provided it shall not infringe on vested rights.

VIII. RIGHT OF WAY:

All mining claims shall be subject to the right of way of any ditch or flume for mining purposes, or of any tramway, pack trail or wagon road across such claim or property; provided, such right of way shall not be exercised against such property without the consent of the owner, except in condemnation, as in the case of land taken for public highways.

IX. MISDEMEANORS AND FRAUD:

Where there is collusion between any two or more persons for the purpose of obtaining possession of any mineral claim then in the actual possession of another, by force, threats or stealth, and they shall proceed to carry out such purpose, such persons so engaging shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; and upon conviction shall be fined a penal sum not exceeding twenty-five dollars, and be imprisoned in the county jail for not less than sixty days nor more than six months.

Any person who shall unlawfully destroy any mining property shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined a penal sum of money not less than fifty dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or be imprisoned not less than thirty days nor more than one year, or both.

Any person who shall engage in any swindling, in relation to any mine or mining property, designed to cheat and deceive others for the purpose of gain, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined any penal sum of not less than fifty dollars nor more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned in the penitentiary for not less than thirty days nor more than three years, or both.

X. PROTECTION OF SHAFTS:

Any persons who have sunk mining-shafts upon any mining claim shall forthwith secure such shafts and openings against the injury of live stock running at large upon the public domain, by covering them in a manner to render them safe, or by making a strong fence around such shafts or openings aforesaid. Any person who shall fail to comply with this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be liable for damages sustained by loss of live stock thereby.

[Coal Mines.] XI. INSPECTION:

The Governor shall nominate a State Inspector of Coal Mines, who shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor is duly appointed and qualified. He shall be not less than thirty years of age, a citizen of the United States, and of temperate habits. He is authorized to procure such instruments and chemical tests as may be necessary to discharge his duties, at the cost of the State, subject to the approval of the Governor.

The inspector is required to devote the whole of his time to the duties of his office, which consist in part of examining the coal mines of the State as often as possible, and not less than once in three months; also to see that all the provisions of the laws relating to coal mines are observed and strictly carried out.

Provision is made for a trial in the District Court of the proper county of complaints which may be made against said inspector for neglect of duties, incompetency or malfeasance in office, and if upon such examination the inspector is found to be guilty of the charge made the court or judge shall certify the same to the Governor, who shall thereupon declare the office of said inspector vacant.

Provision is also made for an appeal from the decision of the inspector to the District Court of the proper county in cases where the operator or mine owner shall not be satisfied with such decision, and the law further provides that the court shall hear and determine the matters in controversy as speedily as possible, which determination shall be final, subject only to an appeal to the Supreme Court of the State.

XII. MINING BOSS:

The owner or operator of any coal mine shall employ a competent and practical inside mining boss, who shall keep a careful watch over the ventilating apparatus, the drainage and traveling ways; he shall measure the air current at least once a week at the inside and outside, and shall keep a record of such measurements, which shall be open for examination by the State Inspector.

Provision is made for the appointment of an examining board by the District Court of any county, whose duty it shall be to examine any person applying thereto as to his competency and qualifications to discharge the duties of mining boss. Said board of examiners shall grant certificates to all persons whose examination shall disclose their fitness for the duties of mining boss. If the inspector becomes satisfied that any mine boss or fire boss is incompetent in the performance of his duties, he may request them to undergo re-examination before the examining board, and in the event of their refusing to undergo such examination he is authorized to cancel their certificate of competency and cause the same to become null and void.

XIII. MAPS:

Every operator of a coal mine shall cause to be made an accurate map of such coal mine, of a scale not to exceed two hundred feet to the inch, which shall exhibit all the openings, the direction of the air currents therein, and the boundary lines of said mine. Said map shall be kept at such mine for the use of the State Inspector of Coal Mines. Said operator shall, as often as once in every six months, accurately trace a plan of the excavations made, and of all the working places during the preceding six months, exhibiting clearly the parts abandoned, or parts in proximity to the boundary line. Said map will be the property of the State, and shall remain in the care of the Inspector of Coal Mines. If said inspector believes said plan to be inaccurate he may authorize a correct plan to be made at the expense of the operator of said mine.

XIV. MEASURES OF SAFETY:

No person shall work in any coal mine unless such mine is in communication with at least two openings, separated by a distance of not less than fifty feet. When a second opening is made, not to exceed seventy-five feet in vertical depth, it shall be set apart exclusively for ingress and egress; shall be clear of any obstructions, and shall not exceed an angle of sixty degrees in descent.

The hoisting machinery and stairs shall be kept in safe condition and inspected once in each twenty-four hours by one employed for that purpose.

The operator of any coal mine shall maintain therefor ample means of ventilation, affording not less than one hundred cubic feet of pure air per minute for each and every person employed in said mine.

Any workman who shall intentionally injure any mining apparatus or disobey any order given in carrying out the provisions of this chapter shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

The State constitution provides that no boy under the age of fourteen years, and no woman or girl of any age shall be employed or permitted to be in or about any coal, iron or other dangerous mines for the purpose of employment therein. Such persons may, however, if of suitable age, be employed in an office or in the performance of clerical work at such mine or colliery.
